Elmwood News

Jay Stanton disposed of a car load of hog and pig feed to farmers in and about Elmwood last week. The scarcity of corn is causing many to turn to other feed.

Charles F. Wood was in Plattsmouth one day last week, where he made the purchase of a team of horses which he has been needing on his farm south of Cedar Creek.

Harry Allen, the painter, has been busy repainting the interior of the Clover Farm store operated by Mr. Bothwell, thus giving the place a much more attractive appearance.

Han Preston and Claude West have accepted work with the Nebraska Power company and are working with their crew in the construction of country lines near Elmwood.

John Bickart, now of Lincoln, but for many years making his home in and near Elmwood was looking after some business matters in Elmwood on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Bickart still has a farm near Elmwood and was down to see how it looked.

Charles Gerbeling, who has a farm near Greenwood was over to see how things were coming on and found it much drier up that way than he had expected. That same night, however, a good heavy rain visited that part of the county, refreshing things greatly.

Making Trip to East

Alfred Race and family of Elmwood, accompanied by the two sisters of Mrs. Race, the Misses Katie and Clara Dennis departed yesterday (Sunday) morning for the east, where they will visit for a month. They expect to be in Indianapolis today (Monday) for the auto races, and from there will continue on east, visiting Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington and New York City, before crossing the boundary line into eastern Canada. After visiting 44, a number of places in the province of Ontario, they will start back home, coming via Detroit, the automobile center of the world, and on through Chicago, second largest city in the nation. The mother and some sisters of Mr. Race make their home at Stratford, Ontario, where they expect to spend the greater part of their time while in Canada.

Taking Knitting Instruction

The Elmwood Knitting club, being busily engaged in the knitting of suits for themselves, went to Lincoln last Saturday, where they received instruction in some of the more difficult technique connected with the proper forming of their garments. Members of the club who went to Lincoln included Mesdames Lucy Lyle, Emily Bonzales, Hattie Rosenow and Alma Stark. Mrs. Rosenow took them in her car. They enjoyed an excellent supper before returning home in the evening.

Makes Excellent Address

At the commencement exercises of the Elmwood schools last week, a large number of the school patrons and citizens of Elmwood were present. The principal address was by R. Foster Patterson, of the History department of Tarkio college at Tarkio, Mo., and formerly principal of schools at Plattsmouth. Mr. Patterson, who is a well known orator of eloquence, held the audience spellbound with his flow of words and the good advice he gave to the young graduates.

Wabash News

Louis Schmidt was called to Murdock one day last week to look after business matters, and also enjoyed visiting with friends there.

Frank and Fred Hulfish and Ed Van Every and wife of Lincoln attended the Memorial services at the Wabash cemetery last Sunday.

Tom Allen, Lincoln attorney, and his wife were in Wabash and at the cemetery on Memorial day and was pleased to meet his many old friends here.

Chris Brunbauer, of Newkirk, Oklahoma, has been visiting friends in this vicinity and also at Murdock, being a guest at the homes of the Schleuter brothers, who reside west of Murdock.

The Wabash cemetery has been cleaned up in fine shape and was looking very beautiful for Memorial day. The grass this year is away ahead of any of the last three years in appearance, due to normal rainfall, following a three year drouth period.

With the completion of the new distribution line of the Nebraska Power company, a mile south of Wabash, Ralph Dorr has had his home wired for electrical service and is enjoying the conveniences of this modern-day service now being extended to farmers of this territory.

H. H. Gerbeling and wife and Orville Gerbeling and wife were over to the Elmwood cemetery last Wednesday afternoon, where they were cleaning up the graves of their relatives who are buried there, getting the last resting places ready for the Memorial day services last Sunday.

Working on Power Line

The work of extending the electrical lines of the Nebraska Power company to provide service to farmers in this area has provided employment for a good number of men. Two from this vicinity, Clifford Browne and John West, have been engaged in this line of work for some time, thus finding employment near at home and at good a wage as could be realized elsewhere.

Will Visit in Germany

H. Regert, who formerly lived in the vicinity of Murdock and Wabash, working on a farm with the Schleuter brothers, and who later went to school at Naperville, Ill., where he studied medicine, practicing his profession after graduating from the medical school, is a town in Illinois, was visiting old friends in this vicinity last week. Dr. Regert expects to leave soon for Germany, where he will spend a couple of months visiting the old scenes of his boyhood and enjoying a stay at the home of his parents.

Enjoyable Birthday Party

Saturday, May 22, marked the 83rd birthday anniversary of Mrs. Henrietta Lawton, who has been a citizen of Wabash for the past forty years, and to properly celebrate the occasion some fifteen of her friends arranged a surprise party. She was the recipient of a number of fine gifts showing the high esteem in which she is held by the neighbors and long time acquaintances here in Wabash.

Honor Old Friend

Friday evening at the Platte river camp of W. R. Holly, a group of the members of the Cosmopolitan club met in reunion in honor of Karl Roessler of Chicago, formerly of this city.

The members of the party enjoyed a visit with the guest of honor and the diversion of pinocle for several hours as well as the luncheon that had been arranged by Mr. Holly.

Mr. and Mrs. Roessler are leaving Sunday for their home in the east after a three weeks vacation here. Those who enjoyed the reunion were Charles Ault, Emil Koukal, Frank Rebal, Cyril Kalina, Rudolph Skalak, Edward Ote, C. E. Ledgway, Frank Smith, the guest of honor, Mr. Roessler and W. R. Holly.

EMERGENCY OPERATION

From Saturday's Daily—Wilma Mumm, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mumm, was taken to the Clarkson hospital last evening for an appendectomy at eight o'clock. She is reported to be getting along as well as can be expected.

AVOCA NEWS

Monte H. Lum was in Nebraska City Tuesday of last week, where he was having some dental work done.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Carsten were visitors in Peru last Sunday, being guests for the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morley.

Superintendent Leonard Larson of the Syracuse schools, accompanied by Mrs. Larson, were visiting with friends in Avoca last Monday night. Rev. J. M. Kolkjer and Mrs. Kolkjer were at Crete a number of days during the past week, where they were attending the Doane college retreat.

Ralph Graham, of Lincoln, who owns the farm on which Marjorie Nelson is farming, was in Avoca on last Tuesday, looking after matters of business.

Edward Shackley spent last Sunday in Iowa, where he was a guest of the Charles Parmenter family, driving over in the morning to visit for the day.

George E. Stites of Union was a visitor in Avoca the fore part of the week, coming to visit his mother, Mrs. Edwin Tyrrell, and to take her home with him for a week's visit.

Carl O. Zaiser and wife, accompanied by Dick Maseman, were in Omaha Tuesday of last week, where they were looking after business matters and Dick was seeing the sights of the big city.

John McFarland and wife of Lincoln, who formerly resided in Avoca, were here last Tuesday to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Adeline Carey. They also enjoyed renewing acquaintance with many other old friends while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marquardt visited friends in Table Rock last Sunday. Their hosts had just completed a fine new home at a cost of forty thousand dollars, which Mr. and Mrs. Marquardt say is most beautiful, and exceptionally well arranged.

Living in the Garage

Marius Neilson, who moved to Nehawka last winter, where he engaged in business, recently sold out his interests there and moved back to Avoca, waiting for the house of Frank Freis, who is planning on leaving soon for California. Pending the removal, Mr. and Mrs. Neilson have been living in the garage, but last week Mr. and Mrs. Freis departed for the west, giving them possession of the house.

Visited in Omaha Sunday

Henry Maseman and Win. Maseman and wife were in Omaha last Sunday, going to visit the daughter of the former, who is at St. Joseph hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. Her mother has been at the hospital at the daughter's bedside, assisting in her care. Latest reports are to the effect that the daughter, Miss Mari-lyna Maseman, is getting along very nicely.

Making Substantial Improvements

Oscar Zimmerman and his mother have been having some very worthwhile improvements made, in the form of a heating plant, together with bath and other plumbing conveniences. The work is being done by Edward Shackley.

Mrs. Sarah Adeline Carey

Sarah Adeline Dwinell, daughter of James and Almira Dwinell, was born in Carroll county, Illinois, on January 30, 1855. In 1872 the family moved to Nebraska, making the trip in covered wagons. Her father, brother and herself each drove a team, while her younger brothers drove the cattle. They crossed the Missouri river July 5, 1872, settling near Weeping Water, Nebr.

She was married to James W. Carey July 2, 1873, at the age of 18. Mr. and Mrs. Carey lived near Weeping Water nearly forty years. They then left the farm and moved to Kansas. In 1919 they moved to Lincoln, where in 1923 they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They lived there until Mr. Carey's death in 1928. Since that time, Mrs. Carey has lived in Avoca.

Mrs. Carey passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Mickle, on May 22, 1937. Besides her daughter, she is survived by two grandchildren, Mrs. Lloyd Ganzel, of Ope and Harry Mickle, of Avoca; three great-grandchildren, and four brothers, John M., of Verdigre, Nebraska; Oliver L., of Fort Morgan, Colorado; Luther P., of Palmyra, Nebraska, and Charles D., of Erickson, Nebraska.

Her husband and infant daughter preceded her in death. The funeral services were held from the Congregational church in Avoca Tuesday, May 25, at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. W. A. Taylor, of Union. Interment was in Oakwood cemetery at Weeping Water.

MOTHER DIES IN IOWA

John Schwartz, for many years a resident of Plattsmouth and vicinity but who has been farming in Saunders county last Thursday received the sad news telling of the passing of his mother at Libertyville, Iowa, at the advanced age of 89 years. Mrs. Susan Schwartz had passed the greater portion of her life near Libertyville. Mr. Schwartz, wife and daughter, Mrs. Helen Richardson, hastened to the old home to render such aid and comfort in their our of grief as they could.

The funeral will be held Sunday, with burial there, where most of the family reside or are at rest.

LEAVE FOR CALIFORNIA

From Saturday's Daily—Jesse Scurto and Homer Luthes, popular young men of the community, are leaving Sunday morning for a trip to the west coast and where they may decide to locate. They will visit the Hickenbottom family in the northern part of California and also in the southern coast cities.

Bankers' Head Returns from Statewide Trip

H. A. Schneider, President of State Bankers Association Attends Many Meetings.

H. A. Schneider, president of the Nebraska State Bankers association, returned home Friday evening from a state wide trip with a large delegation of the members of the banker's group and which has taken them into various section of the state.

The party, comprising some forty-two bankers and several guests from Kansas City and Chicago banking houses, traveled by special car and were taken over the Burlington along its lines in the state.

The first meeting was at Nebraska City and largely attended and from there the party headed westward toward Holdrege. After leaving Lincoln at night the party found on awakening the next morning that their car was attached to one of the regular trains and was traveling toward Red Cloud, the main line being blocked by a wreck at Funk that was trying up all traffic. The bankers special was finally brought into Holdrege from the west some six hours late.

The meetings at Alliance brought many of the stock raisers and bankers of that section to the meetings. Many reported that in large areas there was much drouth and the grass had not recovered from last year and was making poor feed for the cattle on the range.

The trip was most interesting and included visits at Nebraska City, Holdrege, Alliance and Grand Island.

OBITUARY OF WM. PATTERSON

William, son of G. F. and Sarah Amy Patterson, was born at Newton, Iowa, on January 24, 1867, and departed this life at an Omaha hospital May 19, 1937, age 70 years, 3 months and 25 days.

Some 37 years ago Mr. Patterson came to Nebraska and engaged in farming in the vicinity of Murray. He continued to live there until the end came. In 1909 he was united in marriage with Miss Florence Rusterholtz of Murray. The beloved wife preceded him in death, passing away in 1932.

Until very recently Mr. Patterson was apparently in reasonably good health. Friday last he became violently ill, was taken to the Omaha hospital for treatment. All that science could do, all that love could suggest was done, but to no avail. Early Wednesday morning his spirit returned to God who gave it, "to be with the blessed Christ whom in life he loved and from whom in death he shall not be separated."

He leaves to mourn his going, six brothers, James, John and Thomas of Newton, Iowa, Lee of Whatcheer, Iowa, Alex and David of Weeping Water; two sisters, Mrs. A. Spencer of Weeping Water and Mrs. Carl Tiffany of Colfax, Iowa, together with other relatives and friends.

Two brothers, Ed and George, and one sister, Julia, have preceded him to the "Great Beyond."

Reared in a Christian home, William remained true to his ideals. He was a member of the Otterbein United Brethren church of Murray. He was one of God's noblemen, a quiet, unassuming Christian gentleman; one whose life was a benediction of blessing to his family and all who knew him.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

From Thursday's Daily—Mrs. Thurn Fulton was taken to the Clarkson hospital for an operation this a. m. Mrs. Fulton has not been well for some time and it is hoped an operation may help her condition.

CHAPTER XIV

"Do you realize," said Mary one evening, "that our son is eighteen months old today?" "By Jove, that's right," replied John. "Time sure does fly. It does not seem possible that he is a year and a half old, although to look at him you would think he was at least two years old. He is a fine looking boy, certainly takes after his father," and he threw out his chest. "Oh, is that so?" said Mary. "He looks like my side of the family. He is big for his age and Dr. Hayes tells me that he is cutting his little cuspid teeth, too. He is right on time as far as teething is concerned. That reminds me—speaking about teeth—I've got a fine idea."

"Shoot!" replied John. "I never like to see new ideas die aborning."

"Well," began Mary, "you know, everybody knows, that you should visit your dentist twice a year."

"Seems to me I've heard that before," interrupted John. "All right," continued Mary, "from now on Jack's birthday is going to be my day to visit the dentist, and I'm going to take Jack with me."

"You don't mean to tell me that an eighteen months old child has to visit a dentist?" asked John. "No," answered his wife, "but it has been almost six months since my teeth were examined, and it won't be many months before Jack must start the same routine. Therefore, I am going to begin now by making Jack's birthday my dental day as well."

"Not a bad idea," said John. "That's one sure way to remember your dental appointments. I think I'll follow suit."

The next day found Mrs. Reynolds and Jack at her dentist's. After carefully examining her mouth, Dr. Young informed her that all she needed was a prophylaxis as there were a few deposits about the necks of her teeth.

"During the operation, the conversation naturally turned to Jack and his teeth. "I know he is going to have splendid teeth, doctor," said Mrs. Reynolds. "I've watched his diet carefully and I've cleaned them twice a day with a soft cloth."

"Fine," replied Dr. Young, "although he is old enough now for you to clean his teeth with a small soft bristled brush instead of a cloth. Fortunately, he doesn't have any stains on his teeth—many children of his age do—so it should be easy to keep them clean."

"What kind of toothpaste shall I use?" asked Mrs. Reynolds. "Toothpaste isn't necessary at his age," replied the doctor. "Careful brushing is all that is necessary. When he becomes a little older, he may use some bland, mild dentifrice, one that does not contain any coarse, harsh substance that will injure the tooth enamel, and one that does not contain any strong medicine that will irritate his gums."

"I'm glad that you have given Jack such a good start in life. Baby teeth are most important. The child needs them to chew his food during the most important period of his life, the growing period. Baby teeth are also necessary in speech. They help the child make certain sounds of words and letters. They are important because they give form and shape to the face. If one baby tooth, particularly a back or molar tooth, is lost too soon in life, this loss may cause the little jaws to grow improperly and make one or more of the permanent teeth even in crooked. In short, a good set of healthy baby teeth helps pave the way for a set of strong, healthy permanent teeth."

Dr. Young picked Jack up and stood him on his desk. "Open up, young man, let me see your teeth." Jack promptly obeyed and the doctor glanced inside. "Fine, old timer," he said, "you and I are going to get along splendidly."

Turning to Mrs. Reynolds, he added, "Bring Jack with you every time you come up. I want him to learn to know me and not be afraid of me. Many children are afraid of the dentist and that is why they dread and actually resist having their teeth cared for. If mothers would assist in making their children and their dentist friends, a great deal of our children's dental disease could be prevented."
