Plan Evening Booster Trips Over County

Korn Karnival Plans Going Forward in Splendid Manner—Seven Band and Drum Corps

Probability of having seven bands here during the four days of the Korn Karnival was reported at the Ad club's bi-weekly luncheon yesterday. This reaches almost state fair proportions from a musical standpoint and is a remarkable achievement on the part of the band committee.

In addition to the bands, Plattsmouth Legion's Junior Drum Corps will be on the job each day, taking part in the various parades and executing some of their more difficult drills and formations. The boys have gone a long way this summer, winning various competitive contests—including their second place victory at the state fair in Lincoln Sunday. In fact, their progress has been such that Korn Karnival crowds will discern instantly the great improvement that has come as the result of a lot of hard work put in during the past year to perfect their technique.

Most pleasing reports of progress all along the line were given at the meeting, which was not largely attended.

Plan Night Booster Trips

Most important of the plans discussed dealt with the making of two booster trips over the county Thursday and Friday nights of next week—the Thursday evening one comprising a swing through the central part of the county as the delegation returns home from Plattsmouth day at the county fair in Weeping Water. It is believed more people can make the night trip and past experience has been that not nearly as large a crowd is on hand to greet the caravan in the various towns during the daytime as in the evening.

The Booster Trip committee will have further information the fore part of the week and asks the co-operation of all those interested in the success of the Korn Karnival.

Finances are looking up, with belated contributions bringing the total well above the amount listed last week. Still there are some who have not paid in their money, the report showed.

Two Days of Bargains

Briefly, before a belated adjournment, plans were discussed for the two days of KOIL Salute and Pre-Korn Karnival Specials to be offered the shopping public next Tuesday and Wednesday in conjunction with the "Salute Plattsmouth" broadcast here Tuesday afternoon. Ads in Monday's Journal will bring the public news of outstanding bargains in most of the stores.

Two years ago the plan of conducting special sales on the days of the Korn Karnival was tried, but it was found that most people come to town those days to be entertained and not to shop extensively. It is certain the pre-Karnival two day specials will prove attractive, coming at this time of changing seasons when demand for merchandise of all kinds is considerably above par.

The KOIL Salute broadcast will do much to advertise Plattsmouth and the Korn Karnival and is being given wholly as a good will proposition on the part of the radio station, without involving a penny of cost to local business men or organizations. It is a much appreciated gesture, and the broadcast will be witnessed by a large crowd assembled on our Main street as well as heard by countless hundreds of listeners, many of whom have been away from Plattsmouth for a good number of years.

Emil J. Weyrich, a past president of the Ad club reported on his recent western trip.

MARRIED AT CITY HALL

On Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 at the city hall occurred the marriage of Mrs. Beulah C. West and Alfred J. Dickey, both of Omaha. The ceremony was performed by Judge C. L. Graves. Viola Mandery and Archie L. Sizs accompanied the bride and groom and witnessed the ceremony.

PLEADS IN DISTRICT COURT

Wednesday afternoon in the district court before Judge W. W. Wilson, Claude Lahoda was arraigned on the charge of breaking and entering for which offense he was bound over for trial by the county court. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and will be tried at the November term of the district court. The bond was fixed at $600 and was supplied and the defendant was released from custody.

Henry Husk, young man who had pleaded guilty to forgery, was also arraigned and renewed his plea of guilty. He was charged with having forged the name of A. L. Becker to a check. Judge Wilson received the plea of the defendant but deferred the sentence to a later time and will investigate the case.

Local Young People Plan College Work

MAKES A SPLENDID RECORD

The teaching record of Miss Bernice Ault, a product of the local high school, is a brilliant example of devotion and thoroughness to her profession. Miss Ault taught here and established a fine record that led to her being called to the York schools. Here her work again attracted the attention of leaders in her profession and she received a call to teach in one of the large cities in the central part of the state. She has continued at her work and this year received a call from the school system at Evanston, Illinois, to enter their school and which she has accepted. Later she was offered a position in the school system at Cincinnati, Ohio.

These opportunities are a demonstration of the marked ability of this Cass county girl in her chosen profession.

NOTED NURSE HERE

Miss Harriett Fulmer, of Chicago, a resident here in the early nineties, was here Friday to attend the funeral of Dr. T. P. Livingston, a cousin and friend of many years standing.

Miss Fulmer when residing here made her home with General and Mrs. Robert Ramsey Livingston and largely grew up with the members of the Livingston family.

She has made a high mark in her profession of nursing and is today an outstanding figure in her profession. She has just recently returned to the United States from London where she has been attending a conference and at which she was one of the speakers.

DR. T. P. LIVINGSTON

As a Friend and Neighbor:

He always kept an open door,
The latch string out for rich or poor
To sociability inclined,
In manner, pleasing and refined;
A man of philosophic mood
Whose chief delight was "doing good."
And "by these presents" you may know
The reason why men loved him so.
You only need his life to scan
And mark the manner of the man.

The above was written by the late Rev. Canon H. E. Burgess at the death of Doctor Robert Ramsay Livingston in 1888. Copied from the original manuscript, it seems fitting that it should be applied to the life of his son, Dr. Theodore P. Livingston.

Community Pays Tribute to Dr. Livingston

St. Luke's Church Filled Long Before Service by the Old Friends and Neighbors.

From Friday's Daily—
This morning at 11 o'clock at the St. Luke's church where as a child he had received his religious training and for many years had served as senior warden and lay reader, was held the funeral services of Dr. T. P. Livingston, "the beloved physician."
From all walks of life was gathered those who mourned at the bier of the departed friend and neighbor, those prominent in public life and position, mingled with those of more humble background but into whose lives the care and sympathy of Dr. Livingston had been felt.

The church was wholly inadequate to accommodate the crowds and the vicinity of the church was packed with the friends to silently pay their tributes.

The service was simple and impressive as the departed would have wished, Dean Stephen McGinley of the Holy Trinity cathedral at Omaha, celebrating the Episcopal service for the dead.

Mrs. J. M. Roberts, organist of the church, played softly during the service and for recessional. The floral remembrances at the services were lavish and came from many parts of the state as silent tributes to the old friend. They were banked profusely at the church.

The burial was in the family plot in Oak Hill cemetery where others of the family are at rest.

The active pall bearers were selected from members of the family and close friends, E. T. Dutcher, Warrensburg, Missouri; Henry C. Maken, Omaha; Reese Hastain, Omaha; L. O. Minor, C. C. Westcott and F. A. Fricke of this city.

Members of the honorary escort were Myron Wheeler, Lincoln; C. C. Parmele, Dr. Herbert Davis, Dr. George Pratt, Omaha.

There were many old friends from the country districts as well as Omaha and Lincoln here for the last rites.

Leroy Rhoden and son, of near Elmwood, were here Friday to look after some matters of business and visiting with friends for a few hours.

Our stock of legal blanks is most complete.

Higher Tonnage Licenses Sought by the Truckers

Truckers in County Secure Additional Tonnage Licenses From County Treasurer.

Activities of Sheriff Homer Sylvester and Deputy Sheriff Cass Sylvester in checking up truckers and particularly the rock haulers has added several hundred dollars to the revenues of the office of the county treasurer.

The sheriff and deputy have been busy in several parts of the county where there is rock hauling in particular and found that many of the trucks were carrying loads far in excess of what their license tonnage called for.

Today there were several in to secure the licenses that would permit them to take additional tonnage and keep within the limits of the law.

The truckers have responded in fine shape to the request of the officers and appeared at the court house to get fitted out with the needed license.

THE LAST CALL

Another good neighbor and a loving friend
Has gone from our midst to a fairer land;
There where earthly sorrows are no more,
To meet God, face to face on the other shore.

His voice that once our hearts has thrilled
Is now silent for it has forever been stilled.
The greetings that you often have heard
Will no longer on this earth be uttered.

Not only did he save our lives with medical care,
His human life and service were felt everywhere.
Although his earthly work now is done,
Yet his deeds to mankind will be remembered on.

We all feel the loss of those whom we have loved,
Yet a greater love is awaiting them from above,
Where the angels are praising the God on High,
There to live forever, never again to die.

May God in Heaven reward him forever more
For all the good things on earth he has done.
And forgive him all his faults and shortcomings;
Then welcome him to his eternal home.

—Composed and dedicated by L. W. Lorenz in memory of Dr. T. P. Livingston, deceased.

Salute by KOIL Brings Surge of Advertising

Many Merchants Offer Feature Items while Others Call Attention to Specialized Services

Prospective King Korn Karnival visitors to Plattsmouth during the coming week and those who come to town tomorrow (September 14) for the KOIL Salute broadcast from the Korn Karnival platform or Wednesday for the regular Gift Night program—all will find plenty of things to interest them in the advertising columns of today's Journal.

Numerous merchants are offering splendid Pre-Karnival Specials—an array of seasonal merchandise of all kinds at attractive prices. The reason for this pre-karnival arrangement is that folks generally are too busy enjoying themselves then to take time out for shopping. Then too, such articles as clothing will be needed to dress up befitting the occasion when Cass countyians (and many from greater distances) come here next week for Plattsmouth's biggest and best Korn Karnival. A large array of clothing and footwear bargains are listed in the ads.

Other merchants, while not advertising special prices, are calling attention to a wide range of services and inviting their friends from everywhere to visit their stores and places of business while here attending the Korn Karnival.

The Journal presents this special advertising to its readers, confident they will read it carefully and profit much through taking advantage of the various price quotations and service features listed therein.

Tell your friends to come to Plattsmouth Tuesday afternoon and witness the Salute broadcast. In case you—or they—can't come—tune in on your radio to KOIL and hear the Plattsmouth broadcast. It will last half an hour, being followed by another half hour of entertainment by KOIL artists from the platform.

Wednesday night brings the regular Gift Night program and everyone is invited to come to town that day or evening—for the stores will all be open in the evening to serve you.

Read the advertising messages of our local business men. Plattsmouth bids you welcome Tuesday, Wednesday and all four days of the Korn Karnival (Sept. 22 to 25, inclusive).

DRIVERS' LICENSTS ALL EXPIRE DECEMBER 1, 1939

Among some there is a mistaken notion that their drivers' licenses will run out two years from the date they are taken out. This is perhaps responsible for a "holding-back" attitude on the part of some drivers in applying for their new licenses.

This supposition is not correct, as all licenses, regardless of date of issue, expire December 1, 1939. The man who takes his out early in September or the one who waits until the last day—November 31st—will find their licenses expire and will have to be renewed on the same date, namely, December 1, 1939. No advantage is gained in delaying the time of applying and it will only pile up the work as the final date for applying approaches until drivers will find themselves standing in line to be served. There is no great rush at present, and now is the best time to make your application—then you will have the new license and nothing to worry about until two years from the 1st day of December—that is, if you drive sanely and don't, perchance, have the license revoked by court order. In that case, you will have plenty to worry about before getting it reinstated, under the new and more stringent motor laws.

LICENSES SLOW UP

County Treasurer John E. Turner and his force have found that the rush of driver license applications that was very brisk the first few days has now fallen off to a large extent and but few a day are being applied for.

Improving our farm-to-market roads will be of direct benefit to everyone in Cass county.
