Mrs. Mitchell Shelly was a visitor in Omaha last Friday and visited her husband there until Tuesday before returning to take up her work as assistant postmistress.

Donald Gonzales and Miss Mary Talhurst, students at the University of Nebraska, visited Mrs. Emily Gonzales over the week end. Miss Talhurst's home is at Raymond.

W. L. Cople of near Alvo was a visitor in Elmwood Tuesday of last week, looking after business matters. While here he also had his auto looked over by Ronald Schlichtemeier.

George H. Heinke, republican candidate for congress as well as Henry C. Luckey, his opponent and the present incumbent each visited and spoke in Elmwood during the past week.

While the country in general is feeling the need of rain, the wheat which was sown early in the season is coming nicely and looks healthy, but would be better with an abundance of moisture.

Harry Williams, the democratic candidate for county commissioner from the third district, was looking after his political fences in Weeping Water, Avoca and other towns during the past week.

Mrs. Frank Lorenz who was in Lincoln for some time, recuperating at a hospital there from the effects of a severe operation for appendicitis, was able to return home late last week. We are glad to report she is continuing to improve.

The special service at the Christian church in Elmwood on Sunday, October 23, will be "The Omnipotent Christ," one of the series of special sermons now being presented. Last Sunday the subject was "The Great Physician." These special services are attracting large numbers of people.

Visited Old Home

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Penterman and Morris Penterman and wife made up a party who last Sunday went to a rural church a few miles from Otoe, where they attended a special service. They met many of the old time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Penterman, for it was about 35 years ago that Mr. Penterman resided in that neighborhood. He found many friends whom he had known and many more who knew him, but have grown from school children to life's estate since his departure. The service they attended was a special Missionfest service.

More Corn This Year

Farmers versed with crop conditions in this vicinity say there is ample corn to provide feed for live stock, but probably no surplus for shipment outside of the immediate locality. That is better than for several years past, when it has been necessary to import corn to provide feed for our own livestock.

Friends Guests at Deles Derniers Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Deles Dernier Sunday were Deb Munn and Mr. and Mrs. Sias Munn, all from near Nehawka. An excellent dinner was served and everyone enjoyed their visit.

Disposes of Business

Charles V. Seeley, who for 27 years was publisher of the Weeping

Water Republican, who a few weeks ago purchased a cafe in Elmwood, has found the work too confining, disposing of the business to Mrs. Thessie Wall, his cook. Mr. Seeley and wife have returned to Weeping Water, while Mrs. Wall has taken possession of the business and seems to be making a success of it.

Attended R. N. A. Convention

A number of the members of the Royal Neighbors of Elmwood were in Louisville last Tuesday to attend the county convention of the order, which was in session in the neighboring town. Among those attending from Elmwood were Mesdames Herman Penterman, Roy Rhoden, Verna Olsen, W. S. Skeen and Wm. Long. The ladies enjoyed the meeting and the splendid hospitality accorded them.

Attended Funeral in Alvo

Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Quellhorst were in Alvo last Monday, where they went to attend the funeral of the late Alta Linch, who died at a hospital in Lincoln the Friday before. She had been teaching school and on being taken sick it was found necessary to take her to the hospital as her father, P. J. Linch, who is well over 80 years of age and a widower, was not able to care for her at home.

Picnicked Near Old School

Fred Rudolph and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fitcher and Henry Umland and wife comprised a merry party of people from near Eagle who were over near Elmwood for a picnic dinner and outing near the Sodum Collect or Woodpecker (as it is sometimes called) school. After dinner they came to town and visited with their friends during the afternoon.

Excellent Quality of Corn

Stuart Rough, Martin Ross and Dan Dan Anderson, all of Nehawka, came to Elmwood last week in the car of Mr. Rough, and picking up R. C. Deles Dernier, all went to Fremont to look over a number of fields of hybrid corn. They found some excellent corn there, some of which will run as high as 100 bushels to the acre, although the bulk of it probably will only make 50 or a little better.

Many are turning to hybrid as an effective type of corn to combat the dry weather that has prevailed the past few seasons.

Celebrates 67th Birthday

Charles E. Wood, a native born citizen of Cass county, born near Elmwood sixty-seven years ago, was celebrating the passing of his natal day last Sunday, October 9th. The entire family consisting of children and grandchildren were present and enjoyed the get-together and also seeing Grandfather Charles Wood cut the birthday cake. At the proper time, he not only did this but saw that each of the kiddies received a generous slice.

At the time Mr. Wood was born, this was a wild county indeed and there were few towns. It was 17 years later that Elmwood was laid out as a townsite.

At the time Charles was born, his father, the late John Wood, had taken a wagon load of wheat to Ashland, which was the closest contact point with a railroad. It so happened that the great Chicago fire was raging and with the uncertainty of any market for the grain there, the Ashland dealers would not take the wheat and Mr. Wood, Sr., had to bring it back to the farm.

As he neared the old homestead, which consisted largely of unbroken prairie land, he saw a woman come out of the house and wave a sheet, signaling him to hurry home. Just a short time after his arrival home, a son arrived and that is the gentleman who has just celebrated his 67th birthday and cut the cake for his grandchildren to enjoy.

ELECT A.B.A. OFFICERS

The Nebraska State Bankers association at their session in Omaha Wednesday held their election of officers of the Nebraska section of the American Bankers association, and which included a number of the leading bankers of the state who will be affiliated with the national banking group. The officers named were: M. M. Taylor, Columbus, vice president; Otto Kotone, Humboldt, nominating committee member; H. A. Schneider, Plattsmouth, alternate; J. V. Johnson, Tecumseh, Nebraska vice-president of the State Banking division; Rollie W. Ley, Wayne, vice-president national division; Sam Waugh, Lincoln, vice-president of trust company division; A. J. Hallas, Omaha, vice-president saving bank division.

Alvo News

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klyver were Ashland visitors Wednesday.

The dismissal of school Friday evening marked the close of his first six weeks of school.

A number of folks are planning to attend the Sunday school convention to be held at Mynard Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Timblin and Willard drove to Omaha Sunday afternoon, where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mickle, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mickle and son, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hardnock and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dimmitt and son spent Sunday with relatives and friends at the Lloyd Ganzel home near Otoe.

Mrs. Ray Parsell met with a minor car accident when she collided with the car of Will Wall of Eagle while en route to Elmwood Saturday evening. The occupants of neither car were injured, but considerable damage was done to both cars.

Miss Peterson, a former teacher in the Alvo high school and who has taught the past thirteen years in the Beatrice schools, was in Alvo Monday to attend the funeral services for Miss Alta Linch, who was also a teacher in the Beatrice public schools. Friends enjoyed renewing their acquaintance with Miss Peterson.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Froelich, which has been under way for the past month, is progressing very nicely now. Upon completion, Mr. and Mrs. Froelich will have a very nice new home in which they will be happy to get settled. Since Mr. and Mrs. Froelich's marriage they have lived with Clarence's brother, Lester.

Aid Society Serves Luncheon

The Ladies Aid Society members served the luncheon for those attending the county convention of Federated clubs.

The committee in charge exhibited exceptionally fine management of the affair and the guests were served in a fine manner. The menu included a very delicious meal. Some fine compliments have been paid them on their menu and splendid service.

Car in Loose Gravel

Saturday evening when Rev. and Mrs. Hammel were returning home, Rev. Hammel attempted to avoid hitting a civet cat that came across the road in front of his car. In his attempt he came in contact with loose gravel which caused him to lose control of the car. As a result he received an injured hand which he has been carrying in a sling and Mrs. Hammel received two black eyes from a severe bump on her forehead. Both are recovering very nicely.

Mothers'-Daughters' Council

The Mothers'-Daughters' Council club members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Glenn Dimmitt Friday afternoon, October 7. There was a large crowd present to enjoy the lesson, "Rural Young People," which was presented in a very fine manner by Mrs. Arthur Skinner.

Mrs. S. C. Hardnock presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ellis Mickle.

Guests present were Mesdames H. L. Bornemeier and Frank Taylor. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Paul Coatsman, which will be a character review led by Mrs. Frank Henke.

Hostesses to County Convention

The Mothers'-Daughters' Council club and the Alvo Woman's Reading club were hostesses to the fifteenth annual convention of the Cass County Federation of Women's clubs on Tuesday, October 11. The delegates from the different clubs were entertained at the Methodist church.

A total of 214 club women registered and attended the morning and afternoon sessions that were filled with inspiring program numbers.

The theme, "The American Home" was inspiring carried out in many of the addresses.

A great number of distinguished guests and state and district officers (present and past) were here for the convention.

Mrs. Maud E. Nuquist, past state president and now a member of the Nebraska Board of Control, gave a splendid address on "Lost Opportunities in Nebraska in Public Welfare." Mrs. Nuquist's message pointed out many lost opportunities from the tax payers' view points, as well as many social and independent opportunities for persons dependant on welfare.

The county president, Miss Evelyn Wolph, of Nehawka, presided over the business sessions in a most pleasing manner.

The convention was a success from every standpoint and the two Alvo federated clubs are proud of having had the privilege of being hostesses to the clubs of the county.

P. T. A. Has Fine Program

The October P. T. A. meeting was held in the school auditorium Wednesday evening, October 12. A very fine crowd was present to enjoy the evening.

Mrs. Arthur Skinner, the president, presided over the business meeting. Due to a vacancy in the office of secretary, a special election was held, which resulted in the selection of Mrs. Frank Taylor for the unexpired term.

The members of the association voted to allow $15 toward magazines for the school and $10 for outside basketball equipment for the grade children.

A two part program followed the business meeting, which included: A very instructive hygienic talk by Dr. Formanack, of Murdock, who presented several very enlightening thoughts as to the purpose of the physical examinations that were given the school children during the first month of school. He pointed out the importance of caring for their various physical defects in their early stages. Dr. Formanack's instructive message was greatly appreciated by the patrons.

The 5-6 and 7-8 grades participated in a playlet that proved to be enlightening on the subject of "Fire Prevention." The entertaining part of the program was given by a group of ladies from the Reading club who presented a one act play entitled "Pot Luck." The play afforded much fun and merriment for the audience and much credit is due the cast who performed so artistically.

The cast included Mesdames Earl Dreamer, Donald McKinnon, Lee Coatsman, Frank Edwards, Lyle Miller and Martin Zoz.

Passing of Miss Linch

July, 1884 - October, 1938—these two dates mark the span of life of Miss Alta Linch, who was loved and respected by all with whom she came in contact. She leaves to mourn her going her aged father, two sisters, Mrs. Etta Hoyt, of Tulsa, California, and Mrs. Will Peterson, of Grand Island, and a brother, Verle, of Sioux City, Iowa. My brief acquaintance with this noble lady puts me in no position to speak at length of her sterling qualities and she would not have it so at a memorial service for her, but it is only proper that we direct a few chosen words along the line, gathered from her closest friends.

The advance herald was Miss Agnes Johnson of the Omaha schools, an associate teacher at one time with Miss Linch in the Beatrice schools. When I brought her greetings at Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln from Miss Johnson, her face fairly beamed and she remarked, "I had no closer associate; we were like-minded." This gave me a chance to value her character.

On last Sunday, interviewing several of her friends at Alvo, they spoke on her nobility of purpose, as an artist, a lover of nature, a dispenser of happiness and a person of noble Christian character. These were a few of the assets of her life. As I think of her, I am reminded of the old Latin poet's words: "Death plucks me at the ear. Live, I am coming."

Miss Linch knew that death plucked her at the ear; she said nothing about it, but I understood she certainly lived in the sweet sense of her word. No one doubts that. And she will continue to live on in the lives of all she touched in the humblest walks of life. The influence she exerted in the school room will encircle the globe.

In the church her presence, benevolence and service will not soon be forgotten.

The foregoing comforting message was given to the family by the pastor, Rev. John D. Hammel. Beloved! The roses will bloom again.

Eighteen Loans Made by the F S A Dept.

Supervisor of the Farm Security Administration to Contact Farmers at Several Places

Eighteen loans were approved by the county advisory committees of Otoe and Cass counties and submitted to the regional farm security administration office for final approval during the month of September, Leonard Hanks, county supervisor of Otoe and Cass counties, stated. The loans averaged approximately $700 and were made for the purchase of stock, equipment, or operating expense for farmers who had to have funds in order to continue operating and who were unable to obtain these funds from other agencies. The applicants receiving these loans will operate under approved farm and home plans, which provide for repayment to the Farm Security Administration over a two to five year period under normal conditions. The continued drought in these counties has increased the demand for this type of loan, especially in the western one-half of both Otoe and Cass counties. Due to this increase, it has been necessary for Mr. Hanks to rearrange his schedule in order that more time might be spent in this locality where drought conditions are more severe. Mr. Hanks' schedule is as follows: Monday and Saturday a. m., the Farm Security Administration office, second floor, post office building, Nebraska City; Monday afternoon, the Farmers State bank, Douglas, Nebraska; Tuesday afternoon, court house, Plattsmouth, Nebraska; and Thursday afternoon, the Murdock bank, Murdock, Nebraska. Anyone desiring to contact Mr. Hanks can reach him at the above listed points on the days mentioned, or by letter to the post office building, Nebraska City, Nebraska.
