

Filing in January for Unemploy't Compensation

Covered Workers May File Initial Claims for Unemployment Compensation January 3rd.

LINCOLN, Dec. 29 (UP)—Thousands of Nebraska workers who have earned rights to benefits under the Nebraska Unemployment compensation law will file initial claims for unemployment benefits during the week beginning Tuesday, January 3, in twenty offices of the Nebraska State Employment Service.

R. T. Malone, director of the Nebraska unemployment compensation division, stated Wednesday that a fund amounting to $7,025,000 was available for benefit payments. Final plans have been completed for accepting claims and for processing them so that valid claims can be paid promptly and accurately.

Only persons who have worked some period of time since January 1, 1938, for an employer subject to the law are eligible as covered workers for unemployment compensation benefits.

A covered worker must have earned wages for approximately eight weeks of full-time employment under employers subject to the law during the first nine months of 1938, in order to file an initial claim through the state employment service office during the first three months of 1939.

Benefit checks will amount to one-half the worker's recent full-time wage with $15 as a maximum benefit and $5 or three-fourths of the full-time weekly wage, whichever is the lesser, as the minimum. The law provides a maximum of sixteen weeks of benefits in any consecutive fifty-two week period. No claimant can draw any more than $240 in any one year.

Types of employment not covered by the Nebraska law include agricultural labor, domestic services in private homes, services performed as officers or crew of a vessel on navigable waters, services performed by designated members of one's family, services performed for a religious, educational, charitable, or scientific institution, non-profit in character, and services performed for federal, state, county, or municipal governments or any political subdivision thereof.

Offices of the Nebraska State Employment Service are located at the following points: Alliance, Beatrice, Chadron, Columbus, Falls City, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Holdrege, Kearney, Lincoln (138 No. 11th St.), McCook, Minden, Nebraska City, Norfolk, North Platte, Ogallala, Omaha (210 So. 18th St.), Plattsmouth and Scottsbluff.

The following information concerning the Nebraska law is given so that benefit claimants may know who is eligible for benefits:

1. The person filing a benefit claim must be totally unemployed and able to work and available for work. He must have worked for an employer subject to the law for some time since January 1, 1938.

2. After January 1, 1939, any Nebraska worker covered by the law who becomes unemployed should secure a separation notice from his employer. These separation notices will not be required of eligible claimants who became unemployed during 1938.

3. The claimant should apply for work at once when unemployed at the nearest office of the Nebraska State Employment Service or write for instructions, if no employment service office is located in your city.

4. He must file his claim for benefits in the State Employment Service office or with a representative of the Employment Service. Claimants should produce Social Security account numbers when filing claims for benefits and must report back to the State Employment office once each week while unemployed.

5. After a claim is filed, the claimant must be totally unemployed for a waiting period of at least two weeks. During that time an effort will be made to secure a job for him, and his claim will be examined. Both the claimant and his employer will be notified concerning the disposition of the claim.

6. If either the worker or employer is dissatisfied with the ruling on the claim, a claims deputy will review the claim or it will be reviewed by an Appeals Tribunal.

7. A claimant will receive his first benefit check by mail at his last known address from the state unemployment compensation division if his claim is valid, some time during the fourth week after his claim was filed.

A worker may be penalized for the following reasons: Leaving work voluntarily without good cause; being discharged for misconduct in connection with his work; refusing without good cause to apply for or accept suitable work, or to return to customary self-employment.

A worker may also be temporarily disqualified from receiving unemployment compensation benefits if he is a member of an organization directly participating in a strike, or if he is drawing workmen's compensation or various types of federal benefits or pensions. Workers on federal WPA projects are considered as in employment and may not file claims for benefits while they are so employed.

Bandits Rob Co. Treasurer at Glenwood

Seeing Office Blinds Drawn County Treasurer Investigates and Is Captured by Bandits.

GLENWOOD, Ia., Dec. 29 (UP)—Two bandits held up the Mills county treasurer's office at 12:30 a. m. today and escaped with $1,700.

The robbery was discovered by County Treasurer Maurice Mayberry who passed the court house as he was returning from a lodge meeting shortly after midnight. Mayberry noticed that the blinds in the treasurer's office were drawn. It has been the custom, he said, for deputies working at night to raise the blinds and leave a light burning before the vault when they went home. Noticing that the room was dark Mayberry investigated.

He found the glass broken in the door to the treasurer's office. Entering the room he encountered two men, who forced him at the point of a gun to open the vault. The men took approximately $1,700 in silver and currency. After binding Mayberry the men locked him in the vault. He was able to free himself in about an hour and gave the alarm. The men worked with flashlights, Mayberry said and he was able to give only a scant description of the bandits, one of whom he said was tall and the other short.

TYLER TALKS ON UTILITIES

LINCOLN, Dec. 29 (UP)—Varroe Tyler, city attorney of Nebraska City in an address to the municipalities section of the Nebraska State Bar association today expressed an opinion that "after the public power districts acquire distribution systems in various towns they will make a determined effort to seek establishment of a state utilities commission which would control all utility rates."

"This would tend to level off electric rates so that rates charged in towns where distribution lines have been purchased by the districts and of municipal plants would be about the same. That is the real danger we are facing."

This statement came at the close of a prepared speech on the power of cities to control rates to be charged by the power districts. He concluded that the cities have no such power.

AAA Payments are Suspended in Iowa County

On Account of "Irregularities" Alleged in the Making of Corn Acreage Allotments.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (UP)—Agriculture administration officials reported today that all AAA payments and loans have been suspended in Muscatine county, Iowa, after alleged "irregularities" were discovered in the making of corn acreage allotments.

Harry Schooler, assistant AAA north central division director, said the investigation began last Wednesday and already has uncovered instances of partiality by the county committee in the making of acreage allotments last spring.

"We directed the state AAA committee to investigate the county committee after we received a number of complaints by farmers alleging that the county committee had favored personal friends in the making of allotments," Schooler said.

He said that when it became apparent that the charges would be substantiated at least in some instances, it was decided to "withhold all AAA monies from the county until the whole thing has been cleared up."

He said that the farmers not involved would not lose anything but a temporary withholding of payments and loans. Officials declined to discuss what action will be taken against the county committee and farmers which it allegedly favored if the charges are proved true.

TREASURER'S OFFICE BUSY

From Saturday's Daily—Today marks the last day of the non-interest tax law and has brought a large number of people to the office of County Treasurer John E. Turner to square up delinquent tax accounts before the interest is put back on beginning January 1st.

Clerks were busy all day writing receipts as rapidly as possible, and the receipts for the day will amount to a large sum.

The law has been in force since March 19, 1937, when interest started running anew on the delinquencies at 7 per cent, but up until the last two weeks, payments have been slow.

On payments made this week the new interest from the date the law was passed has run up to 12 1/2 per cent, but with taxes back as far as 1929, the interest charge for that year, effective as soon as the law expires will be approximately 74 per cent, or an increase of 61 1/2 per cent for failing to get in under the present law.

The interest-saving statute applies to both real and personal taxes and the City of Plattsmouth also passed an ordinance, which likewise expires after midnight tonight, providing for remission of penalty interest on delinquent special improvement assessments.

Mr. Turner has published advertisements the past few weeks warning of the expiration date of these interest-saving measures and also notified personally many of the larger amount delinquents so they might be able to effect the saving and clean up their tax before the high interest is restored.

Public Works Program in State 'Over the Top'

Beats January 1 Deadline With the Largest Amount of Public Works Under Contract.

OMAHA, Dec. 31 (UP)—The 1938 public works program in this region was "over the top" today, having beaten a Jan. 1 starting deadline and breaking all records for the amount of public construction put under contract in so limited a time.

Regional PWA Director R. A. Radford reported to Administrator Ickes that as of Dec. 31, the time limit set by congress for the beginning of work on 1938 PWA projects, all of the projects which legally could be started in this eight-state area actually are under way. Dirt was flying on 1,009 public works jobs costing an estimated $140,000,000 in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Minnesota, Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas.

A last minute burst of activity pushed the program already far ahead of schedule, to the second point in the three-point plan.

The 1938 projects now under way, including a wide variety of types of useful public construction by states follows: Iowa, 226; Nebraska, 86; Minnesota, 270; Missouri 247; Montana, 46; North Dakota, 68; South Dakota 43, and Wyoming 22.

"Every project on which construction legally could be started by Jan. 1 in PWA Region No. 4 now is underway," Radford said. "Sponsoring communities in eight states have cooperated wholeheartedly in speeding their plans to construction stages. All of the 1,009 jobs have gotten under way in the six months since President Roosevelt signed the PWA act. Some few small projects already have been completed."

The 1,009 projects winning final approval were sifted from 1,828 applications received which would have cost more than $273,000,000. Radford predicted all of the work will be completed within the limit of June 30, 1940.
