SUMMER AHEAD—Traditional springtime activity in the boatyards herald the coming of another summer as the nation's recreational fleet is made ready for a new season. These yachtsmen, shown caulking seams and removing covers from their craft, are but two of America's pleasure boat enthusiasts who in the next two months will spend more than $15,000,000 in new marine engines, paints, fittings and other nautical supplies.

WHAT PRICE PUBLICITY!
Pat O'Hara, 18, keeping warm in a bathing suit, is sledding her way to fame in Kansas City as a member of the Polar Bear Club. Despite temperature near zero and the abbreviated costume, she didn't get blue or goose-pimpled. But she did fail to say whether she was a night club performer or under contract to a movie company.

OH, REALLY!—Thomas E. Dewey, spectacular young crusading district attorney of New York, provided this unusual camera study during a press interview in his home. Dewey's success as a prosecutor and the hard fight he gave Herbert H. Lehman in the last gubernatorial election in New York has sent Dewey's stock soaring for the Republican presidential nomination in 1940.

WASH DAY WISDOM—The efficiency of the Washington University Huskies on the water apparently is continued in the crew boathouse on wash day. Here Margaret Welch, Wellesley College beauty, is enthroned on a home laundry which turns out—like an automaton—clean clothes for Coach Alvin Ulbricksen (left) and Don Hume, Olympic stroke. The Washington crews work hard, but Miss Welch merely set a couple of dials to run the home laundry, an all-automatic invention bearing the name of Vincent Bendix, noted precision equipment leader. The machine did the rest, even to the damp-drying of the clothes for the line.

MIAMI MOVES UP TO MONTAUK—Beach styles change with the seasons, and with the closing of the winter migrations to Florida the fashions are set on Long Island. Here a charming resort commuter displays the sun hat she will wear at Montauk this summer.

WHO IS THE MOTHER?—Here's a birthday puzzle difficult to solve. The young lady on the right is the mother, Mrs. Anna Palmer Wheeler of Coxsackie, New York, the oldest woman in the state, who is looking over congratulatory messages on her 106th birthday with her daughter, Miss Annette Wheeler, who has just turned 50 years.

SPLASHIN' NOTE—Judy Lane, Hollywood playsuit designer, models a new bathing costume. Here she wears a dubonette and white suit, a tri-cornered bandana, cork sole beach clogs and white straps and bows.

BLIND COLLEGE WRESTLER HONORED—Robert George Allman (left), captain of the University of Pennsylvania wrestling team, receives the Class of 1915 Award from Charles Y. Fox, Jr., president of the '15 alumni. Allman, blind since he was five years old, won the trophy for character, personality, scholastic standing and athletic ability.

TENNIS CHAMPION PREPS FOR WIMBLEDON—Alice Marble, blonde glamour girl and holder of the national women's singles, doubles and mixed doubles titles in tennis, practices at Pasadena, California for the Wimbledon championship tourney in England this summer.

A GEM OF THE OCEAN—The 32,600-ton battleship Arizona, one of the formidable units of the combined U. S. fleets participating in naval maneuvers in the Caribbean, ploughs her bow into rolling water "somewhere at sea." Navy expansion plans are moving forward rapidly in Washington, while basic industries get ready to supply the raw materials. The government, mindful of a need for steady production, is helping some industries with import taxes and tariffs against cheap foreign competition, notably in the case of vital copper.

GLASS CENTER AT WORLD'S FAIR—A huge glass block tower with its fins of blue glass and a spiral helix identify the Glass Center, colorful attraction of the New York World's Fair. The huge column and the helix, to be illuminated by night, can be seen from every part of the Fair and for miles around.
