

Elmwood News

Frank Gillett, of Lincoln, was visiting his parents here Tuesday and looking after business.

Wm. Harley, who has not been in the best of health for some time, has been confined to his home for the past ten days or more.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gonzales and Mrs. Emily Gonzales were at Crete last Sunday, where they spent the day as guests of relatives.

Mrs. Thessie Kelley, proprietor of Mom's Pantry, has installed an electric refrigerator for the keeping of soft drinks and foodstuffs cold.

Ray Brockhage of Lincoln and Ernest Puls of Yutan were looking after business matters in Elmwood last Tuesday and were visiting with friends.

Ronald Schlichtemeier was called to Lincoln last Tuesday, going to secure some parts with which to complete work which he had in his repair shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Greene drove to Omaha Tuesday morning, where they met their daughter, Denise and Andrew Jensen of Chicago, who will be their guests.

Among those who attended the funeral of "Grandma" Turner here Monday were her grandson John E. Turner and family, Homer Sylvester and wife, Mrs. Lora Lloyd Kieck and C. E. Ledgway, all of Plattsmouth.

Mesdames E. O. Listen, T. H. Greene, Willard Clapp, Bess Streeter Aldrich, Meyers Totman, R. W. Greene, Guy Orley and Vernon Clements were luncheon guests of Mrs. Ralph Keckler Wednesday in Weeping Water.

The fascinating game of croquet has grabbed the interest of the men and boys of the community to such an extent that other sports seem to have lost their interest, and there is a good crowd not alone to play the game, but as well to watch it.

Miss Catherine West, who has been making her home in Lincoln, where she is employed, spent a short time here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles West, and enjoyed renewing acquaintance with her many young friends here.

Charles H. Gerbeling, who has been making his home at Grand Island with a daughter during the winter, returned home last week and has been a guest at the home of his son, Floyd Gerbeling, at Plattsmouth. He was a caller in Elmwood last Sunday.

Wabash News

E. M. Marshall, of Weeping Water, looked after business connected with his land holdings in this vicinity last Tuesday.

Lester Bosworth was looking after business in Omaha Monday, making the trip with his friend, Frank Marshall on the truck.

William Rueter and son were busy Wednesday shelling the 1938 corn crop of P. H. Clarke. The grain was being delivered to the Marshall elevator here.

Frank Marshall delivered a truck load of cattle to Omaha Tuesday of last week for Hobart Hensen, which brought the owner a very satisfactory return.

Henry Rueter, of Grand Junction, Iowa, was called here to look after business matters and was a guest at the home of his brother, Will Rueter and family last Saturday and Sunday.

Among those from Wabash and vicinity who were at Nebraska City Sunday to observe the apple blossom were Henry H. Gerbeling and wife, Frank Colbert and wife and Ralph Richards and family.

Vernon Cardwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cardwell, who has been having considerable trouble with his teeth, accompanied his mother to the office of a dentist last Tuesday and had the offending molars removed.

Sherman Hardaway who manages to keep busy during his spare time, last week overhauled a radio that had ceased to work, and now has it at the store bringing in the news and other programs for the benefit of all who pause to listen.

Frank Marshall took a day off last Friday and went to Omaha to join the huge crowd of spectators at the Golden Spike days celebration. He said it ranked in magnitude and color with the first national convention of the American Legion shortly after the World war.

H. H. Gerbeling was busy planting his corn the latter part of the week after having gotten the ground in good shape. He is farming only about 25 acres this year, but, as usual, was desirous of getting off to an early start, and is now hoping there will be ample rainfall to carry the crop through to maturity this year.

Four children blessed this union, one dying in infancy. The three surviving are Oscar S., Melvin T. and James L. There also remain thirteen grandchildren, fifteen great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild; a sister, Mrs. Olive Horton, of Glenwood, Mo., and two half brothers, Charles and Ben Squires, also of Glenwood, Mo. Her husband died September 2, 1918.

At the age of twelve, Mrs. Turner was converted, and throughout the years continued to live a devoted Christian life. She was a member of the Methodist church and an active worker, devoted to the precepts of her religion. In early days before a church was available, she and Mr. Turner were charter members of the group that held religious services regularly in the Center school house. Later they joined with Philander Williams and Chauncey Bailey in a church building project, completing the erection of the edifice in the spring of 1887.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Methodist church, and the large auditorium was filled to capacity by relatives and long time friends of the deceased, who came to pay their last tribute of respect. The pastor, Rev. Fintel, conducted the service and interment was in the Elmwood cemetery beside the body of her husband.

During the services, Mesdames Helen Schneider of Elmwood and Cora Reeder of Plattsmouth sang a number of the old familiar hymns that Grandma Turner loved so well. Mrs. Guy Clements presided at the pipe organ.

By her kindness Grandma Turner endeared herself to the members of her family and a large circle of acquaintances, who will miss her a great deal. Like a sheaf of ripened grain, her life has been filled with good deeds, and now she has been gathered to her home in heaven to enjoy a well earned rest from life's cares with the angels of God. Sixty-seven years of actively representing the Master and his cause in this community have certainly qualified her to enter into the joys of that last long, peaceful rest.

Very sincerely yours,
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

LINCOLN, May 5 (UP)—A legislative committee of five was appointed to frame suitable resolutions honoring the memory of legislators who have died since April 2, 1935.

Legislators inadvertently failed to name a memorial committee. Members appointed by Lieut. Gov. William E. Johnson were Senators Harry Gantz, chairman; M. E. Westley, Frank Sorrell, Swan Carlson, and Sam Klaver.
