

INVESTIATURE SERVICES AND BANQUET HELD

nations and back of the speaker's table pots of blooming plants added color to the scene. Streamers of purple were used on the tables.

The investiture theme was carried out in the dessert of ice cream with the red latin cross.

The menu of the evening was as follows:

Fruit Cocktail
Breaded Pork Tenderloin
Mashed Potatoes - Gravy
Spring Salad
Buttered Beans
Buttered Rolls - Conserve
Olives - Pickles
Special Ice Cream
Assorted Cakes
Coffee - Mints

During the serving of the banquet the Knoffleek trio composed of Mildred Knoffleek, violin, Bernard Knoffleek, cello and Beatrice Knoffleek, piano, gave a charmingly rendered program of classic and standard numbers which added a very delightful touch to the scene.

Father John J. Hoffman, of Auburn, was the toastmaster of the evening and was ideally cast in the role, his clever thrusts at the speakers and members of the visiting clergy keeping the large audience in roars of laughter as he ably introduced each of the features of the program.

The visitors were given welcome by Mayor George Lushinsky, who on behalf of the community at large expressed the appreciation of the honor conferred on Monsignor Mosler and through him on the local church of the city.

Miss Mildred Knoffleek, talented high school musical student, gave the greatest artistic rendition to "Romance" by Svenson, as her part of the evening program. Miss Beatrice Knoffleek served as the accompanist.

One of the most impressive responses of the evening was that of Chares Stastka, who spoke on behalf of the Holy Rosary parish to their pastor and friend. The honor that had come to their pastor in his elevation to the monsignori had brought happiness and joy to the members of the church and Mr. Stastka pointed out the deep feeling of love and attachment that had grown between the people of the parish and their pastor since he came here last July to take over the charge of the church. He spoke of the early priests in the state who had found difficult travel between many points to visit their members in time of stress and in which mission field Monsignor Mosler had first engaged in the state. He extended to the pastor the universal wish of the parish that he might have many years of life and that they might long have him as their spiritual guide. On behalf of the Holy Rosary parish Mr. Stastka presented Monsignor Mosler with a purse as a token of affection from his people.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Luke Mandeville, of York, was called upon by Father Hoffman to respond to "The Office of Domestic Prelate." Monsignor Mandeville told of his meeting Father Mosler thirty years before while the new monsignor was at Crete, of his intimate touch with the fine work that he had performed in the priesthood and his many parishes over the state where he had won the deep affection of his people for his service. The designation of the domestic prelate was a stamp of approval given for untiring and faithful service in the cause of the church and which Pope Pius XI had placed on Father Mosler for his faithful years. The scriptural basis of this special recognition was found in the events that followed the last supper when three of the apostles had been chosen by the Christ to accompany him a way on meditations. The speaker presented the congratulations and well wishes of the clergy of the Lincoln diocese.

County Judge A. H. Duxbury was introduced to respond to the toast, "Our Rotarian." Judge Duxbury pointed to the fact that in this day the world was revaluing the services one gave to man, how in the past only the great in war or government were honored while today men and women in the tasks of peace were being acclaimed for their services, that leaders of peace were leaving their imprint on the lives of the nations of the world. The honors paid to John Howard Payne, author of "Home Sweet Home" by the national government was cited as one case of a reward for a service to man in the composition of this world known song. Judge Duxbury touched on the Rotary spirit of world peace and the practice of paying deserved tribute while the recipient might hear the words while living as idly carved on a marble stone they might be only a gesture of the past. Judge Duxbury paid a warm personal tribute to Monsignor Mosler, "Father Adolph," as he is known in Rotary, his fine service to the community as well as his church, and above all the fine personality that had endeared him to all who had known him.

Monsignor Mosler was presented by Father Hoffman and with great emotion gave a few words of appreciation at the wonderful tributes that had come to him during the day from the clergy and laymen.

The Most Rev. Louis B. Kucera, Bishop of Lincoln, in his response expressed his gratification at the community expression of approval of the services of Monsignor Mosler and that members of his church as well as non-members had joined in the tribute to the servant of the Catholic church now elevated to the monsignori. The spirit was representative of our great nation where religious freedom was enjoyed and practiced. The bishop expressed the gratitude for the elevation of Monsignor Mosler by Pope Pius XI as the recognition of a fine service. Bishop Kucera spoke also of the work of Pope Pius XI at the present time, one of the gravest in the history of the church and the world and in which the voice of the Pope had been raised in the defense of the oppressed and in the cause of right and civilization. The plea of the Pope for equality for the laborer and wage earner, for the cause of world peace. This great leadership had inspired the world and its example had led others such as Father Mosler to carry on their work to a deserved recognition. The bishop expressed the hope that the kindly leader of the Catholic church might be spared to lead the church and the world out of the dark problems of today into the realms of peace. The bishop also expressed the appreciation for the fine banquet prepared by the ladies.

The benediction by Bishop Kucera closed the program of the evening and many of the visiting clergy enjoyed a short visit at the Holy Rosary parish house before returning to their homes.

The members of the clergy present were:

Most Rev. Louis B. Kucera, Bishop; Rt. Rev. Msgr. L. L. Mandeville, York; Rt. Rev. Msgr. V. Mlejnek, Weston; Rt. Rev. Msgr. George Agius, Plattsmouth; Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. Nemecek, Wahoo; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edw. Hagan, V. F. Dawson; Rev. John J. Hoffman, Auburn; Very Rev. Paul Waldron, St. Columbian; Very Rev. D. A. Connelley, C.S.S.R., Omaha; Rev. E. C. McFadden, Syracuse; Rev. Oscar Schlaechter, Steinauer; Rev. Francis W. Cadek, Odell; Rev. Patrick Harte, Beatrice; Rev. A. J. Kraemer, Lincoln; Rev. Albert Gerhardtstein, Nebraska City; Rev. George Smiskol, Omaha; Rev. S. J. Zukowski, Omaha; Rev. Richard Aherm, St. Columbian's; Rev. John B. Pastorak, Prague; Rev. James Hennessy, Manley; Rev. Joseph Keany, Lincoln; Rev. Wilhelm Rezakab, Valparaiso; Rev. L. F. Obriest, Lincoln; Rev. C. J. Riordan, Lincoln; Rev. Joseph J. Prudzik, Lincoln; Rev. Dennis Barry, Colon; Rev. Mitchell M. Kaczmarek, Lincoln; Rev. Otto Ekhaml, Wahoo.

The order from God to investigate and see the land, was faithfully carried out, and then his tent was erected by the oaks of Mamre, about 18 miles north of Jerusalem. Here he built an altar.

It is not said anywhere that Lot ever built an altar to God. Erecting an altar for worship of Jehovah in every place were Abraham journeyed may be compared to Christian people immediately seeking a church home when they move to a new place; a man who keeps near God, who worships God, who walks with God in his strength; will often be the means to lead others to God.

The decadence of the church in her members is found in the fact of the falling down of her family altars; we are looking for an Elijah who shall call the people to their obligations to God, repairing "the altars that are broken down." (I Kings, 18:30, 31). When the Christian neglects his family altar, he loses his strength, like Samson who had his locks shorn, his strength was gone. (Judges 16:19). Abraham gave his posterity a good example of faith in God; he knew that God expects a man to be "faithful unto death to receive the crown of life." (Rev. 2:10).

Rendered Service to Many

The Rev. W. A. Taylor during his ministry has rendered service to a great many in the conduct of funerals, the number now having reached a total of 658. Many times his services were given in the most disagreeable of weather and no matter how cold or blustery it has been he has always answered the call, considering it a pleasure as well as a duty to do what he could to soften the grief and mitigate the sorrow of those whose loved ones have passed on. Even in failing health, he has continued to answer funeral calls, and scarcely a week goes by but he adds one or more to the long list of those at which he has officiated.

Home from the South

D. R. Frans, who accompanied Wm. Frans to Oklahoma and Texas recently, returned last week and was well pleased with the trip, having gone as far as Waco, Texas, where they visited relatives. Waco is more than a thousand miles from here and Mr. Frans noted the change in climate, the trees being leaved out and the gardens growing rapidly, while the fruit trees have shed their blossoms and the fruit is forming. Mr. Frans says the weather was ideal for their entire trip, with the exception of one day, when they were bothered with a severe dust storm. However, they were not in the dust bowl and only received the dust from points considerable distance away, the same as we do here at times.

The parents and the young man were both well and favorably known while residing here.

Wind Does Much Damage

The violent wind of last Saturday blew out the window at the Genevieve Becker Grocery, located in the A. L. Becker block. The glass, which was a large plate glass, would cost some $200. When repaired, there will be a smaller glass used.

Also, the large north front door at the Frans Lumber yard was blown down and as well a large section of the north front of the building was blown out. A windmill belonging to Edward Leach was wrecked by the wind and another one at the Finkle farm suffered a like fate.

Week of Special Services

A new innovation inaugurated by the Methodist church in the holding of a week's revival services whereby different ministers and helpers were present each night, proved very successful and pleasing to the congregation.

Monday evening the services were conducted by Rev. V. C. Wright, pastor of the church at Plattsmouth, assisted by E. H. Wescott and Elmer Sandstrom, members of his congregation. Tuesday evening the Rev. Norman B. Callaway, pastor of the Louisville church, was the minister.

Wednesday evening, Rev. Burrows of the Crowell home for aged, an institution operated by the church at Blair, conducted the service. On Thursday evening, Rev. Randall of Omaha, who was pastor of the local church 23 years ago, was here. He is now pastor of Grace Methodist church in Omaha. Friday's session was conducted by the Rev. Walter Jackson of Nebraska City.

This made up the five days for which it had been arranged to conduct the special services.

Stine and Mrs. Flora Taylor, of Union, and one brother, J. E. Grimes, of St. Louis. There are also five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Otoe County Young Man Charged with Responsibility of Accident Near Union March 30th.

The trial of the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Raymond Detlef, charged with manslaughter and operating a car while intoxicated, closed late Monday afternoon and was given to the jury shortly after the supper hour.

The jury was rapid in their deliberation and the verdict was reported in at 9:30, the jury acquitting the young man of the charges preferred against him.

The charges grew out of the auto accident that occurred on the evening of March 30th near the Union corner on highway No. 75, when the car driven by Detlef crashed into a trailer truck that was parked along the highway. As the result of the accident Ernest Crowder of Nebraska City, died of his injuries while en route to the hospital at Nebraska City and Sam Godfrey died a few days later from his injuries, both men being passengers in the car driven by Detlef.
