

MURDOCK ITEMS

Homer H. Lawton has been busy painting the buildings at the lumber yard, making them look spic and span.

E. D. Friend, of Alvo, has been visiting for a number of days at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eddie Craig and husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Backemeyer were in Lincoln Monday of last week, where they visited friends and also looked after business matters.

Clifford Browne, of Wabash, was looking after business matters in Murdock last Tuesday morning and enjoyed meeting many of his old friends while here.

Everywhere the story is much the same—a large number of combines being sold, and Mr. Stock reports the disposal of a total of fifteen of these labor-saving machines.

Mrs. W. P. Meyers and children, of Sioux City, arrived in Murdock last Wednesday and were guests for the balance of the week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Craig and Miss Orland Parriott spent the day last Sunday at Fremont, where they engaged in fishing a part of the time. We did not learn how many they were able to land.

Al Bower, who was so seriously ill from an acute attack of lumbago, and was taken to Louisville to recuperate at the home of his daughter, was back in Murdock last week visiting his friends here.

Homer Lawton, who has been working in Lincoln at his trade of painter and decorator, has so much work lined up ahead that the aid of Mrs. Lawton has been required in order to keep caught up on it.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hite, of near Lincoln, were here last Sunday, being guests at the home of John W. Kruger and wife, the latter a sister of Mr. Hite. They also enjoyed meeting numerous old friends during their rather brief stay here.

Reports from the hospital in Lincoln where Mrs. William Rueter is a patient following her major operation of a week ago, are to the effect that she is getting along as well as was hoped for, considering the seriousness of her condition.

Miss Carrie Kleiser, who has experienced a great deal of trouble from her teeth of late, went to a Lincoln hospital to have the offending molars removed and receive a course of treatment for her health. She is reported getting along very nicely.

Mrs. William Rikli, who has been troubled with repeated attacks of appendicitis of late, went to the hospital in Lincoln last week, where she underwent an operation for relief and has been getting along very nicely. She is expected to be able to return home in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heineman went to Lincoln Monday to visit at the bedside of a sister of Mrs. Heineman, Mrs. Wm. Rikli, who underwent an operation recently and is now getting along very well. They found her cheerful and looking ahead to the time when she might be able to return home.

Frank E. Wood, of Weeping Water was in town on last Wednesday morning with a truck load of grasshopper bait, which is being used quite freely by the farmers in the hope of exterminating a large percentage of the young pests before they leave the nesting fields to move in on the growing crops.

Last Tuesday's Ball Game
In the curtain-raiser game, the Bible School team defeated the Pawnee Indians, 14 to 12. The second game between the Elmwood Blue Birds and the Cubs was won by the Blue Birds, 6 to 4. A large crowd was present to witness the contests and boost for their favorite team.

Waging an Active Campaign
Henry E. ("Slatts") Carson, who is a republican candidate for sheriff is waging an active campaign for votes in the forthcoming primary election on August 9. During the past week he has been at Plattsmouth and other points in the eastern part of the county and on Wednesday night he attended a republican meeting and banquet at Weeping Water.

Gave Teacher Fine Shower
The Bible school class which has been taught by Miss Della McCrorey prior to her marriage to Lawrence Earle, called at the home of the parents of the bride, L. C. McCrorey and wife, last Saturday evening to tender their teacher a surprise shower. A most pleasant evening was spent with music and games, and the members of the class demonstrated their high regard for Mrs. Earle by presenting her with many beautiful and useful gifts for her new home.

Shorne of His Locks
Like Samson of old, one of our fellow townsmen, E. M. Shatto, has been shorne of his locks (and whiskers as well). During the winter he permitted his hair and whiskers to grow unperurbed, but within the past week, when hot weather made it desirable to get rid of the surplus adornment, Eddie Craig applied his shears and razor and the operation worked wonders in the appearance of Mr. Shatto—so much so that many of his closest friends failed to recognize him.

Ball Game at Louisville
Bennington and Louisville baseball teams met on the Louisville diamond last Sunday and a number of the Murdock baseball fans went over to our neighboring town to the east to witness the contest. Bennington won the game in the 12th inning by a score of 4 to 2, after it had been tied at 4 all from early in the game. Among those attending the game from here were Lacy McDonald and son, John W. Kruger and John Gakemeier.

Accepted the Challenge
Last Wednesday A. J. Tool and Lacey McDonald received information that a number of sport-loving fish were living in the waters of the Platte river at their favorite angling place near Fremont. The two men accepted the challenge and left at once. While we do not believe their success was as pronounced as that of Joe Lewis, we are informed they made a nice catch. They were joined at Fremont by Harry Gillespie, another of those dyed-in-the-wool sportsmen who would rather fish than eat.

Graveling the Streets
Mayor Gamlin and his assistant, John W. Kruger, were measuring the streets of Murdock Wednesday afternoon of last week, preparatory to spreading a new coat of gravel thereon. Murdock is in an enviable position compared to many towns, as her streets are already in good condition, it being the intention of the village board to keep them that way by not waiting until the gravel is worn too thin to resurface. The cost of a light coat applied frequently is not nearly as great as where the job is neglected until necessity demands it being done or return to the old mud thoroughfares.

Pilgrim's Progress
The Pilgrim reports a great meeting last Sunday night at the Peoples Mission, in Lincoln, which he says worked itself into a regular old-fashioned revival—time limit was off—closing with an altar service, with two of the "transients" seeking pardon at the cross. His coming had been advertised and there was a full house present, with some 40 of the guests of the Mission at the service. Mr. Neitzel says the old gospel still has power to save when presented in demonstration of the Holy Spirit, and reports it one of the happiest days of his pilgrimage.

Better-Best Club
The girls of the Better-Best club held a meeting Wednesday, June 15, at the home of Ruth James. The meeting was called to order by the president, Ellen Christensen. A demonstration was given by Ellen Christensen on the fitting of garments. Emma Reine Topfiff gave a demonstration on silk and wool materials. It was decided that the next meeting would be held at the home of Jane Christensen, leader. Lunch was then served by the hostess.—Emma Reine Topfiff, Reporter.

Struck by Passing Auto
While Julius Reinke and wife were en route to church services last Sunday and were just pulling up at the Trinity church two miles north of Murdock, a car coming from the west and bearing Lancaster county license plates, ploughed into the side of the Reinke car, overturning it with much damage to the car and severe injuries to both Mr. and Mrs. Reinke. Mr. Reinke was rendered unconscious and remained in that condition for some time. His head and face were jammed against the side of the car from the impact and he was bruised as the car rolled over. Mrs. Reinke also suffered severe bruises, and both are counting themselves lucky they were not killed, so great was the impact.

Working in Wyoming
I. G. Hornbeck, who has been in poor health since his return from a southern trip is now making good gains and feeling much better. He tells of having a letter from his brother Louis, who was then at Cheyenne, Wyoming, enclosing a list of towns in that locality which he was to work for the Modern Woodmen, auditing the accounts of the local camp officers. He will go farther south and west, before returning to his home here early in July.

Plan Brotherhood Meeting
The Cass County Christian Brotherhood association are to hold a meeting at the Methodist church in Louisville Sunday, July 3, at which Rev. George S. Hunt, pastor of the Congregational church at Weeping Water will deliver the address. Attendance at these meetings has been very good and there have been some very interesting discussions of the problems of increasing interest in the church generally. All are invited to attend this forthcoming meeting at Louisville.

HUNT HOUSE THIEVES
CHICAGO, June 25 (UP)—Police Commissioners James P. Allman sent his men out today to look for thieves who have stolen buildings in Chicago during the last few weeks. Oscar E. Hewitt, director of public works, complained that two condemned buildings, one a three-story structure, had disappeared completely and that the most important sections of 10 others had been stolen. He said the thefts were discovered when WPA workers arrived at the sites to tear the buildings down for the city.

PARIS, June 23 (UP)—A military airplane, on a night trial flight crashed near Tours early today and all seven men aboard it including five officers of the air force general staff were killed.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UP)—Roseate spoonbills, a specie of wading birds which is fast disappearing from the southern coast, is threatened with extinction on Vingt'une Island, according to wildlife experts. Game Warden Tom Fridell, employed by the Audubon Society to safeguard the Galveston Bay sanctuary, blames commercial shell dredging operations for destruction of the spoonbills. Fridell believes that noise of the dredging has so alarmed the spoonbill population that he fears the adult birds will kill or abandon their young. Sportsmen have protested to the Texas game, fish and oyster commission, seeking to halt the dredging operations in the vicinity of the sanctuary. J. W. Haiser of Houston warned that the spoonbill colony in Florida has had a bad season and did not reproduce well. The Audubon Society fears that the spoonbill will become extinct unless it is protected on Vingt'une Island.

Accident Record of First Half of 1937 is Appalling—Industrial Death Toll the Lightest

How many Journal readers are aware of the fact that from the first part of January until the second week in June—little more than five months—there have been 6,916 accidents in Nebraska, the White Spot state, resulting in injuries to 4,578 people, disabilities to 119 and 259 killed outright? That's something worth thinking about, friends and readers.

Motor vehicle mishaps led the way with 2,320 accidents, 1,629 injured, 54 disabled and 94 killed. Other public accidents followed closely with 1,646, in which 1,290 were injured, 19 disabled and 62 killed. Agriculture contributed 1,066 accidents, with 711 injured, 23 disabled and 42 killed. Home accidents numbered 1,377, with 667 injured, 10 disabilities and 45 deaths.

By its own definition, the word "accident" implies something that happens but could have been prevented. There are some who may claim certain accidents are unpreventable, but we disagree with them. When hazardous industries like the Ash Grove cement plant at Louisville are able to so train their men in safety first doctrine that they go for years without a single lost time accident, it is time that Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public—we, who drive cars, who spend off leisure time in various pursuits, who operate or work on farms and who live normal lives in our homes—train ourselves to avoid the lesser hazards that lurk in these places to "trip us up" than do in the great cement mill, with its powerful rock crushers, furnaces, dynamite, etc.

Industries of all kinds are training their employees in accident prevention—and with good results. Proving this, we learn that industrial accidents in Nebraska for this same period totaled only 567—about half the number agriculture had. From this number, there were 281 injured, 13 disabled and 16 killed.

To drive the comparison home, we repeat the death figures in their order: Motor vehicle, 94; other public accidents, 62; Home accidents, 45; Agricultural accidents, 42; and Industrial accidents, 16. Industry that once led in death toll from accidents, has educated itself down to the foot of the list. Let's apply a little of that same "horse sense" to the other groups listed above, clear down to the manner in which we get into and out of our bathtubs on the proverbial Saturday nights.

Children's Record Very Bad
Although the compilation of figures on children's accidents in a group by themselves has been of rather recent origin, the aspect has already become alarming. Since the first of the year there have been 39 children killed, 15 disabled, and 899 injured. A situation such as this must be corrected.

Nebraska may be the white spot in industry, the green spot in agriculture, but it is a part of the black spot that covers the nation—for most of the states are on a par with us in this respect—when it comes to an increasing and appalling number of accidents.

SLASH FRANCHISE VALUES

LINCOLN, June 23 (UP)—The state board of equalization today announced a 50 per cent slash in electric franchise valuations of private utilities operating in Columbus and York because of bond issues voted by citizens in favor of municipal light and power systems.

The cut represented a compromise, because State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith had recommended elimination of the city's share of the franchise tax valuation in these two instances.

The share of the city of Columbus will be $11,258 this year, half of the 1937 figure from Northwestern Public Service company franchise valuation. York's share of the franchise of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company was fixed at $4,400 and with the gas franchise brought to $6,590 the total franchise valuation accruing to the city. Last year York's apportionment was $11,260. As a result of these reductions the grand total of franchise tax valuations for 1938 declined $28,060 compared with last year. The grand total this year was $4,355,790.
