Last Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. Earl Merritt who have been living in the northern part of Murray found it not so convenient and Monday morning of this week moved back to the rooms in the rear of the barber shop where they will make their home for the fall and winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickles were visiting in Plattsmouth and Omaha for the day last Sunday, and business called Mr. and Mrs. Nickles to Omaha again Monday of this week. They attended a picnic at Krug Park last Sunday where they enjoyed the occasion with a number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fisher of Los Angeles where they have resided for a number of years, formerly residing in Cass county at Plattsmouth and also near Murray, arrived here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Engelkemeier, the ladies being sisters and are enjoying a pleasant visit. They expect to remain for some days yet.

Three Births Reported.
A little girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker while a boy came to the home of the pastor of the Christian church, Rev. and Mrs. Kinney. A girl has also come to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Tritsch. All are doing nicely and all the homes happy.

To Make Long Trip.
Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boedecker will soon depart for a tour of Europe that will take some some two months, expecting to visit France, Switzerland, Germany, portions of Austria, Italy, and along the Danube and many other places of interest. They will be joined by their daughter, Miss Jane Boedecker on the trip over Europe and expect to return in the early winter. They are driving to

Eight Mile Grove
LUTHERAN CHURCH
9:30 a. m. Sunday school.
10:30 a. m. English services. The annual congregational meeting will be held at this time and all members are urged to attend.

Wedded in Glenwood, Iowa.
When Joe Martis, Jr., and his recent bride sought to escape too much publicity about their recent marriage they also escaped the news nose of the reporter and we did not get the wedding, which occurred on July 12 at Glenwood Iowa. The bride was formerly Miss Georgia Sukup of Omaha. The Journal joins in extending congratulations to this excellent couple.

Observe Annual Family Day.
Last Lord's day was what the members of the Christian church denominate the yearly family day for the church, observed by the meeting of the families at the church and having their dinner together. This is an appropriate observance of the church and is likened to the time when the church was organized in Jerusalem when the new Christian church had everything in common, and those which had plenty shared with those who did not have any too much. The worship hour, the young people's meetings and the session of the Bible school were fitted in nicely with the social hours and the dinner hour. To add to the pleasure of the occasion the gathering was held at Waubensie Park, south of Sidney, Iowa.

Native Cass County Man Dies.
Charles Nelson Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolfe, was born at the town, then a lively place, Factoryville, but now only a ghost town, July 8th 1874. Here he lived with the parents until coming to Union, which absorbed the population of Factoryville. Charles obtained his education in the schools of Factoryville and Union, where he was known as the very finest of young men. Later they moved to Plattsmouth, where as a young man Charles united with the Methodist church.

Mr. Wolfe was united in marriage on March 21, 1900 to Miss Lulu M. Shrader, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Shrader of south of Plattsmouth. The young people moved to Union where they resided for the first year of their married life and moved to a farm in Otoe county where they resided until 1914 when they moved to the farm south of Plattsmouth where they remained the rest of his life, he passing away there. Charles was one of a family of ten children, all of whom have passed with the exception of Thomas who lives in Washington and William of California. However there are many nieces and nephews who remain to mourn his passing. During his early life he became a member of the Masonic order.

The funeral, conducted by his old friend, Rev. W. A. Taylor was held Sunday, August 7th, the birthday of his father-in-law, George W. Shrader, with interment at the Lewiston cemetery. Frank A. Clويد sang beautifully two of the favorite numbers of the deceased. The Hobson funeral home had charge of the services. The pall bearers were Bruce Wolfe, Earl Wolfe, Simon Gruber, Omar Yardley, Elmer Yardley and Shrader Rhoden.

Now Working at Stella.
Glen Hoback who was working extra last week at Weeping Water for the Missouri Pacific has been changed and given the work at the station of the company at Stella where he has been given the third trick at that place. Old Employer Dies at Omaha.
G. R. Binger was down to Fairbury this week to attend the funeral services for his former employer, who passed away early this week at an Omaha hospital. Mr. Binger was in his employ in the lumber business before he started in business for himself.

Friend Undergoes Operation.
Mrs. G. R. Binger has a friend, Miss Florence Cantrell of Wilber, where the Bingers resided years ago. Miss Florence found it necessary to go to Rochester Minn., for a clinic and which resulted in the physicians determining that for the sake of her health it was necessary to undergo an operation and was accompanied by her mother. When it was known that Miss Cantrell had to undergo the operation she telephoned Mrs. Binger asking that she come and stay with the mother during the ordeal. This Mrs. Binger did and following the operation was able to return home, arriving Tuesday noon.

Telephone Building Completed.
The third building in the space where the fire took five buildings has been completed, this being the telephone building, the contract for which was held by Sam Baker. Mr. Baker said the building is now complete save on an hour or so work by the plumber. The other work has been done and a new switch board installed, and the building was to be turned over Wednesday, August 10 and with the new equipment Weeping Water is much better served than before the fire.

Weeping Water is to be congratulated on the rapid recovery of the damage done by the severe fire, ready for the fall and winter business and for the Cass county fair which will be here in a few short weeks.

Taken to Hospital.
Some time ago Mrs. J. I. Corley suffered a severe hernia for which she underwent an operation and was getting along very nicely, but owing to a slip brought back the trouble and she has returned to the hospital for treatment. She was taken late last week. Mr. Corley and Miss Anna Hubbard, a sister of Mrs. Corley were in Omaha to visit the patient Tuesday of this week and found her making fair progress.

The Story of
GRACE MOORE
in
"I'll Take Romance"
with
MELVYN DOUGLAS
Screen Play by George Oppenheimer and Jane Murtin
Based on a story by Stephen Morehouse Avery
Serialization by Albert Duffy

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
When Elsa Terry, famed opera singer, walks out on her contract to sing in Buenos Aires Jim Guthrie, one of the sponsors of the company, comes to New York to persuade her to reconsider. He meets Elsa through a subterfuge, sees the grand approval of her aunt, Madame Della, and Jim and Elsa make the rounds of New York's theatres and night spots together. Jim enlists Elsa's manager in the conspiracy and, together, they urge Elsa to cancel her Paris engagement and sail for Buenos Aires on the same boat that Jim is taking. Jim asks her to take dinner at his apartment and he'll give her a preview of the pampas. As she comes to the door of Jim's apartment Elsa, who has fallen in love with Jim, hears him planning to "kidnap" her and put her on the boat for Buenos Aires. Convinced that Jim loves her, Elsa knocks on the door of Jim's apartment.

Now Go on With the Story
Chapter Four
Pancho, decked out as an Argentine gaucho, answered Elsa's knock. He made a sweeping bow. "Welcome, Senorita," he said. "Why, Pancho," Elsa said, "you look magnificent." Pancho looked at his costume and looks as though we're going to Paris."

"Speak for yourself," Jim said. "I must go to Buenos Aires. At least we can have dinner together tomorrow night — alone — and then I'll take you to the boat."

Elsa smiled. "All right, Jim," she said tenderly.

They had dinner the next night at Lepino's. Elsa pretended to become giddy with the wine. "You're a bad boy," she chided tipsily. "We shouldn't have waited until the last minute like this. Madella will be frantic."

Jim smiled indulgently. His plan was working perfectly. "You've got plenty of time," he reassured her. "When he had placed Elsa in the taxicab for the pier he quietly instructed the driver to go to the Orcinco's berth. En route Jim gave Elsa a pair of dark glasses. "Wear these," he told her. "They'll help you duck the reporters and the photographers."

"Oh, Jim, you think of everything!" Elsa said, taking the glasses and putting them on. "Oh! I can't see a thing."

Jim smiled. "You just hold onto me. You'll be all right."

Jim hurried Elsa up the gangplank and into her cabin and they were joined almost immediately by Pancho and Margot. Pancho had done his job well and Margot was feeling very high. Jim poured champagne for them all. "To a happy voyage!" was the toast.

Once again a mischievous light came to Elsa's eyes. "I tell you what," she suggested, "let's all go and see Madella and Rudi."

Jim hurriedly blocked her way to the door. "No," he said. "We mustn't disturb them. They've got a sign on their door and the stewardess says
