

Burke Sees FDR Candidate of the Radicals

Believes Both Democrats and Republicans to Nominat Conservative Candidates.

OMAHA, Aug. 11 (UP)—Senator Edward R. Burke, D., Neb., today predicted the 1940 political alignment will find President Roosevelt a candidate on a radical third party ticket in opposition to a coalition of conservative republicans and democrats.

Burke predicted that both major parties will nominate conservative candidates for president and that Mr. Roosevelt, in line with his message to the Young Democrats convention in Pittsburgh last night, will head a new party.

"He will gather together under his banners all of the radical elements of the country," Burke said; "then, I believe, the real democrats and republicans will decide among themselves which of their candidates has the best chance of defeating him and support that candidate."

"It has long been known in Washington that one of three things would happen in 1940:

"1. That Mr. Roosevelt would secure the democratic nomination.

"2. That there would be a hand-picked Roosevelt nominee.

"3. That Mr. Roosevelt would head a third party movement.

"Up until six months ago I believed that Mr. Roosevelt could win renomination but since then the Hatch bill has been passed and the president has suffered decisive defeats.

Burke said he would sincerely welcome such a situation. Burke, who has been one of Mr. Roosevelt's most bitter democratic critics in the senate, came home today to begin his campaign for renomination. Opposing him in the democratic primary will be Governor R. L. Cochran.

"I expect Cochran will go 100 per cent with Roosevelt whether it be the scuttling of the democratic party or any other issue."

HOLD PRACTICE GAME

Last evening a part of the Merchants baseball team staged a practice contest with the Timms Terrors, the Merchants kindly loaning Elmer Hollenbeck to their foes as a pitcher for the hard ball contest. Several of the Merchants were unable to be on the field owing to work.

In the opening inning the Timms came to bat first and it was a question for some time if they would be retired before dark, massing four runs off the delivery of Ed Smith, former American Legion hurler who has just returned from California.

After the first inning Joe Phillips was sent to the mound for the Merchants and was able to hold the Timms in check.

In the last inning as the shades of evening were falling the Merchants staged a rally that netted them five runs to cop the honors. Hollenbeck was hit freely and the dusk made the fielding difficult and the base running of the Merchants improved, they racing the bases as vain attempts were made to halt their advance.

OPENING SALES-SERVICE STORE

From Friday's Daily—Under the name, "Cass County Maytag Co.," Max Gilbert and Keith Hoagland, of Lincoln, are locating a sales and service store here in the corner room of the Eagles building, Sixth and Pearl. Both men have been connected with Maytag sales and service of Rudge & Gunzel store in Lincoln for several years and have decided to engage in business for themselves. They are busy today unpacking and setting up washers and ironers and will be open for business tomorrow.

FORT CROOK WINS GAME

From Saturday's Daily—The first game under the lights at Athletic park this year was staged last evening between the Fort Crook soldiers and the Timm team. The soldiers who have had a very successful season so far this year, were the winners over the locals by the score of 13 to 11. The Timms showed the effect of their baseball game earlier in the evening against the soldiers in the nightcap.

LEAVE FOR VACATION

From Saturday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jahrig and daughter, Miss Fern Jahrig are leaving this evening on a two weeks' vacation trip which will take them to New York City where they will attend the fair, Boston, Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia, Pa.

WINTERSTEEN SLUGGERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Wednesday the Wintersteen Sluggers thrust themselves into the softball picture, by soundly trouncing the South Park Rowdies by a score of 9 to 5. The sluggers got six scores in a wild first inning. The Rowdies came back with four in the second inning and one in the third. The Sluggers got another in the fifth and two more in the seventh on Phillips' home run.

This was the first game of the season for the sluggers, and they showed promise by defeating the champions.

Greeley Stone, who pitched for the winners gave up only four hits, but errors let the Rowdies get their five scores.

Frank Lushinsky played an excellent game as catcher. His accurate "pegs" to second would have caught many a man stealin, had McBride been able to hold them. He also was second best hitter, getting a single, double and triple out of five trips to the plate.

Bob Cook led in hitting with two singles, and a triple, out of four trips to the plate. He played a good game at third base, making two good catches. He took a Texas leaguer over his shoulder and a swan dive over the north bank to take a pop foul.

Joe Phillips made the only home run of the game receiving this in the seventh inning with one man on base. He also played a fine game at first base with but one error during the entire game.

Bob Dow played a fine game in left field, taking all line drives in his territory in fine order. He also served as an asset on the offense.

The lineup was as follows: Sluggers—McBride, 2b; Stewart, ss; F. Lushinsky, c; Phillips, 1b; G. Petet, rf; Stone, p; Rice, cf; Dow, lf; E. Lushinsky, rs; Cook, of; J. Petet, rf; Jones, rf.

Rowdies—Stenkamp, p-ss; Rakow, c; Covert, 1b; Grauf, cf; Tiekotter, rs; Highfield, 2b; Jackson, 3b; Johnson, ss-p-rf; Hitt, lf; L. Covert, rf; Richter, cf; Dasher, rf-p.

FORMER RESIDENT HERE

Hoodlums Get Iron Fist Jolt in Kansas City

New Police Chief Shows Steel in First Swift Acts—Police Demand Respect.

KANSAS CITY (UP)—L. B. Reed, the new Kansas City police chief who came in when the Pendergast machine was tumbled from power, speaks with a slow Georgia drawl and doesn't look hard, but those who once ignored the police aren't fooled.

Chief Reed is very hard, and the hoodlums know about it because one of their leaders, the Italian alien, Charles V. Carollo, brought them the news.

Carollo is the man who formerly enforced the dictates of the syndicate that controlled gambling in Kansas City. A state indictment charges that he "muscled" two men out of a gambling house that paid him more than $100,000 a year. A federal indictment charges that he neglected to pay more than $200,000 in income taxes. He became the Italian leader when John Lazia was machine-gunned. He was Lazia's bodyguard up to that time. All in all he was pretty tough.

So, when Carollo came back from a visit with Chief Reed and passed the word around, why the boys knew the 34-year-old former G-man wasn't fooling. It is said that Carollo, a few months ago, would walk into police headquarters, put his feet on the commissioner's desk, and give orders. His visit with Reed was different.

Lieut. John P. Harrington tapped Carollo on the shoulder.

"The chief wants to see you," he said.

"Okeb," replied Carollo airily, "I'll drive down pretty soon."

"No," said Harrington, "you will come now. With me. In a police car."

The Reed-Carollo conference was executive. It lasted 30 minutes and the pudgy Carollo came out wiping his brow. Reed revealed some details.

"I told him," Reed said, "that the law would prevail in Kansas City or that I would quit. And I don't intend to quit. I told him that if necessary we would bring his kind in on a slab."

Reed also told Carollo the hoodlums were going to respect the police.

"You are supposed to be the leader of the boys around town, but to me you are just one of them," I said. "However, I want you to tell them they can fall in line or they can get themselves a lot of grief. He said he would tell them that he believed he meant what I said."

After "telling off" the tough element, Reed carried his case to the public by radio. He asked for cooperation. Then he started a departmental shakeup. Machine wheel-horses were ousted or demoted. Men under probation in the vote fraud cases resigned.

The whole business has been distasteful to gamblers who formerly worked in the 60-odd open houses, and to the hoodlums who knew they would be "sprung" if arrested. Many of the big gamblers have moved on, but the lesser fry are still in town, hopeful that the "heat" will be turned off."

MARRIED AT CITY HALL

Thursday afternoon Judge C. L. Graves was called upon to unite in marriage Marie Euretta Robirds and Andy Jasper Arendell, both of Bellevue, who arrived here with Cecil B. Arendell, of Fort Crook, brother of the groom. The brother and C. A. Rosenkrans, well known barber, served as the witnesses of the ceremony.

Homemade Jelly Wins Prize for Farmer!

LAST year Ervin Swinehart, of Exeland, Wisconsin, received a premium from the Sawyer County Agricultural Fair for his homemade, chokecherry jelly.

Mr. Swinehart, who farms 240 acres, admits that his hobby is helping children. As a school officer and 4-H Club leader, he believes that no leader can be a good leader without doing the work himself—and when it comes to lessons in jellymaking, this prize winner certainly knows what he's talking about. Mr. Swinehart's cooking ability "runs in the family," too—for when his daughter, Sylvia, was only 12 years old she won first place in the International Contest.

Any man who wants to make a batch of homemade jellies would do well to use a champion recipe like this one. He'll have a perfect product every time—whether or not he enters it at the fair to compete for a prize like Mr. Swinehart's!

FRESH MINT JELLY

(Makes about 5 medium glasses)
1 cup spearmint leaves and stems, packed
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup apple vinegar
1 cup water
Green coloring
1/2 bottle fruit pectin

Wash spearmint. Do not remove the leaves from stems.
Measure into 3-quart saucepan and press with wooden potato masher or glass. Measure sugar, vinegar and water into saucepan and mix with mint.

Bring to a boil over hottest fire. While mixture is coming to a boil, add coloring to give desired shade. Use coloring which fruit acids do not fade. As soon as mixture boils, add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute.

Remove from fire and skim! To remove all trace of mint leaves, pour hot jelly through fine sieve into glasses. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

Army Board Probing Cause Bomber Plunge

Investigation Started as to Reason of Loss of Flying Fortress and Nine of Crew.

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Aug. 12 (UP)—An army board of inquiry dug in the charred ruins of a Douglas twin-motored bomber today for a clue to the cause of the accident in which nine army fliers were killed.

Air corps officials were frankly baffled by the bomber's sudden plunge to earth yesterday shortly after taking off on a practice flight. Some believed that the cause might never be determined.

Pilot of the plane was 25-year-old Lieut. Homer MacKay, Lansing, Mich. who received his commission in the army air corps only a week ago after graduating from the Kelly Field training school in Texas.

Eye-witnesses to the crash could not agree on details, the accident occurred so quickly. But Lieut. H. M. Melton, Jr., official spokesman for the army, said the board would investigate reports that one or both of the plane's motors failed after it had gained an altitude of less than 200 feet.

The inquiry board was convened at once and as soon as the burning wreckage had cooled, began examining the debris. The plane was completely demolished and flames consumed all but the metal parts which were twisted by the crash and fused by the extreme heat of the fire which followed.

Members of the board who will report to army headquarters in Washington after their investigation are Major Clarence B. Lober, Capt. William H. McArthur and Lieut. Nicholas E. Powell, all attached to Langley Field.

The plane was a standard Douglas bomber of the type known as B-18A—one of 200 of its type purchased by the army two years ago. It was powered by two Wright cyclone engines and was capable of a speed of 225 miles per hour.

When it took off at 1:28 p. m., yesterday for a routine practice flight, it appeared to be functioning perfectly. But a minute later it crashed at the end of the field with a roar and burned so fiercely that rescue squads could not approach it.

Most of the eye-witness reports were fragmentary, but one army officer, who asked that his name not be used, gave the following account of the accident:

"The plane took off in an unusual ly stiff climb and held this position for about 150 feet, then stalled, the motors still running—they could be plainly heard from the ground.

"The plane fell off on its left wing. It plummeted to the earth, the nose and left wing hitting the ground almost simultaneously. It did not look like a normal take-off it seemed the plane was stalling all the time. I watched horrified, because I believed the plane was going to fall."

Would Establish Bank to Supervise Old Age Payments

Would Give $100 Per Month to All Nebraskans Over the Age of 50 Years, Says Petition.

OMAHA, Aug. 12 (UP)—Petitions asking for a referendum at the general elections on Nov. 6, 1940, on a proposal to establish a "Bank of Nebraska," which would supervise payment of $100 per month old-age pensions to all Nebraskans over 50 years of age, are ready for distribution by the Nebraska State Retirement Pension Plan committee, Roy M. Harrop, campaign director announced today.

Dependents would draw an additional $30 per month under the plan. Only those persons whose incomes are less than $100 would be eligible, but income of the others would be supplemented so that their total spending power would be $100. The pension money would have to be spent within 60 days after receipt.

The "Bank of Nebraska" would be capitalized at $250,000,000, through a "letter of credit" given to the administrator of the bank by "the people of Nebraska." The state general fund would be drawn upon for $2,500,000 in cash to get the plan in operation.

Under terms of the constitutional amendment, either Harrop, George Evans, Omaha or J. L. Beebe Omaha must be appointed the first administrator of the bank. The bank would be housed in the state capitol building with branch banks located in each of the 93 counties.

Deflation would be prohibited and interest rates are placed at 3 per cent in the petition.

"We figure that the big bankers have taken more than $200,000,000 out of Nebraska by deflation," said Harrop. We figure 100,000 persons would be eligible for pensions, so it would be 20 months before Nebraska gets this money back."

LETTER FROM ADOLPH WESCH
Adolph Wesch, well known and popular young man, residing west of this city, who is now on a tour of Germany and visiting his parents in the land of his birth, has written greetings to the friends in a letter from the Bremen, giant German line steamer, on Friday, July 28th, the boat then being some 2,000 miles out from New York City and due to dock at Cherbourg, France, the first port of call and from which the letter was mailed. Mr. Wesch, however was remaining in the boat to land at Bremen on Tuesday, going on from that city to Baden and the home of his parents, at Obrigheim, Baden. He states that the seas were very high in the last days of the trip, altho the size of the Bremen made the travel more pleasant than a smaller boat. He also states the meals were fine and that the real German brewed beer on board was tops.

Telling of his initial journey Mr. Wesch states that he was forced to change buses at Columbus, Ohio, as the initial bus was too slow and he took a faster bus and just arrived in New York in time for the sailing on the Bremen.

DISTRICT COURT HAS SESSION

District Judge W. W. Wilson had a busy time Wednesday in the district court as a large number of matters of business were pending and in the court disposed of a number of cases.

In the foreclosure case of Oscar M. Smith vs. John Osborn, Attorney Florence Fouchek was appointed by the court as guardian ad litem of John H. Osborn alias Frank Gray.

In the case of Robert M. Painter vs. J. V. Hinckman, an action to quiet title, the default of the defendants was entered and the decree signed by the court.

In the case of Theodore R. Baker vs. Della C. Baker, order was entered that defendant was to pay into the court in addition to $5 per week, $20 for house rent for June and $10 for gas and electricity for June and July. The case was set for hearing later in August.

In the divorce action of Maxine Cowden vs. Raymond Cowden, the default of the defendant entered and the plaintiff granted a decree of divorce as prayed for.

The damage suit of Dorothy Yost vs. the Missouri Pacific Transportation Co., the matter was transferred on motion of the defendant to the federal court for trial.

DIES IN FAR WEST

From the west coast comes the tragic story of the death of a man who for a number of years made his home here and will be recalled by many. George Sherbondy, 81, who was found dead at his home not far from Los Angeles a few days ago. He had been receiving old age assistance and it was found that he had some small property and led to the request of the refund of the sums paid out. The aged man had evidently brooded over the case and with his suicide in mind had turned out the chickens on his small tract of land, fired the house and was found in his car, a victim of monoxide gas. He had left a note and in which he exclaimed in bitterness, "I thought the old age assistance was to make old people happy, instead of persecuting."

While a resident here some twenty-five years ago, Mr. Sherbondy was a clerk at the then Hotel Plattsmouth, after leaving here he had gone west and trace of him was lost by former friends until the story of his end came through the press.
