Rev. Williams gave the invocation, Col. Phil Hall presided, "God Bless America" was sung by Mrs. Charles Dyer, and Miss Lucille Kelly gave Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address."

Supt. L. S. Devoe of the Platts-mouth schools, gave an interesting and worth while address very much in keeping with the occasion.

A lovely dinner was served to the public Tuesday noon in the Anderson building. This is an annual affair and well attended by the public who are interested in the maintenance of the Greenwood cemetery.

Many old time residents and relatives return each year and the affair is a sort of "Get together," renewing acquaintances, etc. The proceeds aid materially in keeping the cemetery in nice shape, the ladies of the Cemetery association being able to do so with this and other support from the public and lot owners.

RAIN MAKES OUTLOOK BRIGHTER

LINCOLN, June 3 (UP)—Recent rains have brightened the Nebraska crop picture, A. E. Anderson, state-federal agricultural statistician reported today.

He said small grain, especially wheat, had been damaged severely by the prolonged drouth, but observed that injury in extreme southeastern Nebraska had not been as heavy as expected. The statistician announced that "in general, corn is coming fine and has made satisfactory growth."

"Most of the wheat in central, south-central and the greater part of southeastern Nebraska had been damaged severely because of the prolonged drouth and cannot produce much wheat," the report said.

CLUE TO DISASTER

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 3 (UP)—A possible clue to the nature of the tragedy that befell the new submarine, Thetis was provided today in disclosure that she had been involved in two previous accidents, one to her diving controls.

The disclosure that trouble had been encountered in outfitting the Thetis for service after her launching a year ago this month came from officials of the builders of the under-sea craft.

R. S. Johnson, managing director of the Cammell-Laird said the Thetis had been in two previous accidents but that they were "nothing of any moment."

WINDSORS HAVE ANNIVERSARY

PARIS, June 3 (UP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor today observed the second anniversary of their wedding in quiet seclusion, trimming expenses as their third year of marriage begins because of a reported $75,000 or $100,000 drop in Edward's annual income.

Although the duke and the woman for whom he gave up the British throne are turning to the quiet mode of life of English gentfolk they still are far from being pressed for funds. Edward gets $200,000 or $225,000 a year to maintain himself and his American duchess in a manner befitting a member of British royal family and an ex-king in self-chosen exile.

Japanese Plan Navy for Use of 'New China'

Project Includes Academy for Cadet Training at Nanking—Chinese Admiral Appointed.

By ROBERT BELLAIRE SHANGHAI (UP)—Japanese reports that the Nanking reformed government, controlled by the Japanese army and navy, is launching a naval building program and establishing a naval academy has aroused the interest of foreign naval experts in Shanghai.

The Japanese navy spokesman told foreign correspondents here that for the present, the new Chinese navy would comprise only coastal and river patrol boats, but official Japanese reports said these patrol squadrons would "form the nucleus of the Reformed Government's new navy."

Japanese navy officers will serve as instructors in the new Nanking naval academy which will have an enrollment of about 500 men in the first year. The new armed coastal patrol boats, which eventually will relieve the Japanese navy of patrol duties in the Yangtze river and Hangchow Bay, will be built in Japanese dockyards. They will aid in enforcing the Japanese blockade of the China coast.

As yet the Nanking regime has no navy ministry but it is believed such a post will be created as soon as the patrol squadron is ready for duty, probably in another six months.

Chinese Admiral Appointed

Admiral Hsu Chien-ting, former commander of the second squadron of the Chinese Nationalist navy, has been appointed head of the new patrol squadron and is the favorite choice for minister of navy.

Foreign naval experts do not believe Japan can ever build up a Chinese fleet which could be risked in battle line action against America or Britain. The Chinese are notoriously poor artillerymen, regardless of the amount of expert training they receive. They are equally poor in anti-aircraft work and their warships probably would be easy targets for foreign bombers.

However, foreign observers believe the Japanese navy could employ a carefully adapted Chinese naval force to great advantage for scouting and patrolling duties, removing much of this type work from the Japanese navy in case of war. The Chinese basically are excellent sailors and probably could, under Japanese officers, handle patrol and scouting ships as well as the Japanese could except of their own crews.

Strategical Move Seen

Another reason for Japan's sponsoring a new Chinese navy, which would remain under Japanese control, is seen in the possibility that Japan eventually will seek a new naval limitations treaty with the United States, Britain and France.

The current navy race, in which Japan is expected to find it virtually impossible to compete with the potential building resources of the great democracies, has led to the belief that eventually she will seek a new naval limitations agreement even at the old 5-5-3 ratio.

In negotiations for such a treaty, neither the Chinese regime at Nanking nor the Japanese-controlled Manchukuo government could participate. They are not recognized by any of the great western naval powers and consequently their naval construction programs could not be brought within the limitations of any naval treaty.

Consequently, Japan might hope to achieve naval parity with America and Britain outside the framework of a naval treaty by building what nominally would be "Chinese" and "Manchukuo" fleets, actually under the control of the Japanese navy.

CUT ASSISTANCE FIGURES

LINCOLN, June 3 (UP)—Numerous revisions, resulting from a shift in bookkeeping, slashed the amount available for aid to old age, blind, and dependent children for the coming biennium and sliced $107,100 from the 1939-41 budget bill last night.

Chairman Frank Brady of the legislature's appropriations committee submitted an amendment altering assistance figures previously accepted. He said a few bookkeeping changes in the estimates of the federal money for state assistance would drop the appropriations bill total from $15,054,000 to $14,946,900.

ANGLING SEASON NEAR IN PARKS

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Trout fishing will be in full swing in the western national parks by June 15, when the remaining restrictions will be lifted, according to the regional office of the department of interior here.

Popular parks attracting early anglers are Lassen, Volcanic, Sequoia, Olympic and Mt. Rainier.

The season opened May 1 in Lassen Volcanic National Park. Park Superintendent John Preston expects all streams and lakes in the park will be available June 1 when the Lassen Peak loop highway is scheduled to open. A California fishing license is required in Lassen Park.

Early Catches Good

Stream fishing began May 11 in Mt. Rainier National Park, Wash., where no state license is required. However, lake fishing will not be permitted until June 15. Anglers reported good catches of rainbow, native cutthroat, Montana black spotted cutthroat, eastern brook and Loch Leven so far this month.

Streams of glacial origin, with the exception of the Ohanapech river, contain too much sediment for good results in July and August, but are good at this time of the year, it is pointed out. The season also is open in the west's most recently established federal recreational area, the Olympic National Park, which has scores of streams and numerous lakes ideal for fishing.

The season opened in Glacier National Park, Mon., June 1, Park Superintendent D. S. Libbey announced. Regulations will be the same as 1938.

Waters in the Two Medicine, Red Eagle, Swiftcurrent and Camas drainages will open June 10, including Howe and Avalanche lakes. The Belly River and the Watertown drainages will be open July 1. The fishing season on the Middle and North forks of the Flathead river will conform with the Montana open season. No fishing license is required in the Glacier National Park.

Yosemite Opened June 1

Anglers were welcomed in Yosemite National Park June 1, Park Superintendent Lawrence C. Merriam said. Better fishing is expected this year as a result of streams being past the flood stage earlier than in past seasons. A limit of 20 fish per person per day will be in effect, provided that the number of Golden trout can not exceed 10.

As in other California national parks, a state license fee, $2 for residents and $3 for non-residents, is in effect in Yosemite.

SNOW-IN-SUMMER IS GRASS SUBSTITUTE

Many a home owner has a patch of "lawn" which has never been worthy of the name, due to its successful resistance to all attempts to grow grass on it.

Often such spots are bare because they are run over or played on excessively by children. But just as often they are little-used pieces with heavy shade and very poor soil.

If the latter description fits your case, an unusual but interesting remedy is suggested. It is suggested that the space be planted to the popular perennial, Snow-in-Summer, otherwise known as Cerastium Tomentosum.

Snow-in-Summer is low and spreading and remarkably hardy. It produces silvery white foliage, and bears small white flowers in profusion quite early. It may cover the ground quite well in its first year, and it is sufficiently tough that it can stand some trampling. It has long been used for planting around tree trunks where grass could never be induced to flourish.

CHIEF JUSTICE ILL

WASHINGTON, June 3 (UP)—The supreme court clerk's office announced today that Justice Charles Evans Hughes is suffering from an intestinal ulcer and will be confined to bed for some time.

Hughes suffered an attack of grippe earlier this year after his address to the special joint session of congress March 4. He did not return to the court for six weeks. That illness was the first time Hughes, 77, had been forced by illness to absent himself from the court. He was appointed in 1930.

SEEK TRANSIENT SLAYER

STOCKTON, Calif., June 3 (UP)—Three transients were dead and a fourth in critical condition today as police tried to trap the man who bludgeoned them as they slept in hobo "jungles" here.

Police and sheriff's deputies rounded up forty-six itinerants, virtually depleting the hobo camps along the railroad tracks.
