Uncle Zeke says--

THERE are merchants in every town who carry home made goods and keep them out in plain sight, where the public can get them.

THERE are also a few merchants who keep home products out of sight while they display out of town goods in a prominent place and push their sale, all because of an extra cent or two in profit.

THE MORAL is to trade with merchants who display and sell home products. They are helping your town and community, and in doing so are helping YOU and me.

Social Security Carries on Huge Job in Nebraska

Lincoln Office of the Social Security Board Cares for Some 76,000 Employees in State.

Looking after the old-age insurance problems and questions of more than 76,000 employees and many thousands of employers in Nebraska is the job of the social security board in Lincoln.

This job is done by a staff of six federal civil service employees, under the direction of Leo W. Smith, manager of the office.

The Lincoln office district covers 16,372 square miles in which 76,955 wage-earners reside who are partially or fully covered by old-age insurance. Opened on December 30, 1936, the office is the old-age insurance headquarters for 29 counties in southeastern Nebraska.

During 1938, the office forwarded 355 old-age insurance claims to Washington for adjudication. These claims are for single cash benefits to commercial and industrial workers who have reached age 65 or to the families or estates of deceased workers. The amount of the benefit equals 3 1/2 per cent of the wages earned by the employee between January 1, 1937, and his 65th birthday or death.

In addition, the office issued 18,057 social security numbers to wage-earners in 1938. Social security numbers are required of all workers who are employed in commercial or industrial work either on a permanent or temporary basis or on full-time or part-time.

Counties served by the office are Adams, Butler, Cass, Clay, Fillmore, Gage, Greeley, Hall, Hamilton, Jefferson, Johnson, Lancaster, Merrick, Nance, Nemaha, Nuckolls, Otoe, Pawnee, Polk, Richardson, Saline, Saunders, Seward, Sherman, Thayer, Valley, Webster and York.

MORE STRICT RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (UP)—Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer Andrews will place in effect March 15 more strict regulations governing the keeping of industrial homework records.

Faced with an increasing amount of homework since the wage-hour act became effective, Andrews said that the new regulations "will at least test the practicability of this kind of control of industrial homework." The rules will be effective for a six months trial period.

In his first annual report to the homework problem particularly in Porto Rico he said it might be necessary to prohibit homework if regulations fail.

He defined as an industrial homeworker persons producing in or about a home, for an employer, goods from materials furnished directly by or indirectly from such employer.
