Ickes Gives His Views on Freedom of Press

Secretary of the Interior Attacks Many Publishers as to Attitude on Public Events.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes reaffirmed his stand last night that the press is controlled by advertisers and charged that newspaper publishers "can dish it out but cannot take it."

He spoke before the third annual conference of the National Lawyers Guild on the subject, "Freedom is as Freedom Does." He said that "owing to economic tie-ups, our press is not as free as it should be in a democracy"

At that time he said that a section of the press has financial affiliations which limit its freedom; that the press is influenced by advertisers; and that it is unfair to certain groups of citizens, especially workmen.

These specific charges should have been met, if possible, with specific refutations," he said. "But how did the press react to my criticism, which was made with a feeling of genuine concern for the public interest? To begin with, without even attempting to meet my points, except in one instance, my opponent immediately began to shout 'unfair' and a good portion of the press followed his lead. To prove how 'fair' they are the newspapers proceeded to throw dust in their readers' eyes.

TO ISSUE FORECASTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (UP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau, which is 69 years old today, is planning to issue four instead of two daily forecasts.

Commander Francis W. Reichelderfer, new bureau chief who was to congress and is contingent on granting an increase of $100,000 in the bureau's budget for the year beginning July 1.

With the 305 weather observation stations reporting every six hours, instead of every 12, the accuracy of forecasts could be increased considerably above the present 85 to 90 per cent," Reichelderfer said.

The more frequent reports would transferred from the navy, revealed enable the weatherman to give earlier warnings of storms, rains, cold waves and other weather changes, he said.
