Pretty Home Wedding is Celebrated at Murray

Miss Helen Elizabeth Albert and Mr. Charles Edward Bishop Are Married on Sunday.

At 8 o'clock Sunday evening, July 3 Miss Helen Elizabeth Albert and Mr. Charles Edward Bishop were married at the home of the bride near Murray before some 60 guests, solemnized by Rev. A. J. Lentz.

Miss Louise Rishel was maid of honor and Richard Bishop, brother of the groom, was groomsmen.

Before the ceremony took place Mrs. Chester Wiles, cousin of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly," being accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Terryberry, also cousin of the bride. Mrs. Terryberry then proceeded with the wedding march and the bridal party took their places in the living room before an embankment of summer flowers.

The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride looked very lovely wearing her mother's wedding dress, it being made of fine batiste with many rows of pin tucks and insertions of lace. Her three yard veil was of tulle starting from the nape of the neck and held in place only by a band of lilies of the valley. Her only accessory was a gold bracelet which had been a gift from her father to her mother at their marriage.

She carried an arm bouquet of Talsman roses and baby breath.

Miss Rishel was charming in her bodice fitted floor length gown of capri blue, triple sheer chiffon. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a long distance, congratulatory call came from Greenriver, Wyoming and best wishes were received from Harold Albert, brother of the bride.

The dining room added much to the beauty of the affair. The room was decorated with pink and white streamers, starting from the center light fixture and held in place on the walls by bunches of sweet peas and snapdragons. The table was decorated with the gorgeous three-tier angle food wedding cake which was made by Mrs. Henry Albert, the bride's aunt, and a set of white, triple candles on either side. The bridal party and parents were served here.

The other guests were seated at card tables on the spacious lawn. Brick ice cream with a bell inset and individual cakes were served with coffee, punch and mints. Misses Mildred Engelkemier and Martha Sumner assisted in the serving.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Albert of Murray. She graduated from the Plattsmouth high school in 1936, where many close friends and companions were made.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bishop of Omaha. He is employed in the Capitol garage in Omaha.

The bride's going away dress was a French blue. The skirt was of pleated silk crepe and the fitted jacket of lace.

After a short trip into Iowa the bride and groom will make their home in Omaha.

Former Pastor and Family Visit in South

Rev. and Mrs. V. C. Wright Have Delightful Visit Through Places of Interest in South.

After three weeks vacationing we are pleased to be back in Ashland refreshed and ready for the task of closing the conference year. We left Ashland on the morning of June 12 traveling through the cherry harvest of southeast Nebraska and the berry and grain harvest of Missouri into the edge of the cotton growing section of the southern part of that state and then through vast cotton fields of eastern Arkansas, crossing the Mississippi river at Memphis, Tennessee and across northern Mississippi into central Alabama where we rested and visited relatives and friends.

From Fayette, Alabama we were taken by members of the family to Mobile, Mobile bay and the Gulf where fishing was poor and bathing a delight. It really is a thrill to be knocked over by an ocean roller until you learn to ride them. Here watermelons are plentiful and bananas two cents per pound. In this section is located the turpentine industry and the tung oil trees grow.

From Mobile we travelled north across the coal fields to Birmingham where is located the center of the southern steel industry. Here is iron ore, coal and limestone in abundance. In close proximity to each other, Birmingham is within eighteen miles of water shipping due to the river lock system. Then to Chattanooga, Tennessee, another manufacturing center and the battlefields of the Civil war. In that famous battle above the clouds where men with great difficulty climbed is now a paved highway where one can ride in ease to visit umbrella rock and the rock city and look down through the haze of clouds upon the busy city below.

From Chattanooga we drove fifty-six miles to Athens to visit with relatives and friends, noting the changes the last twenty-five years have made. The south has gone commercial. Manufacturing has changed villages into busy commercial centers. Cheap power and labor, cotton, steel, and timber have made this inevitable.

At Knoxville we visited Norris dam and the Smoky Mountain National park where is located the highest peak in the Appalachian mountain range. By means of a paved highway one can now reach points of charm and overpowering beauty accessible before only to the hardy mountain climber. This section with its mad rushing mountain streams must always have charm for the beauty lover. From Knoxville we travelled northward through the coal fields of Tennessee into the blue grass region of Kentucky, spending a night at Lexington. Then northward into the great trader section of the United States, crossing the Ohio river at Covington and Cincinnati to Oberlin for a short visit with friends. From Oberlin to Fremont, Ohio and then over highway six to Chicago, Davenport, Iowa, Omaha and home. Happy after a three weeks vacation, a thirty-six hundred mile drive, visiting in thirteen states. We are impressed that ours is a great country with untold resources capable of great service to all the people or of making immensely rich a few and enslaving the poor. As free citizens we must make answer and upon the answer will hang the destiny of America.

HAVE AN UNUSUAL BIRD

Albert Cotner and P. A. Horn, toll takers at the Plattsmouth bridge have developed quite a pet of a king bird that makes his home in the timber below the bridge. They call him "Bill." And he comes when they call him—provided they exhibit the proper credentials, which is a live insect of some sort. Now "Bill" is a wise old bird and can't be fooled into coming for a dead insect. When a Journal employe was at the bridge yesterday, Albert sounded the call and held up a live beetle. In a moment Bill swooped down to take it from his hand, without the least fear or hesitation. It being a hot day he had been down to the river for a bath and was still soaked. A large number of folks who have visited the toll station have marveled at the fearless manner in which the bird responds to the call for food, taking it from the hand of either Mr. Cotner or Mr. Horn.
