Flower Display at Fair.
The flower display at the county fair which was under the direction of the Weeping Water Garden club, while it was very beautiful, and displayed almost unlimited number of flowers, of all kinds, was not as beautiful as it would have been had it not been for the strong hot winds that tore to pieces the flowers out of doors and also the hot and dry atmosphere which robbed the exhibits of much of their beauty. However the exhibits showed great care and work by the members and those who had the flowers on exhibition.

The Friday's Parade.
The people who had charge of the parade and those participating in the same and many others who had in mind and had made preparations to take part in the parade, had much to contend with in the matter of high winds an excessive heat. Death of Mrs. Van Sant at the Masonic Home

Native of New York Deceased Has Been Resident of Nebraska and Omaha for Many Years.

From Monday's Daily—
The death of Mrs. Sarah M. Van Sant, 78, occurred this morning at the Methodist hospital at Omaha, where she was taken a week ago to undergo treatment for an illness of some duration, her ill health covering the past few years.

Mrs. Van Sant was born at Flatbush, New York, on March 1, 1861, and spent her younger years there, later moving west to Nebraska and for many years resided in Omaha where Mr. Van Sant was engaged in the commission business.

On November 12, 1931, Mr. and Mrs. Van Sant were admitted to the Nebraska Masonic Home, from Bee Hive lodge 184, A. F. & A. M., they making their home here since that time. During the illness of the wife Mr. Van Sant has been at Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Sant celebrated their golden wedding at the Home on December 25, 1938 and received many recognitions of the anniversary.

The body is at the Brewer-Korisko funeral home in Omaha to await the funeral arrangements. The burial will be at Forest Lawn, Omaha.

FUNERAL OF MRS VAN SANT

Funeral services for the late Mrs. I. L. Van Sant, who made her home at the Masonic Home and who passed away Monday morning at the Methodist hospital in Omaha, were held this afternoon at 2:30 at the Brewer-Korisko chapel. Rev. B. J. Brinkema and Adah chapter No. 52, Order of Eastern Star, had charge of the services. Interment was made in the Forest Lawn cemetery.

a number of very fine floats were in the parade the same was cut short by those unable to appear. This is like the farmer who plants, plows and cultivates his crops to find that a lack of moisture, grasshoppers and chinch bugs have ruined his otherwise fine prospects for a good corn crop, and after he has expended his time and money to produce it.

However, notwithstanding the discouragement this year's fair was a success, and with the new building in readiness for next year's fair, it should be even more successful.

Weather Unfavorable

The hot, dry, windy weather during the county fair of 1939 will go down in history as the worst ever remembered by the oldest inhabitant. Each day was a battle with the elements and man was almost beaten. It was extremely hard for those who had the brunt of the work to do, and they are worthy of much praise for the wonderful way in which they carried on despite the unpleasant weather conditions.

Many Attend University.

A large number of the young people of Weeping Water are to become students of the University of Nebraska this year. Among those listed for the state university from Weeping Water are Clint Wilkinson, Jr., Conant Wiles, Dorothy Everett, Arthur Everett, Linville Prall, Marvin Kivitt, Max Raines, Eibert Grosser, Joseph Fitzgerald, Dora Janet Marshall.

Many at Fair Friday

Everybody came to the fair on the last day, Friday, regardless of the weather. It was school children's day also and all departments were crowded with sightseers. Concessions were busy and everyone had a good time. It was a record-breaking crowd. The parade was smaller than usual, owing to the extreme heat and the wind which tore the decorations off the floats almost as quickly as they were decorated. The intense heat kept many out of the parade also, but this is only one year and next year is another, and we will all look forward to the coming year. There is something about a county fair which thrills young and old. We look forward to them all summer and prepare exhibits. The sight of a blue ribbon brings joy to the heart, whether it be found on a jar of peach pickles, a piece of needle work, or on a fine horse. So we all return home vowing that we will prepare many more exhibits next year. The vow may never be fulfilled, but it is heartwarming while it lasts.

One's education is never complete unless they have attended a county fair, and then not until they have taken part by exhibiting and helping in some way.
