They are visiting there for a short time and will then return to go to housekeeping on a farm a few miles northeast of Weeping Water. The bride has been teaching school during the past few years.

Community is Visited by Heavy Rains

This City and Immediate Vicinity Receives 2.10 Inches of Rain to Aid Crops.

One of the most general rains of the year visited this section of Nebraska late Sunday afternoon and evening, the downpour coming on the anniversary of the hot winds of 1937 and which destroyed the larger part of the corn crop.

Locally the rainfall reached 2.10 inches at 8 o'clock this morning and is regarded as a great benefit to the later corn as well as to place the ground in fine shape for plowing and wheat planting.

The first of the storm was preceded by a heavy wind that in some localities reached a high rate of speed and doing some damage to trees and small buildings. In this city a large number of limbs are reported as broken from trees and the city suffered a loss of one of the ornamental electrolifer globes on Main street blown off by the wind. West of this city on the Frank Fight farm, which is occupied by John Alexen and family, a small shed was damaged and unroofed and moved some distance by the force of the wind.
