

W. T. Helget Dies at Home in Ohio, Nebr.

Was Resident of Plattsburgh From 1923 to 1931 and Employee of Burlington Railroad.

The following from the Ohio Advertiser, tells of the death of W. T. Helget, a resident of Plattsburgh for some eight years and whom many of the old time friends will recall: The sudden death of W. T. Helget Saturday, April 30, was almost unbelievable to citizens of Ohio.

Mr. Helget was not of robust health. He was operating an Ohio filling station. February 12, 1928, he was compelled to withdraw from business and later went to the hospital for observation. The morning of his death Mr. Helget expected to again take up his duties.

He arose early Saturday morning, taking breakfast with his wife for the first time since his last confinement. He helped his wife with the breakfast dishes, then went outside to carry some kindling to the basement. He spoke of a pain in his abdomen that morning. That had been one of his chief ailments.

Going to the house his wife administered to his needs. He relaxed in an armchair in the dining room and was working a puzzle, while Mrs. Helget stepped out in the garden a few moments. Coming to the house she discovered his body slouched in the chair. Medical service was summoned but it was too late. He died at 7:30 a. m.

Mr. Helget submitted to three operations during his later life. His last visit to the hospital this year showed another operation would be useless. That he might not live long was known, but his sudden passing was unexpected.

The deceased was a man of jovial nature and friendly, despite his poor health.

Wenzel Thomas Helget was born June 28, 1872. He died April 30, 1938, at 7:30 a. m. He was a native of Germany. As a child of eight he came with his parents to Alexandria, Neb. He lived in Alexandria and the community thereabouts until 1923, when he moved to Plattsburgh, where he resided until 1931. He was an employee of the Burlington railroad during the time he resided at Plattsburgh. Mr. Helget returned to Ohio in 1931 and since that time has lived here, being engaged in the gasoline and oil business.

The deceased was married to Mae Dibble April 24, 1901, at Alexandria, Neb. To this union there was born one child, a son, Ronald. He also leaves to mourn his death two sisters and two brothers. Mr. Helget was a kindly man. He was baptized in the Catholic faith. Funeral service were held Monday, May 2, 1938, at his residence in Ohio. Interment was in the St. Mary's cemetery at Alexandria.

NATURE TRAIL MEETING

A number of citizens and officers of various organizations interested in the advancement of Plattsburgh, responded to an invitation to meet last night at the recreation center for a discussion of the proposed nature trail project. Interest was shown and a committee named to take the matter up with W. P. Rice, on whose land it is proposed to locate the new "Overlook Park." A marked trail to the crest of the hill from which a commanding view can be had of the river, the building of rustic seats, a possible cabin and picnic grounds equipped for outdoor cooking may be developed.

Mr. Rice today indicated he will be glad to co-operate in every way and give the use of his land for the proposed project. The committee is to meet with Mr. Rice tonight to discuss the details and another public meeting will be held this coming week.

Clyde Jackson of the Recreation Service first proposed the project several months ago and the state officers have given their approval. As planned, there would be little expense involved.

TO MARRY SOON

The announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Miller, of Faragut, Iowa, of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Augusta, to Mr. Willard Stivers. The marriage will take place on June 1st at the Christian church parsonage at Glenwood.

Mr. Stivers is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Stivers of Glenwood, former residents of Cedar Creek, and is a grandson of Mrs. Simon Clark of this city.
