

Radio Stations Linked for Rally for Gov. Cochran

Saturday Afternoon, November 5th Will Bring Great Radio Urge for Support of the Governor.

An all-Nebraska, Cochran-for-Governor rally, carried over a radio network linking every broadcasting station in the state, will climax Governor R. L. Cochran's campaign for re-election. Representatives of agriculture, labor, business and the general public speaking in support of the governor's candidacy will be heard over the half-hour program from one to one-thirty o'clock Saturday, November 5th, L. E. Chadler, the governor's campaign manager, announced Monday. The program will precede immediately the broadcast of the Nebraska-Kansas football game.

For the first time in the history of Nebraska broadcasting, every radio station in the state will be hooked up for two-way communication, radio officials said.

Speakers will be heard from every city where a broadcasting station is located. Omaha, Lincoln, Norfolk, Kearney, Clay Center, North Platte and Scottsbluff, and in addition, Hastings and Grand Island by remote control. Governor Cochran will conclude the broadcast. From what city he will speak has not been determined, but will depend upon his itinerary on that date.

Local committees are arranging rally luncheons in the cities from which talks will be broadcast, and at several other cities. The public is invited to attend the luncheons, and to remain to hear the football broadcast following the rally.

JAPAN DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

SHANGHAI, Oct. 26 (UP)—A Japanese embassy spokesman said today that Japan would not hold herself responsible for any damage to foreign property during fighting against the Chinese and would therefore be responsible for no damage done such property before the Japanese occupation. Presumably the spokesman was speaking specifically of the situation at Hankow although the same principle might be invoked to cover damage done in any fighting zone.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From Wednesday's Daily—
Twenty years ago—from over the sea came a new song, "Roses of Picardy." Where is Picardy? For the purpose of song it is an Eldorado far away, where the distance lends enchantment to the view. The spirit voice of Shubert's song said that joy existed only where the wanderer was not. Fred E. Weatherly, the writer of this verse placed his lovers in Picardy a land beyond the border and fragrant with roses of romance. Hayden Wood was so inspired with the words he composed one of his most appealing melodies united with Fred E. Weatherly in producing "Roses of Picardy."

Hear this beautiful melody again with new words by Deanna Durbin as she sings it at the Cass theatre starting tonight and running for a week, and you will respond to its message as you did 20 years ago.

TEMPLE CO-ED SUICIDE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26 (UP)—The ten-story death plunge of Betty Bonner Fell, attractive 21-year-old Temple University co-ed was tentatively recorded as a suicide today by investigating detectives.

"It looks like suicide to me, but there are other angles that we wish to clean up," Detective Lieutenant Engle in charge of the case announced after inspecting the lavatory in Cornell, Temple's principle building, from which Miss Fell plunged to death late yesterday. Officers said there was no evidence of a struggle in the room and that her fingerprints had been found on the sill of the small window through which she apparently climbed unaided. It was believed that she hung outside the window, her hands on the sill before dropping feet first.

IOWA BEEF WINS HONORS

OMAHA, Oct. 26 (UP)—"Micky" a 930-pound Hereford steer owned by John Gosch, 18-year-old Ida Grove, Iowa, boy today won grand championship honors in the 4-H club baby beef show at the Ak-Sar-Ben live stock exposition. Mary Helen Boothe, 18, of Marion county, Iowa won the reserve grand championship with her Angus steer which previously had won the blue ribbon in its division. Iowa boys and girls made almost a clean sweep of the competition.

Library Day Observed in State Since Year 1892

Various County Bodies and School Organizations Have Made Day one of Educational Aid.

Library Day was intended especially to create interest in libraries in rural areas and other small school communities.

The first Library Day in a Nebraska county, say research workers on the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, was held in Saunders county on Oct. 21, 1892, this day having been set aside by the Saunders County Teachers Institute. On that day each teacher was to try to create a deeper interest in education and also to establish, or add to, a library in every school house in the county from funds raised by subscriptions, donations or entertainments. The success of the project was greater than anticipated. Over sixty libraries in the county were established or enlarged.

At the winter meeting of the Saunders County Association the teachers petitioned the state association to adopt the same week and day. This was done, and at a meeting of superintendents and principals similar resolutions were adopted. A committee was appointed to advance this movement to establish a library, "the poor man's university," in every school house in Nebraska.

In September 1893, the state superintendent of public instruction issued an official announcement requesting that Friday, October 20, be observed as Library Day in the schools of the state. It was asked that the day, in whole or in part, be devoted to efforts intended to arouse interest in education and especially in the building up of school libraries. It was expected that school districts would try to raise funds for the purchase of books. County superintendents sent circulars to the teachers stressing the importance of Library Day. The response was good throughout the state. Library Day was emphasized in succeeding years and thousands of books were made available to children and adults of Nebraska.

In 1897, as an observance of Library Day the Lincoln City Library held open house. The rooms were decorated with flags, flowers and pictures. In the reference room the tables were covered with many choice books, such as Shakespeare, Browning and early American History. There were also books for children. Many people of all ages visited the library that day to acquaint themselves with its facilities.

At least one territorial legislature made provision for library books in schools, but the state legislatures did nothing on the matter until after interest in the project had become widespread. Through the influence of Tremore Cone, the legislature in 1907 passed a law providing that ten cents per pupil be set aside annually, from the general fund, to be used for the purchase of books other than text books. The Public Library Commission was established in 1901, so the purpose and functions of Library Day gradually were taken over by other agencies. Regular appropriations have become more liberal. For some years, however, Library Day was important in helping satisfy a great need, that of making suitable books available to people in the less heavily populated areas of the state.

A survey conducted about 1930 showed an average of 27 library books in each school library; 56 teachers reported no library books in their schools. Two hundred and seventy-five schools used traveling libraries.

KANSAS WOMAN WINS $71,000

HORTON, Kas., Oct. 26 (UP)—A 36-year-old Horton housewife, Mrs. Florence Crider at last is completing plans for the California honeymoon she and her husband have been talking about for 15 years. Until today it was a remote possibility. But Mrs. Crider has won $71,000 on a $2.50 ticket in the Irish Sweepstakes and, for the first time in her life she says she has some spare money.

When newsmen talked to Mrs. Crider, her husband, Raymond was out celebrating after locking up his radio shop for the day. But Mrs. Crider says that even though the trip is the only thing definitely decided they will probably also finish paying for the house, invest some money to insure the five children good education and perhaps buy some new furniture, a fur coat and maybe a new car.

Nehawka

Marion Tucker was called to Lincoln last Monday to look after some business matters connected with the Sheldon store here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop were in Omaha last Saturday visiting Will A. Lewis at the University hospital where he is under observation.

John G. Wunderlich who has been so ill for several weeks, is showing much improvement now and is able to be out and about part of the time. He was able to make a trip to South Bend to visit with his daughter, Mrs. Joseph E. Knecht.

Miss Mary Troop of Lincoln has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop and with other friends and relatives about Murray and as well at Plattsmouth, remaining here for several days before returning to her home in Lincoln.

Gilbert Edwards, having a taste for good fat duck, and knowing the law allowed the hunting of them, with his trusty gun went to the Missouri river near Rock Bluffs and kept his eyes skinned for signs of ducks, which were plenty, but the birds were somewhat wary and kept at a respectable distance. A few shots from Gilbert's gun only made the birds more scared, so he had to return home with only one thing, that was his appetite.

W. A. Lewis in Hospital.

W. A. Lewis, for many years a resident between Murray and Nehawka, but who for a number of years has been making his home near Coleridge, has not been in the best of health for some time and last week was taken to Omaha and placed in the University hospital where he is under observation in order to obtain the nature of his affliction. While he is at the hospital the wife has been staying with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cisney.

Last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Cisney, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Peck and Mrs. Lewis were in Omaha to visit the patient and found him resting fairly well considering the seriousness of his illness.

Attended Mynard Convention.

The Cass county Sunday school convention was held at Mynard last week and was a great success. Those from Nehawka attending were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson and son, Kenneth, Mrs. Verner Lundberg, Mrs. Mary Norris, Mrs. Wm. Obernaulte, Mrs. R. C. Pollard, Mrs. Frank Lemon and Mrs. Herbie Kuntz with Rev. Lenker and wife from Weeping Water, minister of the Nehawka church, Rev. Small and wife, J. W. Murdoch and wife, Mrs. A. G. Murdoch and daughter, Miss Bessie and Mr. Burton Stuphin.

Too Cool for Bingo.

While the weather was good and warm and people could enjoy being out doors at night the bingo game flourished and brought many people to Nehawka, but last Saturday night the air was so chilly for the out of doors game and the people who had been devotees on the warmer night refused to play and the games went begging.

Was Somewhat Surprised.

While Mrs. Rolland Sutton was working in the cream station and had just been near the scales where the cream was being tested, and had stepped away for some article, a section of the plaster on the ceiling loosened and fell, covering and almost wrecking the scales, but as Mrs. Sutton had stepped out of the way she received none of the plaster except the shock caused by the deafening noise. The plaster has been repaired by Wm. Obernaulte and is as good as new.

Returning to Work at Quarry.

After being closed down at the stone quarry and thus throwing the workmen out of employment for some two weeks the report comes that the work will be resumed some time this week. This is good news for the workmen and as well for the merchants of Nehawka, all of whom are suffering from the closing down.

Nehawka Brotherhood to Organize.

There will be a meeting at the auditorium in Nehawka in a short time to determine whether a Brotherhood for this hustling city can be organized. A number of the members of the Inter-church Brotherhood of Weeping Water will attend, with the ministers of the Methodist and Congregational churches, who will set forth the benefits to be derived by the churches as well as the community in organizing of such a brotherhood.

AN EVEN (?) TRADE

According to the Oregon bulletin, this really happened to the editor of an Oregon newspaper:

For years the editor had given a certain organization a liberal amount of space for club news and announcements of their forthcoming meetings. One day the editor learned that the head of the organization had placed a $17 printing order with a job shop. Upon question as to why the newspaper was not given a chance . . . came the reply! "Well, I'll tell you," said the club president in all seriousness, "we've been giving you all of our news for several years, so we decided it was only fair to divide up and let the other fellow do the printing."

FRANK STRADLEY LANCASTER HUSKING CHAMPION

LINCOLN, Oct. 26 (UP)—Frank Stradley, 29-year-old farmer residing a mile northeast of Havelock, won the Lancaster county cornhusking championship yesterday by tossing 17.14 bushels in his wagon in 50 minutes.

Jack Scheel of Roca, was second, husking 16.1 bushels, and Henry Speil was third with an even 16 bushels.

The contest was held on the Alvin Wilage farm near Kramer and was witnessed by nearly 600 persons.

SIGN UP FOR ELECTRIC SERVICE

YORK, Neb., Oct. 26 (UP)—Approximately 459 rural residents have signed up to use electric service from the lines of the York county public power district, P. B. McMullen, secretary, said today.

McMullen pointed out, however, that because many of the potential customers are scattered over a large territory where the required number of signers per mile cannot be obtained it is probable that only about 300 of the signers can be accommodated.

HONEYMOON IN JAIL

SIoux CITY, Ia., Oct. 26 (UP)—Laverne Revia, 19, and Gladys L. Steele, 18, were celebrating their honeymoon in the Woodbury county jail today.

They were married behind bars yesterday by Brigadier James A. Fookes of the Salvation Army. Revia is a former inmate of the State Boys' Training school at Eldora and was arrested recently on charges of robbery. The bride faces a charge of breaking and entering.

"Personal Rights — and Where They End"

Ecl. 2:1-3, 10, 11; Rom. 6:17-23; 14:21.

We are not much concerned about the author of Ecclesiastes, whether it is Solomon or somebody else; the early church embodied it into the inspired writings, because it portrays and gives a vivid picture of the experience of a man who tried to find enjoyment and satisfaction in the pleasures of the world—without God, and comes to the conclusion that it was just a dream—vanity—a vapor breath. Millions today live like that, chasing after butterflies, baubles. The amassing of wealth is the sole ambition of some, others go in for sport; some indulge in eating and drinking, just to satisfy their desires—never giving thought to the purpose of our life; never stopping to think of the end and the harvest.

The writer of Ecclesiastes holds a monologue with his own heart—like the man in the parable, who talked with himself. (See Luke 12:19). This man finally took to drinking, which made him act foolish
