Two Cook brothers of Plattsmouth were in Nehawka last Sunday working on the telephone lines of the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph company, cutting the weeds around the poles and seeing that the dirt was properly tamped. The telephone company keeps its property up in A-1 condition at all times and in this manner is able to render uninterrupted service regardless of weather conditions, save in an occasional emergency, which no precautionary measures could prevent.

VIOLENCE BREAKS OUT AS YELLOW CABS RETURN

OMAHA, July 21 (UP)—Violence began almost immediately when the Yellow Cab taxis made their reappearance on the streets today after an absence of a month because of a strike of drivers.

A half hour after they made their appearance, two drivers were severely beaten by gangs of strike sympathizers riding in cabs of rival companies. Both of the beatings took place near 15th and Farnam streets and large crowds gathered.

One of the men attacked was Roy Sweet, 36. The other escaped and his name was not learned. Sweet was dragged from the driver's seat and beaten by a half-dozen men. He was not seriously injured.

A few moments later another cab was upset at 19th and Farnam. Police reserves were called out and the streets were filled with police cars, their sirens screaming.

Child Prodigy, 2, Hums Own Tunes, Aims to Be Second Shirley Temple

BONNE TERRE, Mo. (UP)—Two-year-old Mary Christine Dunn, who is so intelligent she astonished university professors, has decided to become a movie actress "Just like Shirley Temple."

Dressed in her best Sunday outfit she curtsied in true Temple fashion for the benefit of photographers and reporters and said she would like very much to go to Hollywood. Of course she hasn't seen many moving pictures because her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Dunn, think that they are not the thing for growing children. But she is an avid reader of film magazines and can named dozens of stars, including Mickey Mouse.

Mary has appeared before newsreel cameras and is intrigued with the idea of displaying her talents for the theater-going public. Screen tests were planned for her by two Hollywood producers and a trip to California may be made after negotiations end.

Professors have accorded Mary an IQ rating of 155 which ranks her with the great German poet, Goethe, when he was 2 years old. Her steady flow of conversation betrayed familiarity with the doings of the Duke of Windsor and his bride, Mussolini, Mahatma Gandhi, Haile Selassie, and others.

The burden of being a genius bothers her not at all. She has the manner and graciousness of a child of 6 and is not self-conscious. She boasts the cutting of 18 teeth and admits she has had two stomach aches "Which hurt down here."

Most impressive to psychologists is the perfect balance of her personality. She has a natural aptitude for music, composing her own choruses and occasionally her own tunes. Her memory has enabled her to compile a vocabulary of more than 2,600 words. A child of three usually masters about 75, according to statistics.

Mary said she hoped the first person she meets in Hollywood will be Shirley Temple. "She's adorable," Mary added.

Senator Barkley Named as Leader of the Senate

Selected This Morning by Democratic Caucus Over Senator Pat Harrison, 38 to 37.

WASHINGTON, July 21 (UP)—Senate democrats by a vote of 38 to 37 selected Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, to be the new majority leader, charged with the disposal of President Roosevelt's battered judiciary reform bill and attempt to restore party harmony.

Barkley, who defeated Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, has generally been regarded as the candidate of the administration and one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the court bill. The White House has emphasized its neutrality.

As a result of the election the supporters of the judicial program seem to have won back some ground lost in the last few days. Election of Barkley left the future of the measure and speedy adjournment as demanded by the opponents of the court bill still uncertain.

The one vote margin by which the election was decided, showed the close division of the vote on the court issue.

The vote of the democratic senators included John H. Bankhead of Alabama, who voted by proxy.

The result was not disclosed immediately after the forty-five minute session in the caucus. Senator Harrison moved to make the election unanimous. The motion was adopted.

Senator Carl Hayden, Arizona, who had left his bed to vote for Harrison, was escorted from the room by his secretary.

By agreement of the supporters of Barkley and Harrison the vote was taken by secret ballot.

As Hayden was escorted through the milling crowd of reporters, he was urged to disclose the result of the ballot, but it was not learned until a few seconds later when other senators left the caucus room.

Senator Minton, Indiana, leader of the Barkley forces in the battle, was surrounded by friends congratulating him.

Barkley, smiling broadly, was surrounded by reporters. "My policies," he said, "representative of the administration as of the senate in working out to the best of my ability, the problems that face the congress and the country."

Asked for outlook on the court bill, "I can't tell you a thing now." The election, however, was considered the most encouraging move for the administration since the bitter court battle started.

Shriveled Wheat is Good for Seed Use

Experimental Work at State University Shows No Disadvantage in This Wheat for Seeding.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 20 (UP)—Nebraska farmers harvesting shriveled wheat who wonder if such grain will make suitable seed for fall planting were told today by the department of agronomy at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture that the grain should be satisfactory for seeding purposes.

Numerous requests for information concerning the seed have been received here during the past week from farmers marketing their grain. Many asked if the grain, shriveled just before ripening by hot weather and rust, will germinate and produce a crop in 1938.

Experimental work done by Dr. T. A. Kieselbach over a 12-year period, 1919-31, showed no disadvantage to planting shriveled wheat. In fact, the grain produced as much as did plump kernels when equal weights were sown. However, if the wheat to be seeded is exceptionally light and shriveled, farmers were advised to get it tested for germination. The state seed analyst at the capitol does the work free of charge.

Other questions "popping" into the minds of Nebraska wheat growers pertain to blackstem rust. They want to know if grain badly rusted this year is safe to plant this fall. They are also asking if rotation of their land will help to eliminate rust.

Elvin F. Frolik, assistant extension agronomist, pointed out that blackstem rust is not transmitted through the seed. As a result, grains from fields badly rusted should be at no disadvantage for use as seed for the 1938 crop.

Rotating of cropland, although a good farming practice, will not be of any benefit insofar as blackstem rust is concerned for the following year. It was explained. Seeding of rust-resistant varieties, however, aids in avoiding rust.

At the conclusion of the week of instruction, a huge pageant is being planned for Friday evening, July 30. Mrs. E. H. Wescott is chairman of the committee for the pageant.

Courses of instruction are being given for both the beginners and the advanced swimmers. The Red Cross is especially anxious to train men and women and who will be able to save others in cases of emergency.

The training includes the proper approach to avoid strangle holds, and also the most effective release methods in the event the terror-stricken person does grab the rescuer. The trainee in lifesaving technique learns how to submerge with the subject, breaking under water whatever hold the other person has obtained.

The instruction also includes methods of towing by the hair, the head, or the cross-chest carry. Artificial respiration is also emphasized in the training. Even beginners are taught how to effect rescues from the bank or shallow waters without endangering their own lives.

SEARCH FOR FLIERS STOPPED

WASHINGTON, July 19 (UP)—The United States navy wrote off the search for Amelia Earhart and Frederick Noonan as $4,000,000 loss as the navy planes stopped their search. SUNDAY MOVIES FAIL

BEATRICE, July 20 (UP)—Backers of the proposal for Sunday movies, the election on which resulted in a tie vote, today considered the possibility of appeal to the courts. City Attorney Mattson said that under the city ordinance the proposition lacked a majority and was automatically defeated.

Canvass of the sixty-eight mail votes tabulated failed to break the tie. There were 1,553 votes cast for each side.

This was the fourth in ten years in which it has been an issue.

COUNTIES MUST PAY

LINCOLN, July 20 (UP)—Exhibits for school work at county fairs or buildings to house the exhibits must be paid for by the counties.
