"Saul: Moral Failure"

I Sam. 10:21-25; 15:20-23; 21:3-6.

Samuel had a very difficult problem on his hands, to change a nation from a theocracy to a monarchy. The transition was fraught with great danger. To steer clear of all of them, Samuel took the matter up with God in prayer. It did not please God, but consented that the people could have their way; but God would choose their king, and they readily accepted him. It is a speculative question why Israel wanted this change. It has been said the reasons that the sons of Samuel were so bad that the people would not accept them as Samuel's successor. We marvel that such was the case—a good, flawless man having children. (See their record, I Sam. 8:3.) It was what the people wanted—a King—but they found that it was a costly luxury. (Please read here Chap. 8:11-18.) But after all that Samuel could do to change their mind, they persisted and said: "Nay; but we will have a king over us." They wanted to show off before other nations—that was vanity. Even God cannot turn a man if he is determined to go his own way. That, of course, relieves God of all responsibility.

The choice is made—the incident being their king. We omit the incident and occasion under which Saul was anointed and chosen of God; also his family record. We study the man, who had all the advantages and endowments to become an outstanding character in the economy of God's dealing with his people. Saul's personality was in his favor (See Chap. 9:2); his character is shown in Chap. 10:26, 27; and God changed his heart (Chap. 19:9). Later Saul changed back to his old ways (Chap. 16:14) and so proved a moral failure.

All backsliding is gradual—a step at a time. Psalm I is a fine illustration: (1) "Walking" with the ungodly; (2) "Standing" in the seat of Godly; (3) "Sitting" in the seat of the scornful. Three steps only, and man feels at home.

Our lesson in its three parts bears out above suggestions. This unusual man, Saul, the son of Kish, after having established himself as King, had inflicted a terrific defeat on the Philistines at Michmash, and then received orders to destroy the Amalekites—a Normadic tribe. The battle is a complete victory for Saul. The order was carried out all, but—Saul

Michigan Team is 'Dark Horse' in Big 10 Race

Crisler Plans Trouble for Football Rivals in Conference—20 Lettermen Back.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP)—It looks like Michigan will be the "dark horse" in the Big Ten football scramble this fall.

Once the talk of the nation, the Wolverines have floundered in recent years. But the Michigan hopes will be in new hands this season. Herbert (Fritz) Crisler and a new staff of assistant coaches are expected to mould a team of trouble-makers before the schedule opens Oct. 1 with Michigan State.

Fritz, who left the western conference seven years ago to coach at Princeton, is back in the Big Ten. He inherits a squad of 20 lettermen and a brilliant crop of sophomores from Harry Kipke, former head coach.

And while Crisler is making no predictions, his material shapes up well. For example, he could place on the field a line two deep with men who won letter last year. Nine lettermen were graduated and the losses will be felt sharply in the backfield. But Crisler has a lot of material for the ball-toting positions.

Alumni and students alike feel that Crisler, with the assistance of Line Coach Earl Martineau and End Coach Campbell Dickson, will introduce the famed Crisler style into a well-balanced squad so proficient that the Wolverines will click.

Veteran Ends Return

Veteran material is available for end positions. Three regulars, John Nicholson, Elmer Gedeon and Dan Smick are back. Two sophomores, Jack Steketee and Ed Czak, will fight for the fourth end job vacated by Art Valpey.

At tackle the Wolverines will be strongest. Four veterans capable of playing anywhere in the conference are returning. They are Capt. Fred Janke, Don Siegel, Bill Smith and Joe Savilla.

Seasoned material for guard positions is led by Ralph Heikkinen, chosen last year as the team's most valuable player, and selected as an all-conference guard. Four other veteran guards are Jack Brennan, Fred Olds, George Marzoni and Butch Jordan. Ralph Fritz, sterling sophomore candidate, will give the veterans a stiff fight for a starting position.

The graduation of Capt. Joe Rinaldi left the center position to Archie Kodros, with whom Rinaldi alternated last year.

Graduation ripped two quarterbacks and a pair of regular halfbacks from the squad. The scramble for the signal-barking job will be between Dave Strong, Lou Levine and Sophomore Jack Meyer, a product of Kiski prep school in Pennsylvania.

Contest for Back Jobs

Competition will be keenest for halfback jobs. Five lettermen—Fred Trosko, Norm Purucker, Ed Phillips, Wally Hook and Hercules Renda—will fight off the bids of some sensational newcomers. Among them is Tom Harmon, one of the nation's outstanding high school athletes in 1936. Harmon is a triple-threat star from Gary, Ind.

At fullback Tex Stanton and Jack Kinsey both return from last year's squad. Ed Christy, ineligible last season, also is back.

The 1938 Michigan schedule: Oct. 1—Michigan State. Oct. 8—Chicago. Oct. 15—Minnesota at Minneapolis. Oct. 22—Yale at New Haven. Oct. 29—Illinois. Nov. 5—Pennsylvania. Nov. 12—Northwestern. Nov. 19—Ohio State at Columbus.

NOT CONFIRMING REPORT

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 6 (UP)—Lily Pons, star of the opera and the movies and her husband, orchestra leader Andre Kostelanetz, said today they were sorry but they could not confirm reports that she was an expectant mother.

The report had come from friends in South America where the couple were on a combined honeymoon and concert tour.

When the couple returned to the United States last night Miss Pons said of the report "Unfortunately it is not true" and the orchestra leader added "we regret it is not so."

VETERAN DROWNS HIMSELF

WACO, Neb., Sept. 6 (UP)—Dependent because of ill health Harry Hedrick, 47, World war veteran, tied heavy pieces of farm machinery about his neck and drowned himself in a water tank at his farm home near here today. Plans had been made to take Hedrick to the Veterans' hospital in Lincoln today.

Last Sunday Albert Anderson and wife and their son were over to Lorton where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Steffens, parents of Mrs. Anderson.

David Stuart went to Union last Monday afternoon and is visiting at the home of Charles Cogdill, the gentlemen being cousins. Mr. Stuart will visit there for some time.

Stacy Niday is spending the week at the state fair where he has charge of the places where tickets are on sale, being in charge of the main gate as well as another place where the tickets are sold.

George Bucholds and Mrs. Lyle Kruger, his mother-in-law, were in Murray last Monday to see the doctor about an infection on the face of Mr. Bucholds which has been causing him much suffering.

Suffers Loss of Two Horses.

Virgil Ruby, living a few miles from town reports the loss of one of his best horses, a mare weighing about 1600 pounds and as well a colt two years of age. The animals were taken with sleeping sickness. Mr. Ruby has accepted a position working with the stone quarry as there is nothing to do on the farm and no crops either.

Entertain Members of Family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kruger were host and hostess last Sunday to the members of the family, having as their guests Fred Guede and family of Unadilla, Henry Bucholds and family and George Bucholds and family of Dunbar and Avoca respectively and as well the family of Lawrence Kruger of Avoca. The day was most pleasantly enjoyed.

Have Exhibits at State Fair.

The Sheldon Manufacturing Co. of Nehawka took some models of their concrete mixers and farming machinery to the state fair last Saturday which they placed on exhibition. Their concrete mixers are especially fine, having a number of models for many uses for the farm and others for construction work.

Complete Work in the North.

A number of the workers of Nehawka were up to North and South Dakota and Minnesota during the threshing season, but with the completion of work in this line, Raymond Campbell and his father and Frank Cox returned to Nehawka. J. W. Crouch and son departed for Oregon and California where they will endeavor to secure employment.

Return to Home in South.

Harold Nickles and wife who make their home in Oklahoma and whose three girls have been spending the summer in Union, guests at the home of Frank and Anna Bauer, came for the children a week ago and remained for a visit. Last Sunday they departed for their home in the south but stopped for a short visit with a sister of Mr. Nickles, Mrs. Earl Hoagland at Humboldt. They were accompanied as far as Humboldt by Frank Bauer and Elmer Withrow who returned to Union in the evening.

Visited at Earl Opps.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Opp and the mother of Mrs. Opp were host and hostesses at their home last Sunday where they entertained for the day and dinner some friends of Mrs. Earl Opp, Mrs. McIntosh and her daughter, Mrs. Louis Jelinek and her daughter, Betty Lou. Mrs. Opp was teacher at the Schuyler school, the home of the visitors some time ago and has since made her home there when a very close friendship was generated which has continued during the intervening years.

Were Over to Lincoln.

Last Sunday evening Wayne Ackley had a truck load of models showing the workings of erosion on a farm which models have been made for illustrating the effects of this work of lands in different positions, which had been shipped to Union and had to be delivered to the state fair at Lincoln. Elmer Withrow accompanied Mr. Ackley on his night trip.

Schools Opened Monday.

A short session of the Nehawka schools were held Monday and the students assigned to the proper classes and the lessons given, to return Tuesday prepared with their lessons.

Fractures Collar Bone.

Phyllis Anna Switzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Switzer, while at play last Saturday fell and in so doing, she sitting on a chair, striking the floor on her shoulder she fractured her collar bone. It was thought that the child had only suffered bruises, but she was taken to Murray where Dr. R. W. Tyson took an X-ray, to find the collar bone had been fractured. After reducing the fracture and securely binding it, the patient was taken home.

Thrown from His Pony.

While Jack Wunderlich was riding his pony which was considered as being very gentle, the pony got out from under Jack with the result when Jack came to the ground one of his arms was fractured. Dr. R. R. Andersen took X-rays of the injury, finding a bad fracture and the lad was taken to the St. Mary's hospital in Nebraska City where the fracture was reduced by the hospital physician.

IDENTIFY DEAD MAN

OMAHA, Sept. 7 (UP)—Coroner's Investigator Matt Jaap said the identification of the man washed up on the Union Pacific cutoff here Monday night is almost positive.

He was believed to be Harry Lee Lattin, about 37, of Farnam, Neb. A brother, Oliver Lattin of Valparaiso, told Jaap, the dead man's wife has written him several letters the past few days inquiring as to the whereabouts of her husband. Jaap said the man had been dead about a week.
