

Rainfall Over County will be of Great Value

Western Part of County Hard Hit by Drouth, Receives Early Morning Half Inch of Moisture.

From Tuesday's Daily—
The rainfall this morning brought much needed and refreshing moisture to all sections of the county, reports reaching here state, and adding greatly to the prospects for aid to the corn crop and especially in the eastern section of the county where corn is very good.
The western part of Cass county, which has suffered a great deal from dryness, lacking the last few rains that have visited this part of the county, received a half inch early this morning and which was most helpful. Farther east the early morning shower diminished until this city received but a slight downpour.

The rain late in the morning here brought a heavier fall and it is estimated that a half inch had fallen at the noon time.
The rainfall brought with it a pleasant drop in the temperature that was much appreciated after the heat of the past two days.
