While there is a possibility that the spring wheat area of northwestern Nebraska may catch enough rust to do considerable damage, the pathologist is inclined to believe the question can only be answered by the weather conditions that develop over the area during the next few days.

There is considerable stem rust in many eastern Nebraska fields. The early maturity varieties probably will escape severe injury.

FILING OF SECURITY CLAIMS

Twenty-seven Nebraksans had filed claims for lump sum and death payments under the social security act up to June 22, according to Leo W. Smith, manager of the Lincoln field office of the social security board. On June 1, a total of 5,390 claims had been filed with the board in Washington and only 43 had been disallowed.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the adjudication of a claim from an employe who has reached age 65 involves little more than checking the name and social security account number, and establishing the age of the claimant and the wages received. Payment of such claims is ordinarily made within approximately three

Death claims require about a week longer because such claims must be paid in accordance with state laws relating to priorities and exemptions if funeral and last illness expenses have not been paid. In addition, procedure depending on whether a will has been probated and who files the claim. Claim forms and assistance in filing them are available, without charge, at board offices.
