Wm. Ferman who was so badly burned last spring and was in the hospital for a time and returned home not entirely well, has returned to the hospital for further treatment. At the same time his daughter, Ruth, is in an Omaha hospital, while the father is at the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln.

Begin Work on School Building.

The contract which was let for the erection of the additional building for the Weeping Water schools was started this week when Ole Olson began the grading and excavation of the basement for the new structure. It will require the moving of some 2,000 yards of dirt. The new building will face south and be west of one of the buildings already there. When completed this will make an excellent group of buildings for the Weeping Water public schools, and will reflect the excellent city which Weeping Water is. With the new building, the county fair, which all of Cass county is pleased is permanently located in Weeping Water and the office of the farm bureau, makes this bustling town in the center of the county one of the very best of its size in this part of the state.

Wedded Fifty Years.

Fifty years ago on September 5th, Ernest A. Jamison and Miss Emma Strain were united in marriage in their native state, Ohio. They immediately came west, locating near Weeping Water on a farm, where they remained for some twenty years or more when they moved to Weeping Water where they have resided since. Mr. Jamison has operated a planing mill and carpenter shop which he disposed of a few years ago to the Cass County Fair association, and for a number of years has not worked so hard on account of delicate health.

A number of children came to bless this union, there being a son here and one in Florida as well as a daughter there and another daughter in Chicago, while another son makes his home in the west.

The passing of this fiftieth anniversary of their wedding was celebrated in an impromptu gathering of a number of their friends. One daughter sent a profusion of roses for the anniversary, with best wishes, while another daughter sent a large golden wedding cake which weighed 50 pounds. All the children sent remembrances and greetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamison have quietly lived in Weeping Water during the major portion of the fifty years and with every added year they have gained and retained many friends, who are wishing them many more happy years of wedded life.

The Cass County Fair.

The Cass county fair which is to be held the coming week, promises to be the very best that has been held for years. This is due to the hustling spirit of co-operation of the citizens of Weeping Water and Cass county. Let's all work together to make this the the best county fair in the state of Nebraska. It can be done with the co-operation of the citizens all over the county.

Will H. Homan Better.

Will H. Homan who has been working on the carpenter work in the construction of the sanitary units suffered a second stroke, and while he is some better is not as yet able to return to his work. He gets down town occasionally but it is with much difficulty. Mr. Homan has not been working with the stone quarry since last spring. His condition was so serious that his son, Sanford Homan went to Lincoln for his sister, Ruth Homan to come and assist in his care. He is now waiting for the doctor to allow him to return to work.

"The Voice of India," the first authentic talking picture taken in India, will be shown at the First Presbyterian church in Platts-mouth Friday evening, September 9th, at 8:00 p. m., under the sponsorship of the Women's Federation of the church. The films were taken by Paul Hostler, American explorer and writer on wild animal life.

Hostler was allowed to witness and take pictures of native ceremonies under conditions rarely accorded to Europeans or Americans. As guests of the Indian rulers, he and his party took part in tiger hunts, hunted the sambar stag and other game animals.

A small admission will be charged. See another part of this paper for full ad.

Where Can the Jews Go? World Wide Question

Map of World Small Where Jews Forced From Ancient Homes May Find Peace and Refuge.

By WEBB MILLER

LONDON, Sept. 7 (Copyright 1938 by UP)—Where can the Jews go? That question is plaguing hundreds of thousands of European Jews today as they study the dwindling area on the world map which offers a refuge from the racial programs of totalitarian government.

As the fate of Jews becomes increasingly harsh in Nazi Germany and fascist Italy, the problem of finding a new home for these twentieth century wanderers in Europe becomes increasingly grave for such agencies as the inter-governmental committee on refugees.

The committee estimates that Jewish refugees from Germany will total 550,000. A preponderant percentage of them are without sufficient funds. On the average, Jews are deprived of 94 per cent of their property when they flee Germany.

It is believed that as many as 15,000 of Italy's 50,000 Jews will, within the next six months, join the homeless procession as a result of the anti-semitic policy adopted by Premier Benito Mussolini. How many more may be affected is uncertain until the fascist racial policy is developed further. Already many Italian Jews are attempting to salvage their holdings by sacrifice sales.

Where can they go? The answers to that question can almost be counted on your fingers:

United States—The inter-governmental committee hopes that America will absorb as many as 23,000 annually.

British Empire—The committee estimates that 21,000 may be provided for by distributing 8,000 in Palestine, 6,000 in the United Kingdom, 3,000 in Australia, 500 in Canada, and 1,000 each in Kenya colony, New Zealand and Rhodesia. Another 1,000 they hope to scatter among the British colonies.

South America—The goal of 20,000 annually among the South American republics may not be realized. Argentina, Brazil, Peru, Uruguay and Paraguay have held back final decision, which probably will be determined by the committee's success in negotiations with Germany to permit refugees to remove their property. Chile has been most reluctant to admit refugees under any circumstances.

Africa—French Madagascar and Belgian Congo are expected to provide homes for a very limited number. Mussolini has indicated that Ethiopia would be left open to Jewish immigration but they would be most reluctant to take advantage of that offer because (1) the natives, regardless of their semitic origins, are hostile to foreign Jews; (2) the difficulties of settlers are great; and (3) they fear that if their funds are invested the fascists might take them over.

West Indies—This week the inter-governmental committee received its most encouraging news from Santo Domingo, which offered to accept a substantial number of German Jewish expatriates.

That virtually closes the list of countries toward which the Jews may turn. Even the editorial suggestion of the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune that France sell the Mediterranean island of Corsica to the Jews for a new home was rejected in Italy. The newspaper Resto Del Carlino ridiculed the idea and said Italy could not permit creation of a Jewish state in the Mediterranean, particularly at Corsica which "indestructively" is Italian territory.

Assistance Brings Unique Campaign

Problem to Meet Increasing Demands of Those Seeking and Those Who Must Provide the Funds.

"The writer recently called at the bedside of an old-time political leader in Nebraska. While his body was wasting away, his mind was as keen as ever; he visualized clearly many important campaigns in Nebraska in past years. I was so carried away by the completeness and thoroughness of his analysis, that I asked him to state his opinion of the present day situation.

"He said this will be a unique campaign. That at this time the people are divided into two groups, one group might be called "those who have a job or income" and the other group "those who have no job or income." Those who have a job or income are willing, as far as they are able, to contribute to the care of the unfortunate in the other class. Some of those having no job or income, through the instigation of so-called politicians, are making a demand that each of their class shall receive larger sums in amounts varying from $30.00 to $200.00 a month, all of which of course, would have to be paid by those who have a job or income. The above-described politicians are bidding against each other for this support.

"That as a matter of fact, those who have no job or income comprise less than 20 per cent of the voting population of the state. That the astounding thing is these politicians are pursuing a course whereby every time they win one of those having no job or income the alienate the support of the 80 per cent of the voting population who have a job or income. In other words, every time they gain one—through promises that cannot be fulfilled—they alienate four of those who will have to foot the bill.

Corn Loans at 57c per Bushel Seems Assured

Department of Agriculture Announces That This Price Now Is "Virtually Assured."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (UP)—Corn loans this fall at approximately 57 cents a bushel are "virtually assured," Agricultural Adjustment Administrator H. R. Tolley said today.

The new farm act made loans mandatory if the 1938 crop exceeded normal domestic consumption and exports totaling approximately 2,476,000,000 bushels. The minimum loan rate would be 75 per cent of parity.

The August estimate of the crop reporting board placed 1938 production of corn at 2,566,000,000 bushels—94,000,000 bushels in excess of the figure at which loans would be mandatory.

A determination of loans will be based on the Nov. 1 crop board estimate, Tolley said. If that estimate exceeds 2,476,000,000 bushels loans will be mandatory.

Tolley, at the same time, issued a statement explaining Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's refusal to authorize a corn marketing quota referendum and the estimates upon which his action was based.

When the farm act was passed last spring the agriculture department estimated a total corn supply of 2,733,000,000 bushels this year would make a referendum on the imposition of marketing quotas mandatory.

Late in July the department raised the figure to 2,880,000,000 bushels. A few hours after the August 19 estimate indicated a supply of 2,586,000,000 bushels, sufficient to make a referendum mandatory, the "quota level" was raised to 2,907,000,000 bushels.

The earlier estimates, he said, never were intended to constitute an official estimate of the marketing quota level, and could not legally have been used in the final instance because the figure must include late adjustments for current trends in both domestic consumption and exports.

GAINS IN BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (UP)—The American Federation of Labor announced today that its monthly survey of business showed substantial gains in all important basic industries. The current upward trend plus the added impetus expected when the new federal building program gets into full swing may give business such a stimulant that increases will reach boom proportions, the A. F. of L. said.

The survey showed production gains in steel, lumber, cotton textiles, automobiles and electric power and concluded that "if increasing production in capital goods continues to keep past the consumer and government spending, recovery will be rapid."
