Death Occurred Suddenly at Farm Home Northeast of Union—Funeral Held Today.

Mrs. Rosalee Kendall, 66, a pioneer resident of southeast Nebraska, died Friday night at the family home northeast of Union, where for many years the Kendall family have resided. Complications after a short illness caused her death.

Mrs. Kendall was born in Wyoming precinct, Otoe county, January 28, 1871, the daughter of Benjamin P. and Cordelia Davis. She was married in April 1891, to Robert Kendall, a member of one of the pioneer families of the vicinity, who passed away in 1910.

Surviving are three children, Besie Lucille Frans, Syracuse; David A. Kendall, Union; and Rachel Cordelia Kendall, who made her home with the mother, Mary Alice Kendall, died in infancy. Other survivors are the brothers and sisters, Mrs. Luther Hall, Snohomish, Washington; Mrs. George Stites, Union; and R. E. Davis, William C. Davis and Mrs. Ida Roddy, of Union.

Mrs. Kendall was a member of the Episcopal church since her girlhood, a member of the church at Wyoming where she made her home until her marriage.

The funeral services were held this afternoon at St. Mary's Episcopal church at Nebraska City, with Bishop Ernest Vincent Shaylor conducting the services, assisted by Dr. W. Alfred Cave, rector of St. Mary's church. The interment was at the East Union cemetery.

Wealth and Fame

TO ONE looking out over a world of human endeavor, it may appear that the chief objective of men is to acquire material wealth and fame. While some may be striving to procure daily meals, others may be trying to gain millions. Some may seek to be heard by their neighbors, while others strive to be heard by nations. And because of erroneous mortal beliefs men often work strenuously for material wealth and fame, giving little thought to the gaining of genuine substance, that which alone sustains and prospers man.

To the materially minded, to darkened mortal sense, wealth and fame may mean merely perishable gold and personal glory, while to the spiritually enlightened they mean something far greater. They mean true substance and honor—imperishable, impersonal, and eternal. In either case, wealth and fame are two significant words.

Since God is infinite good, spiritual and eternal, can that which has only a material or temporal existence be truly good? If wealth is good, it must be of God; therefore, it is not wealth but spiritual, not temporal but eternal, not uncertain and perishable but certain and imperishable. Genuine wealth lies in spiritual understanding. . . . Did not Christ Jesus say (Matthew 6:25): "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you"? And these words have a very simple meaning. They mean that if we seek to know and understand God aright, every human need will be abundantly met.

Now the word "fame" is defined, in part, by our dictionaries as "lofty (or exalted) reputation derived from great achievements." What achievements could be greater than healing the sick and raising the dead as did Jesus of Nazareth? Was it fame went a great achievement to feed five thousand with "but five loaves, and two fishes" at hand, and to have much food remaining after all had eaten. It is recorded that as Christ Jesus went about Galilee "healing all manner of sickness." . . . "This fame went throughout all Syria" (Matthew 4:23, 24). No spiritual achievements can be greater than those of the master Christian.

This morning District Judge A. C. Thomsen of Omaha was here to take up the case of the Farmers State bank of Avoca vs. Frank Harmer, a case that has been on the docket over the past two years.

INFLUX OF COLORED PEOPLE

A number of Negroes have arrived at Nehawka this week apparently to be engaged in the quarries near that place. The colored men are from Missouri and their advent has occasioned not a little comment in the community.

Nehawka has had previous experiences with these importations and which caused a feeling of dissatisfaction over the fact that labor was being imported into the county.

WINNER OF BULOVA WATCH

Mr. Pollock's question was asked concerning the origin of white horses.

ABLE TO BE AROUND

Henry Timm, who returned the forepart of the week from Omaha where he was undergoing treatment for stomach ulcers, was able to be down in the business part of the city today for the first time since he was taken ill. Mr. Timm is still quite weak and shows the effects of the sickness, but it is hoped he may soon be able to resume his usual activities.

dwelt among men was Christ Jesus, yet he possessed little of the world's riches. This, however, did not prevent him from meeting every human need, even for the multitudes who turned to him for help.

All will agree that power is resident in Truth. And we learn through Christian Science that God is Truth, and that God is substance. Hence, genuine substance, including wealth, honor, and potency, is purely spiritual; therefore eternal. The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 468): "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of disorder and decay." Jesus proved substance to be God, good; hence harmonious and permanent.

He who possesses a true understanding of God and of man's relationship to Him, and sincerely strives to live the divine precepts, is vastly richer than he who may have gained great worldly possessions or mere personal popularity, but does not know God. Solomon humbly sought first of all "an understanding heart" that he might "discern between good and bad" (1 Kings 3:9). Solomon was wise, indeed, for the record continues, assuring us that God not only gave Solomon "an understanding heart," but "both riches, and honor." In his parable (Luke 12:15-21) Jesus tells of "a certain rich man" who believed he had "much goods laid up for many years," and decided to build greater storage facilities for his rapidly accumulating wealth; but "God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee." And the parable continues, "So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

Eddy wrote (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, pp. 283, 284): "Lured by fame, pride, or gold, success is dangerous, but the choice of folly never fastens on the good or the great." Indeed, it is not sinful to express abundance or to be known and loved. Such achievements, however, should be the fruit of Christian scientific demonstration, else one has a very uncertain claim to them. Whatever spiritual good one may acquire through his understanding of the Christ, Truth, is imperishable. As one gains true understanding he grows rich in genuine substance, including wealth and honor, health and joy, harmony and prosperity.—The Christian Science Monitor.

CHAPTER V

"What a boy! Best baby ever born!" Jack was six weeks old and his father was still treading on air. Naturally John was the victim of some good natured kidding. Nevertheless, he was a mighty proud father and he had a perfect right to be. Thanks to good health, sane living and scientific advice, Mary had experienced no trouble in ushering little Jack into the world. After the baby was born, Dr. Hayes insisted that she continue her regular routine—proper foods, fresh air, sunshine and exercise, plenty of rest and sleep, right clothing, cleanliness and mental contentment. This regime, of course, reacted most favorably on the infant.

Fortunately for both mother and child, the baby was breast fed. Dr. Hayes explained that breast fed babies are usually the strongest and healthiest. Breast milk is always fresh, clean and ready for use and it contains less bacteria than cow's milk. He also said that breast fed babies rarely had diarrhea. Finally he explained that by nursing her child Mary would quickly build up her own strength and health. It seems that nursing is one of nature's methods of restoring mothers to normalcy.

John listened to the doctor's discourse in silence. Finally he said, "Say, doctor, are you sure this youngster is normal?" Mary looked frightened. Dr. Hayes looked dismayed. "Certainly," he replied, "absolutely normal. Why?"

"Well," said John, "it seems to me he is kind of slow cutting his teeth. For months you've had Mary eating calcium and phosphorus and vitamins by the pack to build good teeth and now the little rascal has none."

Dr. Hayes laughed. "Don't worry about his teeth. He'll get them soon enough. In fact he has 20 baby teeth tucked away in his little pink gums right now. Their crowns were all formed before he was born and I'm sure they were well formed. That is why I insisted upon the proper prenatal diet and care. I didn't want your wife to rob her own bones and possibly her teeth to supply his needs. Just be patient—he'll get his teeth all right. He won't get the first ones until he is five or six months old. After that at irregular intervals he will get others until he is 2 or 2½ years old. By that time he will have all of his 20 baby teeth."

"Gee," said John, "that is a slow process. I figured he would be eating beefsteak with me when he was six months old." "Don't be silly," John, doctor, are you sure this youngster is normal?" Mary looked frightened. Dr. Hayes looked dismayed. "Certainly," he replied, "absolutely normal. Why?"
