

MURDOCK ITEMS

Piano lessons, 35¢ and 50¢.—
Jean Bornemeier. 1t-w

W. A. Backemeyer of near Greenwood was looking after business matters in Murdock last Wednesday.

Mrs. George Utt has had water installed at her home and will no longer have to depend on the well for her water supply.

Edmond McHugh departed last week for North Platte, where he had employment awaiting him and where he expects to make his home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thimgan and son Larry of Plattsmouth were Sunday guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald.

Mrs. Una McHugh arrived home last Sunday night from a visit of five weeks in the west. During her absence, she visited the San Francisco World's fair.

A. J. Tool, Lacy McDonald and the Doctor were enjoying an outing last Wednesday, doing a bit of fishing in the Platte river. Mrs. Tool looked after business at the store.

L. Neitzel was a visitor in Lincoln last Sunday, going to address the Bible school class that is taught by Edward Litch as one of the units of the Peoples Mission of the capital city.

A. D. Zaar has been unable to get around as usual due to a sore foot, caused from stepping on a piece of wood with a nail protruding therefrom. He is getting along nicely at the present time, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lowe and the children, returned to their home at Hyannis, Nebr., last Wednesday, after a visit here at the home of Mrs. Lowe's parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Neitzel and with Grandfather L. Neitzel.

A group of Murdock young men went to Plattsmouth Sunday, where they enjoyed a few rounds of golf at the Plattsmouth country club. Those who went were Lacy McDonald, Dr. Formanek, Bryan McDonald and O. B. Lapadus.

Rev. and Mrs. Harvey A. Schwab and two sons arrived home last week from Naperville, Ill., where they had been guests of her parents and other relatives and friends. They were accompanied by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who will visit here for some time.

Vernon Rikli, who is employed in Omaha, was a visitor at the home of his parents over the week end and was taken back to his work by his parents. They were accompanied home by their little granddaughter, Naomi, who will spend some time here visiting her grandparents.

Charles Zaar, who is located in Chicago, where he holds a position as salesman with the Firestone company, has been spending the past ten days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Zaar. He returned to his work after an enjoyable vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Meyers and children of Sioux City spent Father's day in Murdock as guests at the home of Mrs. Meyers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool and with Mrs. August Panska, mother of Mr. Meyers. A very pleasant time was had. The children are remaining for a two weeks' visit with the grandparents.

William Rikli is the first in this neighborhood whom we have heard of to start harvesting his small grain, as he was cutting and binding his oats crop last Tuesday. Due to dry weather earlier in the season, the straw is not nearly so heavy as in ordinary years, but was so it could be bound. The sheaves are of good size and fairly well filled, but it is impossible to predict the yield.

4-H Club News
Our 4-H sewing club met on June 21 for the third meeting, at the home of Rose Marie Thiel. All eight members were present.

Our officers are: Wanda Jean Buell, president; Rose Marie Thiel, vice president; Betty Rose, secretary, and Lillie Klemme, news reporter.

We have made pin cushions and needle cases and are to work on a hand towel for our next meeting to be held on June 28 at the home of Evelyn Rieckman.—Reporter.

Held Another Enjoyable Meeting
The second meeting of the Merry Mixers cooking club and the Campers Clan canning club of Murdock was held at the home of Carolyn Schafer on June 16. All but one was present, with Jean Eisele as guest. Each member brought a sample of and each judged the cakes as to their own ability on the following either a butter cake or sponge cake, points: (1) general appearance; (2) lightness; (3) crumbs and (4) flavor. All of the cakes were good on most of these points.

There was also a demonstration on how to make a pie crust, given by the leader and another demonstration on how to prepare a salad, given by Carolyn Schafer.

After the meeting, a refreshing lunch of ice cream and cake was served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Margaret Mills.—Reporter.

Visited with Folks Here
Mr. and Mrs. Otto Buck and children who reside at Exeter, where the father and husband is employed by the electrical company, visited relatives and friends in Murdock during the past week. They returned home last Wednesday.

Reinforcing Corn Crib
Forty-two years ago when Walter Thimgan was a lad of 13 years old, a corn crib was built at the farm home and as Walter grew to manhood and after he became a man and farmed for himself, this same crib served to house the crops which he grew. Then, as time went on, a new roof had to be placed on the structure, but still it served very satisfactorily as a granary for the farmstead. Lately the building has developed a disposition to bulge at the foundation, and Walter was in town last Wednesday securing some rods and an iron plate to reinforce the building and have it ready for the abundant crop of corn he expects to raise this year.

Home from Western Trip
W. O. Gillespie who, after the close of the school year and release from the duty of transporting students to and from school five days a week, drove out to the western part of the state and over into the state of Wyoming, where he had some business matters to look after. Leaving here, he first went to North Loup, where he picked up Harry Gillespie, and together they drove to Casper, Wyoming, also visiting at Cheyenne, Wheatland, Douglas and other points in that state. At Wheatland they met and visited with John J. Gustin, who resides there. Mr. Gustin was greatly surprised to meet his long time friends and they enjoyed a most pleasant visit together. Mr. Gustin has recently purchased a farm near Wheatland, the land being under irrigation and very productive. On the return trip, the Gillespies came via the northern route, through Crawford, Alliance and on down through central Nebraska. Another of the interesting sights they saw was the Kingsley dam, built for irrigation, which, when completed, will be the largest earth fill dam in the world and impound water for power production and irrigation purposes.

Enjoyed Visit Here
Mr. and Mrs. Otto Eichhoff, of Pomona, California, have been visiting relatives and friends here, being guests at the home of Mrs. H. R. Schmidt, who is a sister of Mr. Eichhoff. They were accompanied by Mrs. Chester Hendricks, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eichhoff and her son.

Mr. and Mrs. Eichhoff are former citizens of Murdock and Mr. Eichhoff was engaged in business here in the years gone by.

Concluding their visit here, they left Thursday for St. Louis, where on Saturday they attended the wedding of their youngest son, Elda Eichhoff, to Miss Rose Keller. After visiting with them for a time, the party will continue on to Enid, Oklahoma, where they will visit with the mother of Mr. Eichhoff, Mrs. L. C. Eichhoff, who is now 94 years of age but enjoying life and the best of health. After their visit there, they will go to Ardmore, Texas, for a visit at the home of the parents of Mrs. Eichhoff, stopping at Dallas, Texas, where they will visit a sister of Mr. Eichhoff, Mrs. Westley Young, and then back home.

Fred Buell Severely Injured
While Fred Buell was assisting with the work of cultivating corn on the farm, using a tractor and a power driven cultivator, he attempted to force the cultivator shovels into the ground by jumping on the frame, but slipped and fell, being run over by the tractor, which luckily was equipped with rubber tires instead of steel wheels. This fact undoubtedly saved him from even worse injuries than he suffered. As it was, his right hip joint was dislocated and the left side of the pelvis or hip bone was crushed, also a severe gash cut on the back of his head and his face lacerated and bruised severely. He is being drawn into the shovels of the cultivator. George Brakhage was driving the tractor, but could not stop before the damage had been done.

Efforts were made to secure a doctor, but as Dr. Formanek was away on a call and could not be reached, the doctors in Elmwood could not be located and later a doctor at Ashland was secured. After being given first aid, Fred was hastened to Lincoln to the Bryan Memorial hospital, where he was treated and placed in a cast. Although he is resting fairly easy, he will have to remain in the cast for a long time.

Seeing Much of World
Louis Hornbeck, who is a traveling auditor for the Modern Woodmen of America, in the course of his work travels about over the country a great deal. Recently he was assigned to work in the state of Virginia, and the nation's capital city of Washington, D. C. While in Washington he has been able to visit the George Washington lodge at Alexandria, Virginia, of which the Father of his country was both a member and an officer. He is able to see a great deal of interest during the course of his travel about the country.

Mrs. Simon Rehmeier of Aivo was a visitor in Elmwood last Tuesday, coming to see the doctor, and also enjoyed visiting with a number of friends while here.

James Carper and wife of Lincoln called on friends here briefly while en route home from a visit at the home of their son, John F. Carper and family, near Manley.

Miss Betty Clement left last week for Camp High at Denver, where she is to supervise some of the activities at this popular summer camp, as she has for the past several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Penterman visited at the home of a sister of Mrs. Penterman, Mrs. D. W. Adair and husband, in Ashland last Sunday. Leaving rather early, they got home before the hard rain came.

Charles Gerbeling, who has been here for some time doing some work on his property, now has it in good shape and rented. Upon completing the work, he returned to Plattsmouth, where he is making his home with his son, Floyd, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stanton attended a show in Weeping Water Sunday evening. When the show was over, it was raining hard and they nearly had to have a boat instead of a car to get home. However, they made it alright by going around on No. 50 and 34.

The front of the garage building occupied by Ronald Schlichtemeier has been greatly improved in appearance by a coat of paint. The ceiling of the porch projection was also painted in a light color and throws a great deal more light into the workroom as a result.

Full Load Both Ways
Shorty West was in Omaha last Tuesday with a load of stock, consisting of six hogs for Ralph Kruse, a calf for George Miller and a calf for Joe Parriott. On his return, he brought back a load of oil for the filling stations here.

The End of "Sammy"
"Sammy", the squirrel, which was a pet of Kenneth West and friendly to everyone, as they say, was "getting cuter every day." But as he was playing about the yard unmindful of lurking danger, a neighborhood tom cat slipped up on him and before he could get away, the cat had him—so now he is only a memory.

Family Gathering Sunday
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schlichtemeier entertained members of Ronald's family at a pleasant gathering last Sunday. Those present were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schlichtemeier of near Murray; Paul Schlichtemeier and family of Lincoln, and Mrs. Mary Koch and two children of West Side, Iowa, who have been visiting at the home of the parents near Murray for some time.

Entertained Ladies Aid
The Ladies Aid of the Christian church met last Tuesday afternoon at the home of the McFall Sisters, where they were very pleasantly entertained. After the business session, the ladies did some quilting and enjoyed a social hour that was climaxed with the serving of delicious refreshments.

Road is Now Open
The road east of Elmwood that has been under construction for several months is now completed, and ready for the maintainer to finish the job of making it a smooth, all-weather highway. The work done was quite extensive and included the strengthening of the roadway and construction of a new bridge. The men who were employed on this project have been assigned to work at other points and the road is open to unobstructed traffic once more. A great improvement has been made and a dangerous place eliminated.

Stolen Car Recovered
Clarence Schlanker, farmer, living south of Elmwood, was in Lincoln a week ago and while looking after some business matters, left the car parked with the ignition key in the switch. When he came out to get into his car, it was gone. Three days later it was found at York, stripped of a portion of the tires. He has recovered it and will probably not leave the keys in the car again when he parks it, even if only for a few minutes.

Entertained Sorority Sisters
Mrs. Emily Gonzales entertained a group of fellow members of Alpha Sigma Phi sorority from the University of Nebraska last Tuesday afternoon, the guests driving out from Lincoln. The afternoon was spent in most pleasant manner as the ladies recounted the days when they were students at the university. Delicious refreshments were served before the hour of departure.

Ralph Greene and Wife Home
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Greene, who spent some three weeks visiting in the east, arrived home Friday of last week. While away they visited many places, but most of the time was spent in Virginia, where relatives of Mrs. Greene live and New York state, where Ralph's relatives make their home. The ancestors of Mrs. Greene came to Virginia before the Revolutionary war and most of the family still remain there. Mr. Greene's ancestors settled in New York four or more generations ago.

With the completion of the project of straightening the road that runs east from Elmwood, the men from Wabash who have been employed there, are being transferred to other projects, some going to Weeping Water and some to other points.

Barn Destroyed by Fire
The barn on the farm belonging to Miss Myrtle Wood and on which Henry Knaupe resides, was destroyed by fire last week, leaving Mr. Knaupe without a place to care for his stock.

Stray Dog Created Havoc
A stray dog recently came to the home of Sherman Hardaway, where it was taken in and fed. In exchange for the kindness bestowed upon it, the animal sought to get at some meat that had been placed on a high shelf on the porch. To reach the shelf, the animal climbed on a table that contained a large assortment of potted flowers, representing a lot of work on the part of Mrs. Hardaway. The dog upset the table, sending the flower pots hurtling to the floor and breaking many of them. You may well imagine the consternation and indignation of Mrs. Hardaway when she discovered the havoc that had been done. Many of her most prized plants were destroyed and those that can be reset will be slow in getting started again.

To Celebrate Church Centennial
During the past week there was held a three day gathering at the Lutheran church north of Manley on the Louisville-Greenwood road, attended by about a hundred ministers from the different churches in this territory.

Besides considering regular business, one of the important matters before the group was the planning of a proper observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the Lutheran church in America.

One hundred years ago a large group of people migrated from their homes in Saxony, Germany, to the United States, where they knew they would be guaranteed religious freedom and escape the oppression being bestowed upon them. The group comprised five sailing boat loads of men, women and children. On arriving in this land of freedom, they pooled their capital and purchased 4,400 acres of land in Perry county, Missouri, then a western frontier, and there organized the first church in this country. The growth of this denomination was rapid and today it is among the larger church groups in point of membership, the church southwest of Louisville being one of the many hundreds over the nation.

Harold Krecklow, whose handiwork has created many useful things, has set about making a replica of this first church, built of logs, and upon its completion it will be used as a collection box for the church.

An appropriate celebration of the founding of the church in America will be held in Lutheran churches all over the nation this year.

Dockage facilities make Plattsmouth an ideal factory site. Welcome and a splendid opportunity to expand should be an inducement to those contemplating a change in location from the more thickly populated centers and flood areas of the east.

MANLEY NEWS

Miss Kate Wolpert, who has been feeling poorly for some time, is reported considerably better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bergman and little son were in Plattsmouth last Saturday, looking after business matters there.

Harry Haws and wife were at Clay Center, Kansas, over the weekend, guests at the home of their son, Virtus Haws and family.

Hail caused considerable damage last Sunday night to the homes of Paul Mann, Henry Vogter and Walter Mockenhaupt. A large number of window glasses were broken.

Father Hennessy, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church of Manley, attended the funeral of Father O'Sullivan at Lincoln last week. The two were very close friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rauth were in Plattsmouth last Saturday, going to meet their nephew, Jack Huse, who was coming from Jackson, Nebraska, for a visit of a month at the Rauth home.

Mrs. Rachel Cochran and three children were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flaishman, the children remaining to spend the balance of the week with their grandparents.

Ralph Welte, who was one of the boys selected to attend Boys State at Lincoln last week, returned home at the close of the week's camp and is well pleased with the experience which he obtained.

Miss Claudia Honor, of Omaha, has been spending two weeks at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter O'Brien and considers it a very special privilege to get to spend the time on the farm.

Mrs. George Davis, in attempting to alight from their auto, slipped and fell. As a result she suffered injuries that required the attention of the family physician. She is now considerably improved.

John C. Rauth and son Herman sowed seven acres of sudan grass seed last Tuesday, to be used for pasture. They completed the job just before the coming of the rain, which should make the seed sprout and grow rapidly.

Miss Ellen Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kelly, who is a student at St. Joseph hospital in Omaha, taking training to become a registered nurse, visited over Sunday at the home of her parents, returning to the hospital at the beginning of the week.

A machine for digging ditches in which to lay the gas service lines for Manley, has been at work here for some time. The pipes are being laid and in the very near future Manley folks will be able to enjoy the conveniences of natural gas in their homes and places of business.

Many Attend Conference
At the Lutheran church north of Manley on the Louisville-Greenwood road, a largely attended religious conference was held this past week. The attendance ran nearly a hundred. This conference was the forerunner of a general celebration to observe the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Lutheran church in Perry county, Missouri.

Honor Father Last Sunday
A dinner was served on Sunday, June 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Stander, in honor of the father of Mrs. Stander, who has just passed his 82nd birthday. Those who were present for the occasion were John Palacek, Sr., and two daughters, of Plattsmouth; A. V. Stander and family and John A. Stander and family.

Married at St. Patrick's Church
On last Friday morning Miss Dorothy Miller and Mrs. Julius Bornelle were united in marriage at St. Patrick's Catholic church. Father Hennessy, pastor of the church, conducted the ceremony, after which the bridal party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller for a wedding breakfast. Those present were Father Hennessy, Mrs. Catherine Earhardt, grandmother of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Miller, her parents.

Hail Causes Damage
Accompanying last Sunday's rain, hail fell at spotted points in this vicinity. The stones were especially large in the vicinity northeast of town, where damage was reported. At the home of Earl Mann some 50 window lights were hammered out and at the home of Henry Vogler 150 were broken. The home of John Mockenhaupt is another place that suffered considerable damage.

Harold Krecklow, the carpenter, reported he had orders for the re-setting of 275 new window panes destroyed by the hail.
