Booher conducted the services at the Methodist church on Sunday evening. They also visited with their daughter, Mrs. Paul Griffin and husband.

Union to Play at Council Bluffs. The Union baseball team is to play at the opening of a tournament at Council Bluffs the coming Saturday night and will be the only team outside of Iowa to participate in the tournament. The Union team will play Saturday against the Minden Avoca team for a place in the first or second class known as A and B after which the real games will begin with Sunday.

In a game which the Union team played with a team from Weeping Water last Sunday the home team lost to the visitors by a score of 2 to 1.

Visited With Friend Monday. Mrs. Clara Towne was a guest for the day last Monday at the home of her friend, Mrs. Charles Westart, formerly Miss Mae Stine, west of Murray. The ladies enjoyed a very pleasant day visiting together and also enjoyed a delightful evening dinner together.

Visited at Union. The writer was somewhat surprised last Monday when as he was about to enter a place of business in Union he heard a familiar voice call from across the street, calling him by his first name, and turning saw

Ed Jenks and Frank Lane of Waukeo, Iowa, who had been visiting at Denver and were returning to their Iowa home. The writer had been at Waukeo the day before and was able to tell the gentleman the condition of the aged mother of Mr. Lane who is 94 years of age and was very ill, which the son did not know. When apprised of her illness the two gentlemen hastened to their home at Waukeo.

Enjoy Well Earned Vacation. Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Rihn who departed last week for a number of places in Iowa and found them selves at Storm Lake in the northwestern portion of Iowa where they enjoyed the fishing, swimming and boating to their heart's content. They spent a number of days there and also at other places and enjoyed an excellent vacation which brought them back much refreshed and ready to tackle the problems of business, civic and social.

Many Union People at Reunion. Many Union people were among the 370 people who attended the Rock Bluffs reunion last Sunday. The program was presided over by W. R. Young, and many interesting addresses were given telling of incidents of the early days when Rock Bluffs was a thriving river town.

Many were called upon for addresses and among these was A. L. Becker, who was born in eastern Cass county some 75 years ago. He told of the time when he as a boy attended the country schools and as a young man began the life work which culminated in he with his fellow workers bringing a new country and a new state of society to this then undeveloped country.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Clyde Cook, September 8th.—Robert Kendall, news reporter.

VISIT IN CENTRAL WEST
From Wednesday's Daily—
Mrs. L. D. Hiatt and daughters, Alice and Helen, returned last evening from an outing in the central west in northern Illinois and parts of Wisconsin. They spent several days at Peoria, Illinois, at the Bruce Miller home, finding that section of Illinois in the very best condition as regards their crops, corn being the best in years and fruit crops also very fine. They had then gone to Chicago and were guests at the Paul Lutz home, their stay there enabling them to see many very attractive places in the nation's second largest city, finding this one of the greatest interest. Mrs. Hiatt and daughters also had the pleasure of a visit in Wisconsin and viewing much of the productive sections between Chicago and Milwaukee, the Lake Michigan city also being very attractive to them in their stay. It was a visit that they will all pleasantly remember.

ENJOY MOTOR BOAT TRIP
Carl Chriswiger, George Perry, Dean Snyder, and Floyd Yelick made a motor boat trip from Florence to Plattsmouth Sunday. Taking the boat to Omaha by auto, where it was launched at the Douglas street bridge, they then went up the river to Florence and returned to Plattsmouth. The trip was made in about two hours and enjoyed very much by the four men.

Mason Wescott Receives Degree at Northwestern

Mason Eaton Wescott Receives Degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Summer School Session.

Three students from Nebraska were among the 540 students to receive degrees from Northwestern university as the eight-week summer session in Evanston ended this week.

The students who were given their degrees at the summer session comprised Mason Eaton Wescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wescott, of this city, who was awarded a doctorship in philosophy, who was a graduate of the Plattsmouth schools and later of Northwestern University and is now making his home in Chicago.

Others were Russell Vasey Wides, Omaha, master of music, and Harry Gabriel Langley, Fremont, master of arts.

Features of the occasion, one of the largest in the history of the university, were the Institute of Democracy, a new unit in which distinguished professors united in an attempt to strengthen and preserve our democratic way of life; a series of public lectures in Contemporary Thought; and a new symposium course, taught by a staff of 20, in speech problems.

Among the visiting members of the faculty were Dr. Arthur Holcombe, chairman of the department of government at Harvard university; Dr. Beth Wellman, professor of education at the University of Iowa; Dr. Edward R. Ross, professor emeritus of sociology at the University of Wisconsin; and Dr. John Brubacher, professor of education at Yale university.

More than 4,200 students attended the session.

BOXING FOR KARNIVAL
King Korn Karnival entertainment committees are busy arranging a stellar attraction for the King Korn Karnival, striving, as always to make each festival better than the preceding year.

This year, one of Plattsmouth's foremost sports world characters has been called upon to furnish some sports attractions and has responded nobly. Former world's champion welterweight boxer, Kid Graves, born in Plattsmouth, July 11, 1892 will present a number of his pupils in boxing in strictly local amateur boxing tourney.

It is likely that this tourney will be limited to but one weight class, preliminaries being staged the first night, semi-finals the second and the finals the third night. The weight division that will be presented has not yet been decided upon. Any amateur boxer can enter and those selected to strive for the prizes, donated by the Plattsmouth business men, will throw gloves at one another on the open air platform on Main street.
