Roosevelt to Call Congress in Case of War

President at Hyde Park Indicates Will Call Special Session if Warfare in Europe Starts.

HYDE PARK, Aug. 11 (UP)—President Roosevelt said today that if an actual war crisis develops in Europe or the Far East he immediately will call congress back in special session to enact legislation to preserve the neutrality of the United States on a basis of international law.

Choosing his words carefully, Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference that he knows of no reason at the present time, however, for calling congress back before its regular session next January. But if, before congress reconvenes, Mr. Roosevelt said, an actual war crisis becomes imminent in Europe or the Far East, he immediately will convene congress. In other words, he said, if it becomes reasonably certain that here was going to be war he would call a special session to issue neutrality of the United States along the lines of international law so that this country would not become involved in the conflagration.

CATTLE ON FEED LARGER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UP)—The agriculture department reported today that a number of cattle on feed for market in the corn belt states August 1 was 16 per cent larger than on August 1, last year.

The report showed a steady general increase over virtually the entire area in the number of cattle being fattened for slaughter. On January 1 the number was seven per cent larger and on April 1 thirteen per cent larger than a year earlier. The department did not estimate the number of cattle on feed. In nine of the ten states in the corn belt the number on feed was larger August 1 than a year earlier.

DIES IN CALIFORNIA

From Tuesday's Daily—Word was received here today of the death of Percy H. Fields, 54, former resident of Plattsouth, who for the past sixteen years has made his home at Los Angeles. Mr. Fields had been ill for the past two weeks, suffering from a throat infection that caused his death.

PURCHASE STEEL BINS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (UP)—The agriculture department awarded contracts late yesterday for purchase of steel bins to store 43,279,900 bushels of corn.

Six companies were given contracts for 25,500 bins to cost $3,611,520. Additional bins will be purchased if needed to store corn turned over to the Commodity Credit Corporation in payment of loans, officials said.

At least one bin, having a capacity of 1,000 to 2,000 bushels of shelled corn will be located in virtually every community throughout the corn belt. Eventually the department expects to purchase bins for the storage of 100,000,000 bushels of corn.

Nebraska Corn Yield Estimate 10 Bu. to Acre

State-Federal Statistician Anderson Sees Very Large Decrease in State Yield in July.

A. E. Anderson, state-federal agricultural statistician, attributed the market reduction in the corn crop forecast from 167,325,000 bushels July 1 to 72,750,000 Aug. 1 to the extremely hot weather during the second week of July. This is an average yield of ten bushels per acre.

"Our corn this year," he commented, "was a little early and the foliage was unusually heavy. Just at the critical time when it should have been shooting ears, we received a few days of extremely high temperatures.

"With the heavy foliage to support, much of the corn simply couldn't get moisture enough to keep the plant alive in the face of the heat and at the same time sprout ears. Usually, we don't get our extremely hot weather until after the corn has tasseled and eared, but this year the heat came early."

Nebraska produced 107,735,000 bushels of corn last year, and the average yield per acre was 14.5 bushels. Average production for the 10-year period from 1928-37 is 159,176,000 bushels and the average yield 16.7 bushels.

If the 72,750,000 bushel forecast as of Aug. 1 follows thru this year, the crop will be the smallest since the extreme drought year of 1936, when 26,559,000 bushels were produced.

Wheat Estimate

Nebraska's 1939 winter wheat crop was estimated at 34,432,000 bushels by the U. S. agriculture department, based on Aug. 1 conditions. The figure was the same as a month ago. The average yield was fixed at 11.5 bushels.

The same forecast as a month ago also was made for the 1939 Nebraska's oats crop—19,040,000 bushels with an average yield per acre of 14 bushels.

Potato prospects, meanwhile, declined from 6,020,000 bushels July 1 to 5,590,000 bushels Aug. 1. The average yield a month ago was expected to be 70 bushels; on Aug. 1 it was set at 65 bushels.

BELITTLE BURKE STATEMENT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12 (UP)—Democratic leaders attending the Young Democrats national convention were inclined to belittle the prediction of Senator Edward R. Burke, D., Neb., that President Roosevelt will head a third party ticket in 1940 to oppose a coalition of republicans and democrats.

In his statement issued at Omaha, Senator Burke said the coalition candidate should be someone like Senator Robert A. Taft, R., Ohio.

While withholding official comment, several prominent democrats indicated that they believed it was a "case of sour grapes" on Senator Burke's part and his prediction had been anticipated.

A leading Nebraska democrat, who did not want his name used, said:

"Oh, well I could predict that the end of the world is coming but it wouldn't mean anything. As long as it is not a vital issue I can't see any reason for making a statement."

SEE ADEQUATE STOCK SUPPLY

LINCOLN, Aug. 12 (UP)—Sorghums and other late wheat crops promise to provide an adequate food supply for Nebraska livestock despite the drastic slump in corn prospects, the state federal division of agriculture statistics reported today.

Commenting on the slump in the corn forecast from 167,325,000 bushels July 1 to 72,750,000 August 1, Crop Statistician A. E. Anderson said:

"Extremely high temperatures with hot winds coupled with drought during the second week of July is responsible for the damage. A few of the extreme southeastern counties and those bordering the Missouri river from Richardson to Cedar, inclusive, will produce fair to good crops of corn."

FAIRS ATTRACT MOTORISTS

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A cross section survey of the more than 1,000,000 members of the American Automobile Association revealed that more than three-fourths will visit either the San Francisco or New York world's fair this year, or both. Nearly 25 per cent will stay longer than the usual two-week vacation period and more than 40 per cent will drive 3,000 miles.
