PROJECT CLUB PROGRAMS
Four hundred and fifty women attended the project club achievement programs at Elmwood and Nehawka, the past two weeks. Reading and music skits exemplifying the work that they have carried on in music and reading, along with their regular subject matter discussions, were a major part of the programs. Music by the County Rural Women's chorus, a recognition and installation service for club officers conducted by the home agent, and community singing were other features of the program which was followed by a social hour. The hostess group, with the group chairmen, were responsible for the social hour, and the other groups were responsible for the program.

Group chairmen elected for the coming year are: Mrs. Alvin Bornemeier, Murdock; Mrs. Harry Fischer, Eagle; Miss Rosemary John, Elmwood; Mrs. Clarence Ackles, Louisville; Mrs. Neil Munkers, Weeping Water; and Mrs. John West, Plattsmouth. Mrs. Ralph Keckler, Weeping Water, was re-elected to serve as county chairman next year.

A large exhibit of articles made by the women as handicraft, or as hobbies, were on display at both achievements and a very nice collection was selected by the committee to be sent as Cass county's exhibit to the State Council meeting in Fremont in June.

FINE MUSICAL TREAT

In the presentation of the Peru Singers under the direction of Mr. G. H. Steck at the Methodist church Sunday evening the Methodist choir is to be congratulated. A large audience was delightfully entertained and spiritually uplifted.

Explanatory remarks by Mr. Steck relative to the compositions were given preceding each group of songs and were much appreciated by the audience.

The group of five chorals by Bach was enthusiastically received.

Five gypsy songs by Brahms were delicately rendered and delighted the audience.

The Motet for five part choir, "Jesus, Priceless Treasure," by Bach, dates from the 14th century and is much used in Catholic churches. It is beautiful and difficult and the rendition was much appreciated by the listeners.

The program closed by the group singing Echo Song by Orlando di Lasso, Deep River by Burleigh and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot by Huntley.

Mr. Burton Evans, tenor, sang Angels Ever Bright and Fair by Handel and was enthusiastically received.

It is hoped the Peru Singers will visit Plattsmouth again. Miss Virginia Trively, who is a student at Peru, was one of the group.

THOUSANDS VIEW ORCHARDS
Travel through this city over highway No. 75 Sunday was the heaviest that has been seen for many months and from 11 in the morning until late in the afternoon there was almost a continuous line of cars going southward, most of the cars being from Omaha and Douglas county.

The caravan was bound for the apple orchards of southeastern Nebraska which are now beautiful with the freshness of the blooms and the rich perfume of the blossoms that makes the trip truly one into a fairyland.

The traffic continued heavy thru out the evening as the pleasure seekers were en route homeward.

Restaurants and taverns here did a very thriving business until late in the evening from the tourists.

Additional means of avoiding audience disturbance and of insuring orderly handling of the play-goers will include complete doorkeeper and usher service, and reserve seats. The reserved seats will go on sale, downtown, a few days before the play.

Anyone who is late for the Thursday night performance may either wait for the next intermission in the play or exchange his ticket for a Friday evening ticket.

THRESHING MACHINE NOTICES
Although the small grain harvest is weeks away, Cass county farmers are reminded this week that the Nebraska weed law makes it necessary to post notices on combines and threshing machines concerning regulations of cleaning machines after threshing.

The law requires that approved notices must be placed on the respective machines before they are put into operation. This is done in an effort to decrease the spread of bindweed and other noxious weeds. Threshing machines, combines, wagons, trucks and other equipment, according to the law, must be cleaned immediately after completing the harvest of grain on farms infested with bindweed, puncture vine, leafy spurge, Canada thistle, or other noxious weeds.

TO PLAY ELMWOOD
The Plattsmouth Merchants baseball team are to play the Elmwood team here next Sunday afternoon, the management of the locals announces. The Elmwood team is one of the best in the west part of the county and should give the fans an opportunity of seeing the locals in action against some stiff competition.

OMAHA PARTIES MARRIED
Saturday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Lawson was performed the marriage ceremony for Vernon Herman Laskar and Ruth Jane Waldo, of Omaha. The marriage lines were read by Rev. Lawson and the ceremony witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grothe.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS AT SERVICE
The members of Bethel No. 24 of the Job's Daughters of this city were in attendance at the morning services at the First Methodist church Sunday. The officers and members of the group occupied reserved seats in the church. "Taking the Wrong Turn" was the theme of a very inspiring sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Lawson.

RESCUES OMAHA GIRL
Sunday brought out a number of swimmers to enjoy a dip at the sand pits north of this city to enjoy the cooling waters. Several were here from Omaha and during the afternoon one of the young girl swimmers had a close call from drowning in the waters. She was seen to be sinking in the waters and James Jones, local high school student, who was nearby came to the rescue and brought the girl on into the beach.

ATTEND CONVENTION
Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Taenzler, Mrs. J. H. Graves, and Mrs. J. R. Stine, teachers in the Bible school of the First Christian church, were at York Tuesday where they attended the state Sunday school convention in that city. They were the chosen delegates from Plattsmouth and delegates from most every county in the state were present.

GOES TO CALIFORNIA
Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Duda and children, Fountaine and Fritz, were here over the week end at the home of Mr. Duda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Duda, also visiting with the many old time friends. They are moving to Long Beach, California, where Mr. Duda will have a position as district manager of the Jewel Tea Co., in the southern part of California.

ATTEND FUNERAL
Mr. and Mrs. John Bajeck and Mrs. Lillian Livingston and son, John Benton Livingston, were at Ashland Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of the late Charles Campbell, long time resident of South Bend. The services were held at the Methodist church at Ashland and interment was in the cemetery there.

Platters Win 11 to 4 from the Papillion Team
Locals Show Hitting Ability Back of Fine Pitching of Sedlak—Hayes, Phillips Hit Homers.
The Platters Tuesday afternoon took their second game of the season from the Papillion crew by the score of 11 to 4 to make their third straight victory since the start of the season.

The Platters team showed much better in all departments of the game than their opponents and improved hitting looked good for the future success of the blue and white.

Stuart Sedlak received the nod to the mound and pitched a good game throughout the seven inning battle and only in the third and fifth did the visitors warm up to any extent to the hurling of "Stub."

The Platters opened the scoring early in the game, massing three runs in their half of the first inning. Ed Smith was safe at the initial sack on a bobble and was followed by Jimmie Jones, local catcher who rapped the pill for two bags and brought Smith home. Jones later scored on the single of John Jacobs. Phillips was walked but was caught on a steal at third base as Jacobs scored.

In the second stanza Pappio had two on with a walk and a pass but Sedlak whiffed Becker and Cordes and Jones threw Lienemann out at first base. The Platters in their half of the inning secured one run in the three base smash of Sedlak and who was scored by Smith on his sharp hit to left.

With the score standing 7 to 4 for the locals in the sixth inning, they again started the old merry-go-round that netted them four runs over the last man was dusted out. Ed Smith hit safely and was followed by Jones who again doubled and on which Smith came home but Jones was trapped between second and third for an out. "Jake," who performed at third base for the locals, hit sharply to right field and later was able to steal second and third and from where he scored on the poke of Hayes, Joe Phillips ended the scoring of the play with a hard blow to deep center that was good for a home run and scoring Hayes ahead of him.

All of the team played a nice fielding game and which served to nip the visitors of possible runs.

The box score of the game was as follows:

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The annual Plattsmouth high school senior class play will be presented for the approval of Cass county play-goers on May 11 and 12.

An unusually interesting play has been selected by the senior class, the mysterious, melodramatic farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate." This play has been an audience favorite for twenty-five years as is attested by the fact that the royalty has never been less than $50 per night during the period from 1914 up to this year.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is excellent entertainment. In order to guarantee that the play will lose nothing in its local presentation several improvements are being instituted in the handling of the cast and of the audience.

A complete double cast has been rehearsing lines for two weeks. This means that twenty-six seniors are getting dramatic training and experience. It also means that, should one member be unable to perform, the other can play both nights with no inconvenience to anyone. The director, Milo W. Price, is requiring that the players must know all lines a week before the play is given. This is not a bluff; many of the cast knew all lines last week. Those who do not know their lines by the end of this week will be dropped from the cast. Among those who already know their lines, some real dramatic talent is already being displayed.

In order to make the play effective two upstairs rooms with hallway and stairs have been constructed on the high school stage. The setting is the lobby of a summer resort inn, during the winter season.

The cast and director are particularly desirous that the public understand and approve some changes relative to the handling of the audience this year.

The effect of any play is partially spoiled by the disturbance of late arrivals; the effect of this type of carefully written mystery is almost destroyed by such distractions. In order to protect the excellence of the play and insure effective audience reception, no one will be allowed to enter the auditorium while the play is in progress. After the fifteen minute prologue the late comers will be seated.

Additional means of avoiding audience disturbance and of insuring orderly handling of the play-goers will include complete doorkeeper and usher service, and reserve seats. The reserved seats will go on sale, downtown, a few days before the play.

Anyone who is late for the Thursday night performance may either wait for the next intermission in the play or exchange his ticket for a Friday evening ticket.
