

Frank E. Cook Dies at Tacoma, Washington

Former Resident of Plattsmouth a Victim of Chlorine Gas Complications—Active Mason.

Word was received by relatives in this city today of the death of Frank E. Cook at Tacoma, Washington. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cook and a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Petersen, both of this city.

Mr. Cook has been, for a number of years, master mechanic of the St. Regis Kraft paper mill, one of the largest paper pulp manufacturing plants in the country. Before his appointment as master mechanic, Mr. Cook was engaged by the St. Regis company as superintendent of construction when this mill was erected in 1928. And more recently, he was employed in a like capacity when the new bleaching unit was added to the plant in 1936.

On August 14, Mr. Cook was engaged in the supervision of repair work on the bleaching tanks when a large quantity of escaping chlorine gas rendered him unconscious. For a time he seemed to recover from the shock but a week later he was taken to the Tacoma hospital where specialists diagnosed his illness as chlorine encephalitis or inflammation of the brain. His condition became steadily worse until death came to ease his suffering.

Mr. Cook was active in Masonic circles in Washington. He was a past master of Clover lodge No. 91, A. F. & A. M. in Tacoma. And the present worthy patron of White Clover chapter O. E. S.

Frank E. Cook was born May 21, 1892 at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, where he spent his boyhood and grew to manhood. For a number of years he was employed by the C. B. & Q. railroad both here and at Havelock.

He was married to Miss Anna Petersen of this city on April 14, 1913. To this union was born three children, Dorothy, Fletcher, and Maryjeanne. The son, Fletcher, preceded his father in death.

Funeral services will be held in Tacoma on Saturday.

PLATFORM ERECTED

From Thursday's Daily—
The kind of cooperation that has always made Plattsmouth's King Korn Karnings successes was evidenced again yesterday in the erection of the platform. It was necessary to have it up for last night's program, so John Alwin pulled his gang off the job, brought them down to Fifth and Main streets and did the job in record time. And then he said, "No charges, that's my donation."

That's the kind of spirit that is evidenced on all hands by Plattsmouth's citizens in putting the Korn Karning over without financial help from city, county, or state.

SUFFERS INJURED RIBS

From Saturday's Daily—
Louis Harris was taken to Omaha last evening where he was placed in the Clarkson hospital for treatment. The young man suffered the injury of several ribs in a fall and which will make it necessary for his receiving treatment for a short time.

HAVE NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reno are the proud parents of a fine 9 1/4 pound boy born Wednesday morning at their home on Wintersteen hill. Both mother and baby are getting along very nicely, and the event has brought a great deal of happiness to the home.

BARTHOLOMEW TROOP DEAD

Now who is Bartholomew Troop, we hear you ask. And for the information of those who do not know, we will say he is—or was—a goose

—a large gander which W. O. Troop owned and made a pet of. He was named Bartholomew in honor of a friend of Mr. Troop from Hidden Timber, South Dakota, who seemed to be about the only person "Bart" would not battle. Mr. Troop had trained the gander to fight and to perform various tricks such as rolling a basket. He was expecting to take Bartholomew to the county fair and the King Korn Carnival, but something happened to mar the plan.

While Mr. Troop was stooping over to get some grain out of a bin, he was attacked from the rear and right flank by Bartholomew, the attack proving far from pleasant. So, in anger, he turned and seized Mr. gander by the neck and threw him over the fence. A little later he went to see the gander and found him dead from a broken neck. So, you won't be able to see "Bart" at the fair or the Korn carnival.

LEGION HOLDS MEETING

From Friday's Daily—
The Hugh J. Kearns post of the American Legion at their meeting last night decided to take up the sponsorship of the Nebraska Safety Council movement which was endorsed at the state Legion convention.

This will be under the direction of the local community service committee which is composed of George Conis, chairman; Robert Reed, Robert Cappell and L. W. Niel. The committee will seek enrollment of safety members at 25c which will be applied to the state safety council.

The reports of the state convention at Scottsbluff were given by E. A. Webb, E. O. Vroman and H. L. Gayer, covering the highlights of the meeting.

Refreshments were served later.

START NEW RIVER WORK

The government is starting a new river project on the Missouri river near King hill east of Rock Bluffs. There were two dikes placed there that were not satisfactory and these are being reinforced by a rock fill that will close off the chute of the river on the Nebraska side of the Missouri. The rock fill will make it possible to swing the channel of the river to the east and against the Bartlett bend of the stream. The government is looking after this work themselves and rock is being secured from King hill.
