Labor Federation Outlines Its Legislative Plan

Many Phases to Be Taken Up at Coming Session on Needs of Workers of Nation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—The American Federation of Labor prepared a broad program of labor legislation today to sponsor in the forthcoming session of congress.

The program was outlined at a meeting of representatives of 102 AFL unions together with officials of the "big four" railroad brotherhoods and announced by AFL President Green.

Green also predicted that the senate would fail to confirm the nomination of Donald Wakefield Smith for another term as a member of the national labor relations board. Revealing that he had written letters to all members of the senate for their position on Smith's nomination, Green said:

"I have received replies from virtually all of the senators. I feel, on the basis of the replies, that sentiment against Smith is very strong, in fact preponderant. I believe we can defeat him."

The AFL's legislative program includes:

1. Revision of the national labor relations act.
2. New legislation to aid the railroads—"Whatever recommendations the president's program committee brings out."
3. Revision of the Social Security act to extend its benefits as recommended this week by the Social Security advisory council.
4. Amendment of the fair labor standards act to clarify definitions of learners, beginners and apprentices.
5. Continuation of federal relief on the present scale.
6. Safeguards for labor in national defense legislation.

Green said federation attorneys are "in the last stages" of drafting amendment to the national labor relations act and that they will be presented to congress "with full AFL backing."

The amendments, he said, will contain two major provisions:

1. To take away from the board its present power to determine whether a labor unit will operate as a craft, plant or industrial unit. It would provide for operation of the act in a manner similar to the railroad labor act.
2. Curtailment of the power of the board to void existing contracts between unions and employers.

"Our purpose," he said, "is to guard and protect the fundamental provisions of the act. We stand now as we have always stood for the preservation of the act. Our complaint is against the maladministration of the act."

THREE CROPS IN 70 YEARS

YUTON, Ill. (UP)—A field on the farm of F. J. Basting near here has yielded three crops in the past 70 years with no cultivation. Basting harvested a crop of hedge posts this year which he figures will bring him $6 to $7 an acre. It was the third yield since 1870.

LEGS BALK ON MIND

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Lawrence Krum, 86, discovered that his old legs would not conform to his young ideas when he tried to jump a puddle, misjudged the distance, missed the curb and fell. He suffered lacerations on the forehead as a result of his "puddle-jumping."

DELAWARE GETS SWEDISH FLAG

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP)—Gov. Richard C. McMullen has accepted for the state a Swedish flag which will be flown under the American flag in Christina Park here. The flag, hand made, was sent from Sweden by Mrs. Anna Mard of Stockholm.

Roper Sees a Continuance of Business Turn

Secretary to Leave Post in Commerce Department Friday with Message of Hope to Nation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (UP)—Secretary of Commerce Roper, in his farewell press conference today forecast continuance of a gradual upward trend in business during 1939. Roper's resignation becomes effective at midnight Friday.

"There are several elements of strength in the outlook for 1939 that create a much more hopeful frame of mind than existed at this time last year," he said.

"The increase in the purchasing power of the population in recent months has given a new impetus to the value of domestic trade and is reflected in increased demand for durable as well as consumers non-durable goods."

Terminating more than 27 years service with the federal government Roper said:

"I leave public service with gratitude to all and malice toward none. A number of people have had the thought that I ran this department politically. I don't know what has led to this conception. I have no recollection of ever bringing political pressure for political appointments in this department. My only interest was to develop the department in the interests of foreign and domestic commerce."

DEATH OF HELEN GOULD

ROXBURY, N. Y., Dec. 21 (UP)—Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, 71, the former Helen Gould, philanthropist and daughter of the late Jay Gould, pioneer railroad builder died early today at her home.

She had been ill for two months and in a coma 24 hours after having suffered two apopleptic strokes. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow and again in New York City where she will be buried.

Although she had dispensed with most of the $10,000,000 inherited from her father, who died in 1892, in various charities, she had invested the remainder so judiciously that by 1927 when she resigned as a trustee of the family estate she had tripled her original inheritance. Her first renown came during the Spanish-American war when she was acclaimed a heroine for relief work in the United States and Cuba.

ANTHONY EDEN HOME

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Dec. 21 (UP)—Anthony Eden returned to England from the United States today and said he had learned much of the American viewpoint during his brief visit. Arriving aboard the Queen Mary Eden told interviewers that contrary to popular British belief the American people are greatly interested in world affairs, European events in particular.

"The principal American newspapers give much space to events in Europe," he said, "and the editorials in their best newspapers are both shrewd and realistic in their judgment. He praised the "remarkable service rendered readers of American newspapers particularly about European and far eastern affairs."

FATHER AND TWO SONS ARE BROTHER PROFESSORS

LANCASTER, Pa. (UP)—Franklin and Marshall College's history department has three professors—a father and his two sons.

Dr. H. M. J. Klein, the father and head of the department, has been at F. & M. since 1910. Frederick Schriver Klein has been a member of the faculty since 1929. Philip Schriver Klein joined his father and brother this fall after receiving a Ph.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

BLOODHOUNDS WON'T TRAIL MAN WHO TRAINED THEM

FLORENCE, Ariz. (UP)—James S. Carpenter liked his job as a trusty at the Arizona state prison.

Serving a life sentence for murder, he was assigned to train prison bloodhounds to trail escaped convicts. Recently Carpenter apparently decided the hounds had received sufficient instruction, so rolling a dummy into his bed near the kennels, he crept away during the night. The bloodhounds could not trail him.
