Needlecraft Club—

The Needlecraft club met last night with Miss Wilma Pickard. A delicious lunch was very attractively arranged, carrying out the theme of Easter.

D. D. Entertains—

Last evening the D. D. club made an excursion to the home of Miss Kathryn Grosshans, where a well-prepared dinner and a pleasant evening awaited them.

The members held an old-fashioned square dance in the "saw barn" located on the Grosshans estate. The music was furnished by the "Barnyard Quartette."

Mrs. Grosshans' old pig, "Snow-White and Ter seven dwarfs" provided a good laugh for the members. On arrival the city members of the club were initiated into the country life and continued to be one of the farmyard folks until Mr. Grosshans' only big, red steer rang the curfew bell.

Janet Westover and Pat Cleidt provided transportation to and from the Grosshans estate.

DIES AT PORTLAND, OREGON

The announcement has been received here by L. O. Minor of the death Monday at Portland, Oregon, of his uncle, John L. Minor, 84, a former resident of Plattsmouth.

Uncle of Platts-mouth Lady in Russian Prison

Albert Melville Troyer, Uncle by Marriage of Mrs. P. T. Heineman, Being Held in Russia.

OMAHA, April 5 (UP)—The Omaha World-Herald in a copyrighted article today stated it has learned that Albert Melville Troyer, 71, graduate of the University of Nebraska and an expert in the growing of citrus fruits has become the victim of a Russian Soviet sabotage and is serving 10 years in a Russian prison. These facts were revealed by Mrs. Troyer who returned from Russia in February and who is devoting all of her energies toward seeking her husband's release.

Mrs. Troyer was in Plattsmouth with her niece, Mrs. P. T. Heineman, two weeks ago.

Her battle, however, is complicated by the fact that Troyer, given choice between leaving his experimental work in Russia or renouncing his American citizenship, chose the latter course in June, 1937.

A few days after he had become a Russian citizen he was arrested on a "counter revolution" charge and Mrs. Troyer has not seen him since. Mrs. Troyer is the daughter of the late John A. Dempster, wealthy Beatrice, Nebraska manufacturer. She is now with a sister, Mrs. S. A. Christensen in Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Mrs. Troyer is positive that her husband had no knowledge of sabotage plot intended to disrupt experimental work in citrus fruits in southern Russia. Until shortly before his arrest, she said Troyer had always been treated with great consideration.

Troyer came to Nebraska from Illinois in the 90's and took three years of university work.

The couple was married in 1912 and went to live at Fairhope, Alabama where Troyer secured a farm for his research work in hybridization. He suffered financial reverses and in 1924 after his crops had been frozen for two consecutive years he received a visit from a Russian citrus fruit commission. He was offered double the salary of most consultants and finally accepted the offer and began his work at Sukhum, Abkhazia, in southern Russia on the Black Sea.

The Troyers were furnished an unusually elaborate apartment in which to live and everything went well until the summer of 1936 when Lihava, chief of the citrus fruit commission notified Troyer the government had decided to release all foreign consultants as rapidly as possible.

Troyer, not wishing to lose the fruits of his years of experiment agreed to apply for citizenship which was granted a year later.

While her husband was in the local jail at Sukhum, Mrs. Troyer brought him clean clothing and food every day but she was not permitted to see him. Lihava and other officials of the citrus fruit commission were arrested about the same time. Mrs. Troyer could not learn what had happened to them. Lihava's successor told her Troyer had been sentenced to 10 years imprisonment.

RETURN FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Todd and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Todd have returned home from their winter spent in California where Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Todd have property interests and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Todd enjoyed visits with their children.

They were eight days on the road and found some severe weather with blizzards in New Mexico and Arizona. They also stopped at Denver with relatives and at Fort Morgan, Colorado, with friends, also at Kearney with the T. J. Todd family.

This was the fourteenth trip of the Todd family to the west coast and they have had a very delightful time among the old friends on the coast.

Three days before they left California their home was crowded with friends and acquaintances to bid them farewell on their start eastward to Nebraska, and on the day prior to their departure they were entertained at the Walter Thomas home at a dinner party in their honor.

Mr. Todd reports that the flood damage is being cleared up, altho it is still in evidence.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd are happy to be home and to see their little granddaughter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Todd.

Mrs. Todd's health improved a great deal during the stay on the west coast and which is pleasant news to the many friends.
