Receives Severe Injury.

With the passing of George Dennis the property which he had was sold, being purchased by Frank Domingo, and lately the same has been remodeled by Mrs. O. C. Hinds and converted into an apartment house. After the painting the windows were stuck by the paint and Mrs. Hinds in attempting to lower one of the windows which was stuck had her hands slip on the window and both hands were severely lacerated by the jagged points of glass which formed when the glass broke, severing three tendons and cutting a number of arteries, which produced severe bleeding and at the same time caused intense pain. Mrs. Hinds was alone in the house, the husband being a short distance away working in the yard of their home. Mrs. Hinds rushed from the house towards home screaming for help to the husband. He ran to meet her and as she met him fainted and fell to the ground. He picked her up and carried her to Dr. Kunkel's office where she was given first aid and treatment, her wound bound up and the bleeding stopped and she put to bed. The following morning she was feeling much better and later was taken to her home nearby. The injury was severe and it will be some time before she is well again.

A. W. Hawkins, formerly a citizen of Weeping Water, later going to Kansas City to make his home was given a position at McCook on a paper and where he has been working for some time and where he has been the leader of the band at that place. Recently the paper was sold and the new proprietor brought sufficient help with him and Mr. Hawkins was out of a position. He started to return to his home at Kansas City and stopped in Weeping Water for a visit with his many friends. He would like to secure a position that would enable him to make his home here again. However he is visiting here for a time.

She was taken home by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Michelsen and family who also visited at the home of Mrs. Michelsen's folks for the day.

They Have All Been Busy.

Under the direction of Frank Wood, general secretary of the Cass county fair board, those having the preparatory work in hand have been busy and it would seem that everything is in readiness for the opening on the coming Tuesday of next week one of the most successful gatherings of the county if not the very best ever held. Be sure and do not miss the days in which those features which directly concern you will be on the program. The fair is free and it is your fair, why not make the most of it? Get a program and keep in touch with the events as they come and go. To the people of Plattsmouth: Remember that Thursday has been designated as Plattsmouth day and the people of Plattsmouth are expected to come and make it their day. This day called Plattsmouth day is expected to be attended by everyone in the county as well as Plattsmouth people. So let everybody in the county attend as many days as possible, for it will be a year again before another fair comes.

Hold Egg Eating Contest.

Last Saturday night, among the things arranged for entertaining the people was an egg eating contest, with cash prizes given. The contestants were to eat 24 raw eggs, and four volunteers, John M. Kaffenberger, Lawrence Earhardt, of near Manley, Jess Smith and Phillip Fleming were the contestants. The entrants were to eat the eggs in any case in not more than two minutes. Lawrence got his down in about a minute and a half to win the first prize of $1; Jess Smith required one minute and forty seconds for second prize; while another was slightly over that and the last contestant only got 21 eggs down in the limited two minutes.

Another feature was the singing of a song by the three little granddaughters of Alfred Gansemeyer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gansemeyer, Barbara, Jean and Vera Gansemeyer, with Caroline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Spangler at the piano.

The other three special numbers was the singing of five young men from Murdock, who are members of the male chorus of the churches of Murdock. The program was sponsored by three government departments, the postoffice, with Postmaster Sterling Amick as master of ceremonies, the government stone quarries and the farm bureau.

Having Buildings Nicely Painted.

The building which is used for the cream station of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oldham and as well for their home has been given a thorough going over, the living apartment being nicely painted in the interior, and papered while the outside has been given a thorough painting, a light buff white to conform to the Phillips Oil company colors, the outside of the market room has been trimmed in dark green. Ed Bobbit and Ed Henager were the painters.

Plant Blooms at Night

Mrs. Thede Davis had a night blooming cereus blossom at her home Saturday night which attracted a great many flower lovers. It began to open about nine o'clock and was at its best between twelve and one o'clock. These exquisite blossoms come only in the night and are gone by morning. This plant has one more bud, which Mrs. Davis is hoping will bloom during the fair. She has owned the plant four years, and it has bloomed only once before.

To Change Vocation

Miss Helen Gorder has resigned from her position as instructor of English and Arithmetic in the Junior High school and expects to change her profession to that of a librarian, as she graduated from that course in August, at Denver, where she has spent the past several summers studying.

Miss Gorder will be greatly missed in our schools as she was a teacher who was greatly beloved by all of her pupils, and in the primary department of the Congregational Sunday school, where she was superintendent. The best wishes of a host of friends will follow her wherever she may decide to go.

Special Service for Teachers

As has been the custom for several years past, the Sunday prior to the opening day of school was given over to honoring the teachers at the Congregational church, and last Sunday Rev. G. S. Hunt used as the theme for his sermon the thought that "Reverence for Things Eternal is the Beginning of All Wisdom." At the close of the morning service, all were invited to stay and eat dinner in the basement of the church with the teachers of the public school as special guests. Dinner was served buffet style with an abundance of good things to eat.

The teachers who are new this year and were present were introduced and they are Merlyn Cook, Miss Adaline Sjolholm, Miss Marguerite Brown and Miss Helen Kincaid.

Suffered Severe Cuts

Mrs. O. C. Hinds had a very serious and painful accident last week when she attempted to close a window which had been newly painted and had stuck. Her hands slipped and went through the glass severing the arteries of the right arm and lacerating the left arm badly. The accident happened at what is known as the Dennis property, which is being transferred into an apartment house, and she had gone there in the evening to see if all the windows were closed. As she was alone when the accident happened, she started home, a block away, calling to her husband as she went. Hearing her call, he met her when she fainted away. She was taken to Kunkel's hospital, where her suffering was relieved and she had the best of care. She is reported to be recovering as rapidly as possible.

Home from Enjoyable Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Knud Jensen and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crozier had a very delightful trip to Yellowstone National park and the Black Hills country, where they spent two weeks. From there they went to Burke, S. D., where the Croziers remained another week visiting at the home of Mr. Crozier's sister, Mrs. F. J. Farenbacher and Mr. Farenbacher. Mr. Farenbacher is the publisher of the Burke Gazette. Their son is the editor and Mrs. Farenbacher is the reporter.

Splendid Safety Record

C. C. C. Camp, No. 751 (Camp Cass) of Weeping Water has a very unusual safety record, of which they are very proud. They have had no accidents for three years and were more than pleased recently when the director in Washington, D. C., wrote and asked for pictures of the camp personnel, leaders and assistant leaders. These pictures will be printed in the national C. C. C. paper "Happy Days." As far as they know, this is the best safety record of any camp in the United States.

Married at San Francisco

Word was received here of the marriage on July 26, of Miss Genevieve Byers of San Francisco, and Henry Friesel, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Friesel, of Weeping Water. This was a great surprise to Henry's many friends here as he was here recently on his way to the fair at New York and he failed to tell his friends of his coming marriage. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to the happy couple.

Cass Co. Fellowship Association

The Cass County Church Fellowship Association held their first meeting this fall at the Christian church at Elmwood Sunday afternoon, with Rev. Paul Dick, of Myrard, presiding, and Rev. W. D. Lenker, of Weeping Water, secretary. The Misses Ethel, Ruth and Lucille Stevens, daughters of Rev. Stevens of Elmwood, sang "Have Thine Own Way Lord" and Miss Lois Enterline sang "Beautiful Garden of Prayer," after which the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. H. G. McClusky, of Plattsmouth, used the following text for the theme of his talk: "Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meat that lasteth unto everlasting life." Mrs. G. D. Enterline of Elmwood presided at the piano during the program.

Following the services, a business meeting was held, when Elmer Sundstrom of Plattsmouth presented the matter of the religious day at the Korn Carnival at Plattsmouth. It was decided to co-operate with the Korn Carnival committee in every way to make this day a success.

A special committee consisting of E. M. Hawkins, publication chairman; F. C. Weber, advertising chairman; G. S. Hunt, survey chairman; Paul Dick, publicity chairman, were appointed to have charge of special loyalty work for the association to be done in November. The next meeting of the association will be held at the M. E. church in Weeping Water.

Building Open for Inspection

The new Weeping Water public school building was open for inspection Saturday and there was a constant stream of visitors until late in the evening. Supt. L. H. Behrends, Custodian S. J. Ambler and members of the school board were present and conducted the visitors through the building.

Weeping Water may well be proud of this beautiful modern school building, equipped with a fine auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 478, and a very large stage, which will also be used as a gymnasium. This auditorium has its own special heating and air conditioning plant, with heavy black curtains that can be drawn to exclude all light for use with moving pictures, and concealed footlights for the stage.

Trophy cases are in the main hall. Kindergarten and all the first eight grade rooms are on the first floor, with lockers for each room. High school library and assembly room are combined and on the second floor, as are also high school class rooms and the superintendent's office.

Each room has its own clock with the master clock in the office with automatic control which signals all classes and recreation hours. The music department is proud of its room with special sounding properties and store rooms for music. The exterior of the building is brick.

Preparations are being made for having the ground landscaped. The old grade school building will be torn down immediately. The street between the two blocks which are owned by the public school has been condemned and will be included in the play ground.

The firm of Fisk and McGinnis, of Lincoln, were the architects and Alquist and Sons of Central City were the contractors.
