

SMITHY OF 3D GENERATION STAYS ON IN VILLAGE

JEFFERSON, O. (UP)—A symbol of an age commonly thought long gone still stands and prospers in this town. It is the village smithy.

Albert Bailey has been in business 46 years. Never in all those years has his bellows missed a puff.

There was a time, Bailey said, when it seemed that horses had become extinct animals, seen only in museums. But today Bailey joyfully reports an increase of 25 per cent in his horse-cobbling business, over the 1936 trade.

The upshoot is due to the fact that horses are coming back to the farm scene.

Bailey learned his trade from his father, who beat the anvil here for 35 years. His grandfather also was a blacksmith.

Jefferson was for many years known as the "Little Kentucky" of Ohio. Hundreds of work-horses were sired here, as well as light-harness stock.

THE TRAILER COMES OF AGE

Some infants have a way of being born, doing a bit of crying, eating, growing, and going to school, then suddenly appearing in long trousers or skirts—completely grown up.

So it is with the trailer. Hardly had we become aware of it before this prodigious and precocious infant has come of age. A discussion of its problem of orientation to us—or ours to it—is, indeed, timely. What will happen if a considerable portion of a country's population turns gypsy? How can their equitable share of taxes be collected? How can their children be educated? Should communities provide trailer camps? What control should there be over the sanitation and social relations of camps, whether private or public?

Here is a community problem—one that already is acute in some communities and inevitable in others. Citizens might well give thought to it.—From an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine.

LEARN TO CARAMELIZE
By Betty Barclay

Caramel, made in the usual way, is often a trouble-maker even for the experienced cook. You must burn the sugar—but you mustn't burn it too much. There's a magic trick to caramel, however, that does away with the necessity for burned sugar. Just caramelize sweetened condensed milk in the can. This magic milk will be transformed into a thick, rich caramel cream which is the basis of many tempting desserts.

Magic Caramel Pudding

To caramelize sweetened condensed milk, place one or more unopened cans in a kettle of boiling water and boil for three hours. Be sure to keep the cans covered with water. To open the can, warm it by immersing in hot water about one minute. Punch a hole in the bottom of the can to let the air in; remove the top with a can opener, cutting along the side just below the top edge, starting at the seam. Loosen caramel from the sides of the can with a table knife dipped in hot water. Turn on to a plate. Cut in slices with a knife dipped in hot water. Garnish with whipped cream, fruit or nuts. Or place each slice of caramel on a slice of pineapple or cake before garnishing. (Caramelize several cans of this magic milk at once and keep in the unopened can until you need it.)

Caramel Pineapple Sauce

Blend caramelized sweetened condensed milk and pineapple juice. More or less juice may be used as desired. Makes about 1 1/4 cups.
