Carnival Closes with a Religious Parade - Rally

Impressive Services Held at Plattsmouth and Participated in by Many Churches.

The formal close of the 1938 King Korn Carnival was held Sunday afternoon at the platform at Fifth and Main streets, altho the other carnival festivities had folded up late Saturday.

It was a very inspiring close and one that was especially striking in view of the fear torn world and the oppressions that religious worship is encountering in other lands.

The participation of the churches of the county was truly wonderful and brought here active members to participate in the parade and to make the program a success from Eagle, Avoca, Louisville, Weeping Water, Alvo, Murray, Cedar Creek, Murdock, Callahan, Eight Mile Grove Lutheran church, Elmwood, Nehawka and Union.

The parade formed on high school hill and was a truly beautiful sight and inspiring as it moved down the hill to the business section for the program.

Leading the procession came the golden cross borne by Warren Allbee of the St. Luke's church, followed by the flag bearers, fifteen church flags and fifteen American flags being borne by members of the Sunday schools.

The Plattsmouth Municipal band also lent majesty to the occasion with the stirring notes of "Onward Christian Soldiers" which has led many of religious faith down through the years, giving this grand old song a truly majestic presentation.

A number of the churches and Sunday schools had prepared floats along religious themes that added to the interest of the procession and decorated cars also were brought here from many of the out of town organizations.

The members of the male chorus marched in the parade and at the platform were seated, offering a fine part to the program of the day. This group gave several of the old and loved songs of faith and consolation and in which the audience joined to make a great musical tribute to the Christian faith.

Rev. Paul Dick, of the United Brethren church offered the benediction for the meeting and the announcing was carried on by Walter H. Smith of the St. John's church of this city.

Short talks were given by members of the visiting ministry, Rev. R. D. Hall of the Avoca Congregational church and Rev. N. B. Callaway, of the Louisville Methodist church, both gave very inspiring talks on the value of religion and stressing the great opportunities that the people of the United States had of being allowed to worship as their conscience might dictate. Both urged the support of the church as the great anchor of civilization.

The benediction was offered by Rev. A. B. Small of the Nehawka United Brethren church.

It was a truly fine showing for Cass county Christian men and women and all participating are to be congratulated. Elmer Sundstrom, chairman of the committee that had contacted the churches, is entitled to much praise for his hard work in putting this across as one of the most inspiring meetings held in the county.

School Parade Attracts Many Here Saturday

Schools of County Provide Many Very Interesting and Beautiful Floats for Event.

Saturday afternoon the rural schools of Cass county presented their parade as their contribution to the King Korn Carnival and gave one of the most attractive that has been witnessed, being joined in the event by a number of the handsomely arranged floats by the local industrial and business houses.

The Syracuse municipal band, directed by J. F. Sorrell, was here for the afternoon and in addition to a short concert at the platform, headed the parade of the schools with snap and real marching swing as they traveled through the business section of the city.

The beautiful floats showed the time and care taken by the teachers and the pupils in preparing the various offerings and the youngsters who took part in riding on the floats certainly deserve great credit for their part of the program.

The Plattsmouth municipal band, which has been a real factor in the success of the Korn Carnival programs also participated in the parade, with the local American Legion Junior drum and bugle corps in their snappy appearance and marching lines. The local organizations received a fine hand from the large crowd that lined the streets, for their excellent work.

In the spirit of the good neighbor, Syracuse not only sent their excellent band for the parade, but as well brought a very beautiful float to take part in the parade.

As the head of the parade arrived at the platform it was halted for two minutes in memory of Ray Misner, chairman of the parade committee who was buried Saturday.

The rural school parade was one of the longest held in the Carnival and one that held the closest interest of the spectators and so many very attractive floats were in the line that the task of the judges was one of difficulty.

The awards for the parade were as follows:

First—"Ghost Town," district 25, Mrs. C. L. Carlson, teacher.

Second—"World Peace," district No. 60, Mrs. Rhoden, teacher.

Third—"Red School House" district 45, Miss Mildred Wilson, teacher.

Fourth—"Unknown Soldier," district 27, Miss Velma Fulton, teacher.

Fifth—"King Korn Carnival," district 30, Miss Dorothy Slemoneit, teacher.

All of the school entries received a prize of $1 and ball and bat for their entries while the five prize winners were given the main prizes for their participation.

The parade was under the supervision of Miss Alpha C. Peterson, county superintendent who had cooperated with the teachers in the success of the event.

The platform program embraced a number of very interesting features in the afternoon with selections by the Schafer sisters, Miss Florence Schafer being the accompanist. Beverly Elliott, 11, of Alvo, also scored a hit as the singing abrobat.

In the evening the Plattsmouth Municipal band gave an hour concert at the platform that was much appreciated and gave this fine group of young musicians an opportunity of demonstrating their skill and ability in the fine line of band work.

J. A. Wachtel of Lincoln, with his associates gave some old fashioned fife and drum selections that attracted much attention.

The evening program closed with the old time dance on the street and the grand ball at the American Legion building.

Murray Votes the Building of Water Plant

Voters Say "Yes" to Bond Issue of $9,700 for Erecting and Maintaining the New Plant.

Murray, whose residents have often felt the heavy cost of fires that in several cases have wiped out large section of their business part of town, who suffered the loss of their schools and many private residences, yesterday voted the erection of a water plant.

The question of voting bonds in the sum of $9,700 for the erecting of a plant, water tank and mains, was submitted to the voters who approved the issuance of bonds 77 to 31.

Interest has been keen in the village over the issuance of the bonds and the necessity for fire protection as well as the convenience and more helpfulness of an adequate plant has been urged by the proponents of the water works.

As soon as the final details are arranged it is expected to get the work of erecting the plant under way.

Wells located near the former Mrasek swimming pool are expected to furnish a good water supply.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED

The King Korn Carnival of 1938 is now a thing of the recent past and while it is still fresh in mind, why wouldn't it be a good idea for everybody who may have any criticisms or suggestions for next year to offer them at this time, so the committee may have an idea of what the general public would like for next year's carnival? This is one enterprise that the whole community unites on—farmers, mechanics, merchants, teachers, preachers, politicians, men, women, young and old, all classes, all creeds and parties, all join hands together to make it a success. For that reason the committee would like to hear from anybody who might have a new idea or a different slant to the program—anything that will help make the 1939 King Korn Carnival bigger and better.

Write out your comment or suggestion and send them to Henry Soennichsen, general chairman. The committee does not agree to adopt them, but they will be gladly received and certainly given serious consideration. Come on with them—don't hesitate. You can sign your name or not—just as you like. What the committee wants is ideas.
