Mrs. Sophia Farmanak, who resides at Mitchell, South Dakota, is at this time visiting here with her family and enjoying her stay here very much. She expects to return to Mitchell in a few weeks.

With the failure of the well from which the McCrorey service station has been supplied, city water is being installed which will provide not only a sufficient quantity but under pressure from the standpipe as well. The installation was made by Bryan McDonald and Glen Buck.

You will notice in this issue an announcement of the opening of the soda fountain at the McDonald store where you may be regaled with all soft drinks, ice cream and sundries. This store will carry also a line of ice creams for sale in gallons and parties, which for quantities will be larger quantities for receptions and delivered.

Senior Class Visits Omaha
The Senior class of the Murdock high school made a trip to Omaha on Wednesday of last week, accompanied by their sponsor, David E. Olsen. A splendid time was had and many of the manufacturing and commercial institutions were visited. Some people look upon this annual "Snack Day" as merely a pleasure trip at the expense of skipping school room studies, but such a viewpoint is far from correct, as much can be and is learned by the students—more than could possibly be assimilated in the same length of time from books and recitation periods in school.

Ladies Meet in Country
The Ladies Aid of the Murdock church met last Wednesday at the home of one of their members, Mrs. W. O. Schewe, where a very pleasant time was had. Mrs. Carl Richard was co-hostess at the meeting.

Making Improvements on Home
Merle Gillespie has been making some material improvements on the home he recently purchased. A basement room is being excavated, in which a heating plant will be installed. His father, W. O. Gillespie, is assisting with the work of excavating the basement. Merle plans to make numerous other changes to improve the appearance of the home and provide greater convenience.

Visited Brother in Murdock
J. C. Weddell and wife, of Ashland were in Murdock last week, visiting at the home of the former's brother, W. T. Weddell. The Ashland folks have just recently arrived home from California, where they spent the winter. While en route home they stopped at Phoenix, Arizona, where they visited a niece and her husband, who are engaged in the dairy business and have about 200 head of fine dairy cows. They are milking 125 of them at the present time and find ready market for the milk.

A Most Enjoyable Visit
The Murdock Pilgrim, L. Neitzel, reports having spent a blessed Sunday at Cedar Bluffs, where he began his work in the Nebraska conference 56 years ago. He met children of that day who are now well past middle age, and says it was a great privilege to have them in a Sunday school class. "What a glorious time we had on 'that mountain' with Christ and the heavenly visitors," he said, "but when all was over we beheld 'Jesus only.' Well that is sufficient." Mr. Neitzel avers that driving 55 miles and being there in ample time for Sunday school, along with that many miles home, getting here in time to attend the evening service in his home church, is what he would really call a perfect day.

Greenwood

John Mefford is very poorly at this writing.

The Cemetery association met at the home of Mrs. Lulu Clymer on Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance. The next meeting will be held Friday, May 6, for election of officers at the home of Mrs. Margaret Howard.

The Brotherhood met Thursday evening at the M. E. church with the wives as guests. Mr. Lydie, who is with the Game and Forestry department, showed a fine moving picture which was enjoyed by the large crowd present.

Held a Joint Meeting
The Ladies Auxiliary and Legion held a joint meeting at the hall Thursday night. Business meetings were conducted and a delicious lunch served. The Auxiliary will meet Wednesday, May 15.

Deal-a-Deck Club Meets
The Pinochle club was entertained at Lottie Bright's home with Myrtle Cameron assisting, on April 28. Lillian Jardine won high prize and Mildred Comstock was low. Mrs. Earl Bright was a guest. The next meeting will be held at the home of Laura Trunkenzol with Lillian Jardine assisting.

Howard Cook who has been in Colorado for the past few years, arrived in Elmwood last week, where he visited with the family of his brother, Emmitt Cook and family for the rest of the week, coming to Greenwood last Saturday and taking the Burlington train for Oakland where he will visit with the parents for a number of weeks before returning to his home in the west. Howard was accompanied from Elmwood by Emmitt and wife and their son and daughter who brought Howard over to make the train.

Junior and Senior Banquet
The Senior class was pleasantly entertained at a formal banquet in the Garden room at the Lincoln hotel Friday evening, which proved a gala affair, with the Junior class as the efficient hostesses. Wayne Howard was toastmaster and other pupils took part, using Hawaii as their theme. Misses Vieta and Betty Ann Card sang with Evelyn Trunkenzol as accompanist.

Britain's Prime Minister—The latest portrait of Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Colored Yolks to Order—Pictured here are Henry Joellenbeck of Okaville, Ill., and a few of his prize hens that lay, of all things, colored eggs! Yes, sir—red, white, blue, green—or what have you! The secret lies in the addition of certain ingredients to the feed, which produce differently colored yolks.

Baby Girl, 4, Sings Bass—Genevieve Saville of White Rock, Va., has had the bass voice of an adult man since she was able to sing. Her repertoire consists of hymns and hill-billy songs.

Fashion Revue—(1) A lovely afternoon dress of chartreuse green chiffon and candlewick nub woolen of the same shade, topped off with a halo straw. (2) The sailor vogue reaches its peak in this trim little hat of navy blue silk crepe dotted with white. (3) Buttons and button holes trim this young looking suit of navy blue woolen. The Chinese mandarin type hat is of navy blue milan.

Help Week-Enders—The automobile and the five-day week are turning us into a nation of week-enders, and so Collier's commissioned Edward D. Stone, above, left, and Richard M. Bennett, to design a special week-end house. It has all the comforts of home and some extra ones too, and can be built cheaply.

Battleship with Wings—Dayton, Ohio—A bird's-eye view of the Army's new experimental bomber XB-15, the largest land plane bomber ever developed in the U. S.

Daily Dozen—Betty Grable, blonde screen starlet, is an accomplished dancer and keeps in trim with daily practice of dance routines.

Young's Youngest An Editor—Richard Young, the youngest son of Owen D. Young, was recently appointed editor-in-chief of St. Lawrence U's magazine. His father was business manager in 1893.

Photographing Health—Vitamin A is one of the things which help to keep us healthy, and outstanding among food concerns who fortify their products with this vitamin are manufacturers of certain brands of margarine. Here Consumers Information shows a laboratory worker with a quartz spectrophotometer testing margarine to show that it comes up to requirements. The amount of light rays absorbed tells the answer.

Young Walton—David Gaudette, 5 year old angler, makes old-timers look envious as he nabs a trout.

Song Loving Bird—Hollywood, Calif.—Atlanta, the parrot of Florence George, actress singer, loves to sing operatic arias with his mistress. When she sits down to the piano, Archie promptly flies up and joins in.
