MURDOCK ITEMS

Henry A. Tool was called to South Bend a few days ago to look after some business matters for a short time.

Howard McBride of near Wabaah, was a visitor in Murdock last Thursday, looking after some business matters while in town.

Glen Bowman is slowly recovering from an attack of boils that has kept him at home for the last three weeks. He notices some improvement in his condition at this time.

Joseph Pariot and wife, living west of Elmwood, were in Murdock last Thursday visiting with their daughter who conducts the beauty shop and visiting friends.

Rev. Haist of Lincoln, presiding elder of the Evangelical church, was a visitor for the afternoon and evening with his friend, Rev. Harvey Schwab and other members of the church.

E. W. Thimgan of Plattsmouth was a visitor in Murdock last Monday and was looking after some business matters, also visiting his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McDonald.

Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Weber were in Lincoln last Thursday attending the last rites of the departed Mrs. Paul Buckingham who passed away a few days ago. Interment was in the Greenwood cemetery.

The Misses Helen and Elsie Bornemeier, who lately were compelled to remain in bed for several days, because of each being affected by pneumonia, have recovered sufficiently again so that they can attend to their work in the offices.

George Kruse who has been so intimately associated with the Murdock fire department was very pleasantly entertained by the department on the eve of his departure for Clay county where he is to engage in farming the coming season.

Louis Schmidt who was at the hospital in Lincoln where he underwent a number of operations has so far improved that he was able to return home and while not so strong as yet is rapidly nearing that condition which will permit him to return to his work.

Louis Schmidt, who returned from a Lincoln hospital after an operation for appendicitis recently, is making steady recovery. He enjoys his opportunity of being home again. He feels that he will soon be able to attend to his work of overseeing the roads of his district.

Miss Edna McCrory recently accepted a teaching position in a public school southeast of Elmwood on highway 34. The new semester began today (Monday) at which time Miss McCrory began her new work. The teacher in the school during the first semester secured a teaching position in the Eagle school system.

Ferdinand Riekman has been suffering from a severe attack of the flu the past few days. At the same time his farm assistant, Donald Riekman, has also been in bed with a similar attack. The chores about the farm have been quite a problem with both of these men down at the same time. Improvements in both cases are noticed at this writing.

Alvin Bornemeier, who recently spent several weeks in a Lincoln hospital, after breaking his right arm for the third time, was brought home last Wednesday evening. The hospital ordeal has been most trying on him. With the fine care, which he will receive at home, he is very hopeful of a steady and gradual progress toward the recovery of his health.

The people of the village, who are on the town water mains, experienced quite a concern last Thursday evening and Friday morning, when it was noticed that the water users had no pressure nor any water. The extreme sub-zero weather of the past days had created some ice difficulties, which prevented the flow of water through the mains. The condition was soon remedied however on Friday morning.

Rev. E. F. Haist, district superintendent of the Lincoln district of the Nebraska conference, presented several very helpful messages at the Murdock and Louisville Evangelical churches over last Sunday. The quarterly business of the circuit was conducted under his supervision last Thursday evening. A large representation of the official body was present for the business. Several members were absent on account of illness.

Sunday School Officers Installed. The installation of Sunday school officers and teachers at the Murdock church took place Sunday, January 17th during the morning worship hour. Sickness and bad roads prevented this service from being carried out earlier in the month. The charge and brief admonitions were given by the pastor, after which Elmer Miller was installed as the 1937 superintendent of the school and Willard Rosenow, Clarke Miller and Leroy Gorthey as vice superintendent, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

The Sunday school official board recently ordered the division of the beginner's class to provide a nursery class as well as a beginner's class. It was also decided that the large primary department should be divided to provide younger and older primary class divisions. Those orders have been carried through. Fine teachers and adequate materials have been provided for those age groups.

The teachers, who were installed and who accepted their privileges of teaching for 1937, were: Mrs. Louise Schmidt for nursery class; Mrs. Mary Long, Miss Edna McCrory, Mrs. Mae Elsie, Mrs. Esther Amgert, Vernon Rikli, Mrs. Frank Rosenow, Mrs. Leroy Gorthy, Mrs. O. H. Miller, Mrs. Harvey Schwab, Mrs. Marie Schewe with Mrs. Marie Rikli as her assistant and Gottlieb Baur.

The school feels that, with these divisions and these teachers, the community has a class for everyone. The weekly study lessons are recorded in the gospel of John for this entire quarter. It is felt, that those lessons studied with capable leaders, such as the school provides, give each person in the community a fine opportunity for profitable Bible study and a personal enrichment of the daily life.

Last year nearly 9,000 people, or an average Sunday attendance of 178 studied the weekly Sunday school lessons in the classes of the Louisville and Murdock churches. The severe winter last year cut the average attendance considerably. The churches aim this year to regain the attendance losses of last year and do invite all who are not attending some study class to launch out and go "Farther with Christ in Bible Study this year."

Life is short and yet so precious. Redeem the time! Build the highway of our God. Become mellowed with His life and power.

Death of Fred Stock, Sr.

Fred Stock, Sr., a long time resident in this community and a pioneer of this section of Nebraska, went into eternal rest last Thursday evening at 9:30, after a long, active life and two years of protracted illness. His weakened body finally succumbed to the sickness. He had developed a deep spiritual life and a close relationship with God for many decades, knowing that this call would come soon or late. He was prepared and ready to meet his Creator.

All of Mr. Stock's children were with him when the end came. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Callahan Evangelical church and interment took place in the cemetery nearby.
