

Murray

Earl Merritt and wife were business callers in Plattsmouth Monday, and also visited friends there.

Frank Mrasek was looking after some business in Nehawka last Monday, also meeting his many friends there.

Tommy Troop of southwest of town was visiting in Plattsmouth last Saturday morning, looking after some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seybolt were in Omaha last Saturday visiting a dental parlor where Mrs. Seybolt was having some dental work done.

Albert Bartlett was sick with the grippe for a number of days the past week but with the beginning of this week was better and was out again.

Mrs. Lloyd Lewis has been at Plattsmouth during the past week, caring for her mother, Mrs. E. M. Godwin, who is very ill at her home there.

Mrs. Addie Park is in charge of the Murray public library during the month of March, keeping the rooms open and looking after the exchange of books for borrowers.

Charles M. Read who has been suffering from sinus trouble for some time, accompanied by the family physician, Dr. R. W. Tyson, visited a specialist in Omaha regarding the trouble.

Mrs. Victor Wehrlein has been having a siege of the flu which has kept her in bed for some time. However she has been showing good improvement and is able to be up and about again.

Earl Merritt has an ad in today's Journal calling attention to the fact that he is prepared to do your paperhanging and painting. Spring is near at hand and now is the time to have your work done.

Thomas Tilson and son Burr were in Nehawka last Monday looking after some business. Burr has accepted a position with the Clarence Hansen garage as mechanic and expects to go to work in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Creamer who recently moved from the Mrs. Mary Mast place southwest of Murray to a farm southeast of Murray, were visiting their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop last Monday morning.

Mrs. Esther Rhoden, teacher of the Mount Hope school who was so seriously ill that she was not able to teach school last week, is now better and was able to take up her school work the beginning of this week.

Martin L. Ruby of McCook, called to Mynard by the passing of his grandson, Martin Fred Ruby, coming to attend the funeral and burial, was also visiting while here with a number of friends in Murray and Plattsmouth.

With the moving of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Creamer out of the neighborhood their daughter, Miss Dorothy, a student in the Nehawka schools, is staying with Mrs. Clara Murdoch for the remainder of the school year and attend the school.

Eugene Fitch and family were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Merritt last Saturday, later going to Plattsmouth to look after business matters during the afternoon. Edward Lewis of Union was also a guest at the Merritt home for dinner the same day.

W. H. Porter of Union was a visitor in Murray Monday, coming to attend the sale of James Miller, which had been advertised for Monday of this week, but after finding there was no sale as advertised, as Mr. Miller had secured a farm and concluded to remain and farm for himself.

There were also many other people who came to attend the sale and were disappointed and like Mr. Porter had to return to their homes.

Arch Poynter, who had negotiated to secure a residence in Weeping Water, someone else getting the place he had in view, was not able to move to Weeping Water and still remains a citizen of Murray.

Noninees for Town Board
With the terms of two members of the town board expiring May 1st, a total of six have been nominated as candidates at the April 4th election. Those selected by the caucus held last week are J. A. Scotten and Earl Merritt, incumbents, George E. Nickles, E. S. Tutt, Font T. Wilson and Robert Weston.

Rents Farm; Calls Off Sale
James B. Miller, who has been farming a few miles west of Murray, after being unable to locate a farm for the coming year, concluded to hold a sale of his equipment and had the Journal print bills for the same. A few days later he was able to rent a farm near Talmage and so called off the sale which was to have been held Monday. On Tuesday Frank Mrasek moved his goods and farming implements to the new location.

Honored Their Daughter by Dance
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lutz honored their daughter, Miss Marie, last Friday, which marked her birthday anniversary, by giving a social dance at the Murray hall. A large number of young people of the community were present and a fine time was had by all.

Old Blue Crossed River
Lloyd Lewis had a hunch to try his luck in hunting fox and taking the dog of his son, Robert, known as Old Blue, they scared up a fox. As the trail grew warmer the fox took to the ice on the Missouri and headed for Iowa. Old Blue, undaunted, followed close behind and soon both were lost to sight in the tall corn state. How the chase came out no one knows, but the dog had not returned three days later, Mr. Lewis first thought to insert a want ad in the paper, but knowing Old Blue could not read, he concluded to let the matter drop.

Working on Well Again
The Layne-Western company that is under contract to supply a well for the new waterworks system in Murray, is again working on the old well which proved insufficient on a pumping test. The well was 20 inches in diameter and cased. Now the casing will be pulled and the size increased to 40 inches in diameter, as well as 40 feet deeper. The experts of the company believe this should bring an adequate water supply to meet all tests. By enlarging the size to 40 inches they will be able to go through the rock strata that was encountered at the bottom of the present one and which prevented going deeper with the 20-inch shaft.

Moved to Nickel Place.
Mr. and Mrs. Ray John Frizell and son Henry of Weeping Water came over and moved the household goods and farming machinery of Ray Creamer and family to their new home for the summer, the Wm. Nickle estate over beyond the highway. Mr. Creamer is son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Frizelle.

a car from the west driven by a woman and one from the east driven by a man, both moving at a fair rate of speed. There was not enough room for the car going east to pass between the parked car and the other auto and the brakes were applied, the car skidding into the parked car of Mr. Lancaster, tearing off the spare wheel and damaging the fenders and swerved into the other car coming up the hill. There were no personal injuries and the damage to all the automobiles was not great, but still will cost somewhat to put the cars in condition again.

Move to Murray.
Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Deles Dernier, who have been farming the past few years a few miles southwest of Murray, not being able to secure a farm for the present season, held a sale recently, disposing of the farming equipment and recently moved to Murray, now being located in the Mrs. Jennie Jenkins property on the north side of Main street.

Sale Is Called Off.
James B. Miller, making his home a few miles west of town, where he has farmed, was not able to retain the farm and after making an effort to secure another farm and not succeeding in getting a place decided to hold a sale and discontinue farming until such a time as he might secure a farm. Bills were posted for the sale which was to have been Monday, March 6th. However late last week Mr. Miller was able to secure a farm near Talmage and called the sale off, and while many came to attend there was no sale.

Visits in Lincoln.
Elbert Kell was a visitor in Lincoln last Sunday with a friend. He reports no snow there, while it is snowing here quite lively. As Elbert came toward Murray there appeared much snow and he found it necessary to stop and put on his chains in order to get home. It is hoped that the moisture in the recent snows will insure a bountiful crop for the coming summer.

Etta-Belle Beauty Shop Moves to New Quarters

Move to Former Suite Occupied by Dr. Molak in Soennichsen Building—A Neat Shop.

From Monday's Daily—
The new quarters arranged in the Soennichsen building for the Etta Belle beauty shop, which are now being made ready for use and today the moving and arranging of the rooms were being made under the supervision of Miss Etta Nickles, the owner.

The new shop is next door to the former location on the second floor of the building and is a very light and attractive place both for the operating rooms and the cozy waiting room.

Tones of Ivory furnish the color scheme of the settings, the work tables, chairs and all being in this tone.

The floor of the operating room is a very attractive tint of ivory and brighter colors of linoleum and in the waiting rooms a checked pattern of red adds to the brightness of the room.

Colored cushions on the ivory chairs adds a very pretty touch to the rooms.

Venetian blinds are to be placed at the windows and complete a most attractive and comfortable shop for both the operators and the patrons.

It is expected that in the next few days the arranging of the office will be complete and will be a fine addition to the attractive places of business in the city.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, March 12th By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"Peter Delivered from Prison" Acts 12:5-17.

We study today one of the outstanding experiences of this remarkable man. All the circumstances and events in this narrative are thrilling and momentous; every detail is significant. First, we notice the parties in the plot to kill Peter; Herod Agrippa I, grandson of Herod the Great, then the clan of the Pharisees, both of these start the persecution of the Christian church, who had a space of some eight years of peace, and was growing strong. The leader of the church at Jerusalem was the first martyr of the apostles. When Herod saw it pleased the people, he decided to give them another "show." So he ordered the arrest of Peter.

It being the preparation for the Passover when every Jew was busy, Herod promised them a great treat the next day, and the expectations of the people were at high pitch. What a great time they would have the next day, when they would see the head of another Christian roll in the dust, as they had a few days before. It was all the talk as they ate the passover; no one slept that night but Peter and the watchmen.

Next we see what takes place on the part of God and the church. First, we take note of Peter as he prepares for his last night, chained to two soldiers. He says his prayers, commits his soul into the hands of God, undresses and bids his watchers goodnight and goes to sleep.

Thus every child of God goes into the night, and in the morning says David: "I laid me down to sleep; I waked, for the Lord sustained me." (Ps. 3:5). The blessed assurance that God never sleeps nor slumbers. The castle of Antonia with Peter in it is well guarded and protected; the watch of sixteen soldiers sees to that.

In another part of Jerusalem is a band of earnest disciples keeping a watch night; they are much troubled, they have lost their leader and are about to lose another on the morrow. They do the only thing they can do, take their trouble to the Lord in prayer. Had they prayed for James? We don't know. Are they praying for Peter's release? Hardly! There was no escaping from Peter's prison. But God can give Peter comfort and sustaining grace, to die as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. All night petitions go up to the throne of grace.

Does God hear and answer prayer? In the last watch of the night God is getting busy; an angel is receiving orders to release Peter. He is there on time—enters noiselessly and wakes Peter. Awakened the sleeper, the angel orders him to dress and follow. Prison walls and keepers cannot hold God's children. Think of Jeremiah, Daniel and others. We have an all-powerful God, who is able to deliver.

Man in his unregenerated state is a real type of Peter chained in prison; there is no power on earth that can free him—but the Almighty God—and it takes the combined power of God and man to get out of the power of Satan, who is reluctant to give up his victim. In this case God did his part and Peter did his part. The result was a man free and willing to serve his Master.

Peter was a good sleeper, one the mount of transfiguration, in Gethsemane and in prison. The soldiers were also good sleepers. We marvel at the simple way in which Peter was set free. But trust God—he invariably finds a way of escape.

We go with Peter to Mary's home. It's the upper room, the pentecostal chamber, the first Christian church. The watchful Rhoda is the first to hear Peter's voice. Was she expecting Peter? Was she to guard against interruption? We do not know, but she filled her place and done her work well; as a good watcher, she did not sleep.

Peter could pass an iron gate, but was halted at a little wooden gate. Knocking brought no response; nor is Rhoda believed by the prayer-group, but she goes and brings the evidence. This would be proof that prayers were not offered for Peter's release. God always gives more than we ask for.

The company is amazed when they see Peter, who briefly relates his release from prison, and takes his departure; we are not told where he went, but assuredly he left the city. This happened only 14 years after Pentecost. Peter's work was not done. God had much work for him yet.

Returning to Herod, who could not put on the promised show, he packed his grip and stole away to Caesarea, ashamed to show himself to the people. In this same year came his end; 54 years old, he was eaten of worms, and in five days was dead, just as his grandfather had died. Peter could go on and sing with Ira D. Sankey:

"Under his wings, I am safely abiding;
Tho' the night deepens and tempests grow wild;
Still I can trust Him; I know He will keep me;
He has redeemed me and I am His child."

Peter could relate this experience for the strengthening of his brethren in later years.
