Livestock Heads Join in Beef Protest

D. M. Hildebrand of Seward Among Those Who Take Opposition to Action of President.

CHICAGO, May 13 (UP)—D. M. Hildebrand of Seward, Nebraska, president of the United States Livestock association, today protested President Roosevelt's order directing the navy department to buy its canned corned beef from Argentine producers.

"The fact that the present administration has seen fit to buy beef from Argentina when our own livestock producers have been working under a heavy handicap for the last four or five years clearly indicates that it is not in sympathy with making a market for our feed grains, as the only market the farmer has for corn and by-products of the farm is livestock," Hildebrand said.

"With taxes mounting, certainly the livestock producers in America should have first opportunity to the American market. The best aid that agriculture and livestock producers can have is to provide a market for what we produce in America, and by the government buying Argentine beef other consumers of beef are encouraged to do the same. I think congress should pass a law prohibiting our government from supplying its needs for livestock products from abroad, so long as they can be produced in this country."

REPLIES TO MAYOR BUTLER
COLUMBUS, Nebr., May 13 (UP)—C. B. Fricke, president of the Loup River Power Project, said today that Mayor Dan B. Butler of Omaha "knows little whereof he speaks" and resented implication of poor faith on the part of the district in assuring Omaha that the district will give sufficient notice before it purchases the Nebraska Power company.

Butler said yesterday that the notice was an attempt by the district to influence power legislation pending in Lincoln and that Omaha is perfectly satisfied with assurances of James E. Davidson, president of the Nebraska Power, that no sale will be made without giving the city opportunity to purchase the plant.

Fricke said the Loup district passed a resolution not to buy the company before October 1 only because a definite group in Omaha felt that the assurances given by Davidson was not sufficient.

Canada Getting Ready to Welcome King and Queen

Quebec Will Have Honor of First Receiving Monarchs, First Reigning Rulers to Visit America.

By WEBB MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
QUEBEC, May 13 (UP)—The liner carrying King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain to Canada and the United States was brought to a sharp halt today and the engines thrown into reverse to avoid a collision with a field of floating icebergs.

The king and queen were on deck at the time. They seemed interested but calm as the liner, the Empress of Australia, was brought to a dead stop.

Officials reported by wireless that the icebergs had been detected an ample time and that there had been no danger.

The liner was not expected to arrive here until late Monday night instead of Monday morning as scheduled. It was believed that the royal couple would prefer to remain aboard ship and disembark Tuesday morning.

In order to maintain the schedule originally set for the royal tour of Canada and the United States, officials decided to dispense with all official functions in Quebec except for a drive around the city.

The Empress of Australia was creeping through thick North Atlantic fog and ice and there seemed no prospect that she could make port Monday morning as planned.

Officials of the royal tour committee were anxious lest there was a delay but made no comment on reports that most of Quebec's program might have to be abandoned.

As their majesties entered Candian waters, the program for their tour had been worked out to the last, minute detail. The plans for protecting and entertaining them overlooked no eventuality.

Soldiers and sailors, scarlet-coated Royal Canadian Mounted policemen, railway, provincial and municipal policemen, special volunteers including ex-service men, civil servants, Boy Scouts and service club members were assigned to guard every inch of territory over which they will pass in crossing Canada to the Pacific and back before they entered the United States for a five-day visit.

Special automobiles of reinforced steel, fitted with non-shatterable glass were ready for them.

The names of guests at every hotel and rooming house in Quebec, have been given to police, who also have information on every house owner and shop keeper along the route of the royal procession.

Sections of the city where policing is difficult because of the narrow, winding streets, will be closed.

The Empress of Australia will tie up at Wolf's cove, the exact spot where in 1759 British forces landed to capture Canada from the French the next day after a 15-minute battle on the heights above.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will go aboard, and lead the party ashore. Trailing him from the ship will be the ladies and gentlemen in waiting, then the king and queen.

When the king steps to the pier, Canada will have on its soil its first reigning king ever to set foot in North America.

The city, like others on the route of the tour, was decorated as never before in its history. The Union Jack and tri-color of France were on every building on the route of the procession. Crowns, coronets, the royal standard and the Canadian and provincial coats of arms stood out on the doorways, arches and sides of buildings.

Snow still covered some streets but it was believed that a day of sunshine would melt it and bring into bloom the budding flowers and trees before their majesties arrive.

WILL KEEP THEIR WORD

WESTERNERS RAKE PRESIDENT ON BEEF VIEWS
Object to the Purchase of Argentine Beef for the Use of the United States Navy.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (UP)—Western senators objected vigorously today to President Roosevelt's order directing the navy department to purchase 48,000 pounds of Argentine canned corned beef.

But Senator David I. Walsh, D., Mass., predicted that the senate appropriations committee probably would eliminate from the navy appropriation bill the prohibition against navy purchase abroad of supplies unless they were not available in this country.

Walsh belittled the complaints of western senators, saying that American packers can virtually no corned beef, that most of that consumed in this country comes from Argentina and Uruguay. He said American packers would be required to install special machinery for such canned beef if the navy were required to purchase the meat here.

Congressman Harry B. Coffee, D., a prominent western Nebraska statesman, said he resented the president's action.

"The American livestock industry with its burdens of taxes and labor standards cannot compete with peon labor of Argentina—and should not be required to do so," Coffee said.

Coffee and Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., led the attack on the president's order. O'Mahoney charged that the reason Argentine corned beef was cheaper than American was because the packers in South America were subsidized by the government.
