Nehawka

Clarence Hansen was called to Omaha Monday of this week where he had some business matters to look after.

James Hurley and George McKay of Lincoln were in Nehawka Monday of last week looking after some business matters.

Mrs. W. S. Norris is spending today, Thanksgiving, with her friend, Mrs. Bertha Shopp in Plattsmouth. The ladies are old friends, having been near neighbors on a farm for many years.

Wm. Kropp and Vilas Kettelhut were shelling and delivering their corn from the farm where Mr. Kettelhut has been farming, to Nehawka, delivering the same to the Farmers Elevator company, which is operated by James J. Pollard.

Many Attend Football Game.

Many of the football fans of Nehawka were in Lincoln last Saturday attending the Nebraska-Iowa football game, taking along heavy blankets to keep warm. R. C. Pollard, who is a very decided enthusiast, failed to attend this time, preferring to be dubbed by his fellows here a "softie" than to go to the game, and was content to stay home and listen in over the radio.

Drayman's Horse Dies.

With the many other horses which have been dying of late in and near Nehawka, the drayman was as well a loser, and has not been able to do any draying work. Fred Miller took his truck and has been hauling coal from the bins and the cars to the consumers.

Visiting Friends Here.

L. F. Langhorst, now of Elmwood and Hugh V. Hermann of Lincoln were looking after some business matters in Nehawka on Monday of last week. Mr. Langhorst has many friends here as he was located in Cass county and at Elmwood for near fifty years, also he was at Washington, D. C., for a few years, but is now again making his home in Elmwood. They were also looking after some business for the state while here.

Were Gathered at Talmage.

Frank Horstman and family who make their home at Talmage, Mrs. Horstman being sister of Mrs. Albert Anderson here and Mrs. E. C. Cunningham at Norfolk, entertained last Sunday at their home in Talmage and had as their guests for the occasion J. H. Steffens and family, Albert Anderson and family of Nehawka, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cunningham and family of Norfolk, and Miss Margaret Steffens of Chicago, where she is a nurse, they all making a merry party who enjoyed a very fine visit and as well an excellent dinner.

The Stock Disease.

With every year there is a considerable loss of stock by poisoning by what is known as corn stalk disease. This fall there has been a good deal of loss from this cause. Troy Murdock reports the loss of five head of cattle, while Harry M. Knabe also reports nine head of his cattle have been killed by this disease. Many others have also suffered loss from this same cause. It would seem that in some way some of these severe losses could be prevented.

Water Supply Short.

The water supply at the home of Carl Wessell, the farm belonging to Henry Wessell, is short and during the time which intervenes between now and the time that a well can be sunk, Mr. Henry Wessell is supplying the need by having water hauled from Nehawka to the farm. This does not add much to the pleasure of farming when the farmer has to go to town and buy water and haul the same to the farm for the care of the

Carry Your Flower Holder with You

And Keep Blooms Fresh as Long as Long as You Wear Them—New Gadgets Make It Practical.

The flowers you wear need not fade, if you will make use of a new idea for preserving them. Carrying a container of water with you to keep them fresh seems a bit of a hazard, if not foolhardiness, but it can be done, and it will keep the flowers perfectly. Sounds impractical? Perhaps! But very easily accomplished with the tiny glass tubes and rubber balloons which furnish each flower a ready and usable supply of water. In the case of a boutonniere, the glass tube is fastened over them, and is hidden from view behind the lapel. A rose, a carnation or a gardenia will appear as fresh at five o'clock as it did when you ventured forth in the morning. In fact, it will last a day and an evening.

Where more flowers are used, such as in a corsage or garland, the balloons are more practical, for they take less space and can be completely hidden with ease. Most flowers will last an evening of reasonable length, and need not be bolstered with the water containers, but some of more fragile nature, and those which must be preserved for greater lengths, should be provided with one or the other of these neat little inventions. Every one should have one of the glass tubes, for it can be used and reused to hold a boutonniere flower, making it no expense whatever. The balloons can better be furnished and arranged by the florist, as he will be able to hide their presence and prevent a possibility of leakage.

APPOINT FARM INSPECTORS

LINCOLN, Nov. 22 (UP)—The state railway commission today appointed 96 farm warehouse inspectors to seal corn cribs under provision of the new government corn loan program.

Warehouse inspectors will operate in 30 Nebraska counties designated by the state agricultural conservation committee as eligible for inclusion in the program. Drought reduced corn production to negligible amounts in other counties. Farmers must participate in the agricultural conservation program to receive corn loans which will be 50c a bushel. A fee of $4.00 will be charged farmers who desire to seal their cribs. The inspector will retain $2 and the remainder is to be turned back to the railway commission. Inspectors also will be paid 5c mileage.

The commission said it appointed inspectors known to be in sympathy with the corn loan program. The inspectors and counties in which they will serve include: Cass—O. E. Domingo, Weeping Water, Alfred Gansemer of Murray and Evan Armstrong, Greenwood. Nemaha—Ben Moore, Brownville, Lee Sherman of Stella and Emil Rogge of Auburn. Otoe—Y. R. Hedges, Syracuse, John McCarthy, Nebraska City and T. F. Hanks, Nebraska City. Pawnee—Ernest F. Poor, Pawnee City. Richardson—Blaine Yoder, Falls City, Jesse Phillips, Humboldt and W. R. Lundy, Shubert. Sarpy—Ernest Ruff, Papillion. Johnson—Leroy Beltzberger of Cook.

City Council Holds Very Interesting Meet

Road Work Costs, Fights and Dances, Compensation Insurance Headlights of Meeting.

From Tuesday's Daily—
The city council last evening held a very interesting session and in which a large and varied number of subjects occupied the attention of the city lawmakers from disturbances at dances, compensation insurance for firemen, improvement of city properties, to cost of road work. The tax and property committee reported that owing to weather conditions the walk in front of the Petersen building had not been repaired and also that the Wallengren estate would have their part fixed when the city did.

Councilman Webb reported that the Burlington had written a letter protesting the levy made by the city for library purposes, 1.4-10 mills, claiming this in excess of the statutory limitations. City Attorney Davis had written to them as to the statute applying to the levy for county libraries and that cities had no such limitations and no need of election to vote it.

Police Judge C. L. Graves reported one arrest for the week of November 11th, no fines or costs; for the week of November 18, one arrest and fines and costs of $15.25.

Councilman Webb brought up the matter of the need of new buildings to be used by residents of the city properties and that they had found that the WPA sanitation project had several that might be secured. On motion the tax and property committee was authorized to shop around and make a purchase if necessary.

Discuss Road Fund

Councilman Tippens of the streets, alleys and bridges committee reported that the city had received several cars of donated gravel and cinders from the railroad companies for use on the streets, that the signs over the city had been repainted and repaired. He also asked that the Missouri Pacific be notified to replace the wooden crossing over the tracks on Oak street, which was carried.

Councilman Tippens touched on the matter of the road fund which in recent years has been reduced to lower figures and which is now below the receipts of fund owing to necessary work ordered by the council. Mr. Tippens stated that the fund had formerly allowed $4,000 a year and now was allowed $2,000 for street work, under the budget adopted by the city. There was some discussion of the matter and all urged to make less demands on the road fund. Councilman Comstock pointed out that he had discouraged requests for road work as much as possible, but there were cases where the work was necessary and could not be avoided.

Councilman Rebal stated that the heavy winter would soon set in and the work be largely suspended until spring and give opportunity for the fund to be built up.

Discuss Dancing-Fights
Mayor Lushinsky stated that he had instructed the city attorney to draw up notice to dance hall operators where beer is sold to keep order in their places.

City Attorney J. Howard Davis stated that a fight had occurred at one of these places Saturday night and in which there were some twenty witnesses. He thought applicants for licenses should run their places. Mr. Davis urged that more action be taken to keep order but he realized it a big problem as beer and dancing was in all cities and places where conducted.

Councilman Vincent wished to know if there were not closing regulations on dancing and was informed by the mayor that there was no city ordinance to cover this matter.

Councilman Comstock stated he thought that closing hours were needed to cover the situation. The mayor stated that he would have the instructions sent to places where trouble had occurred and to see that order was maintained.

Allow Compensation Insurance

Councilman Schutz of the fire and water committee reported that on the matter of compensation insurance for the firemen, that policies had been offered by W. E. Renish of Omaha, Duxbury & Davis and Searl S. Davis of this city, all being on the same price and conditions of the policies.

Councilman Vincent stated that he favored keeping the insurance business in this city if possible.

Councilman Tippens moved that the insurance let to Duxbury & Davis and which was seconded.

Councilman Webb thought that the committee should make a report in writing as to their recommendations and a recess was taken while the committee conferred.

Councilman Vroman thought the firemen should make some statement of their wishes.

The committee report recommended that the contract for the insurance be let to the firm of Duxbury & Davis, agents of the Massachusetts Bonding Co., the fire department to pay $75 and the city $75 for the policy.

Councilman Vroman reported that all of the members of the police force were back on duty with the return of Officer David Plekrel.

Councilman Webb of the WPA committee reported that a letter had been written to H. C. Schwader, district highway supervisor, as to the proposition of protecting the ditch on highway No. 75 and also on that of securing state engineering service on that and also on the brick paving so that the possibility of a WPA project might be made ready to be presented if the city wished.

Ordinance No. 729 was then read, this providing for the elimination of penalty interest on delinquent special improvement tax, on motion the rules were suspended and the ordinance placed on its second and third reading and passed by a unanimous vote.

The finance committee presented a resolution transferring $350 from the general to the road fund, to be replaced when the funds are received from the county.

The city council voted to purchase a new Remington-Rand adding machine to replace the present worn out machine that has been in use for the past sixteen years, the price being $83.

Councilman Vincent asked that he be excused from the council for the next sixty days and which was granted. The councilman is making a trip to the west coast to visit his son.
