

Coronation Committee Does Hard Work

Success of Event Due to Excellent Work of Mrs. L. S. Devoe and Her Staff of Assistants.

Much credit is due to the members of the King Korn Karnival coronation committee for their willingness and untiring efforts in arranging and decorating for the gala event. Mrs. L. S. Devoe served as the chairman for the coronation and her work was untiring. She was ably assisted by Lumir Gerner as co-chairman and Misses Florence Beighley, Jessie Whelan, Wilhelmina Henriksen, Edith Solomon, Gertrude Vallery, Mrs. Elmer Sundstrom, Mrs. Frank Mullen, and Mrs. John Sattler, Jr.

The members of the costume committee comprised Mrs. Frank Mullen and Mrs. Elmer Sundstrom as co-chairmen. They were assisted by Mrs. William Woolcott, Mrs. L. S. Devoe, and Mrs. Jacobs. The costumes were cut out and sewed by the ladies of the Sewing Center under the direction of Mrs. William Woolcott. Their generosity in donating their time to the preparation of these costumes showed evidence of cooperation and willingness in making the coronation a success. The ladies who partook in the donation of their time were: Mrs. Hillard Epler, Mrs. Henry Klinger, Mrs. Esther Whiteley, Mrs. June Byers, Miss Minnie Kislings, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Campbell, and Mrs. Price.

Mrs. John Sattler, Jr. served as chairman of the committee who took charge of the pages. She was assisted by Mrs. William Schmidtman, Mrs. C. H. Martin, Mrs. Charles Petersen also assisted the ladies in costuming these pages. Miss Wilhelmina Henriksen and Clement Woster were in charge of the princesses and knights and they were assisted by Misses Edith Solomon and Marion Olson.

Mrs. Charles Walden and Miss Gertrude Vallery were in charge of the countesses and counts. County Attorney Walter Smith served as the official greeter and master of ceremonies at the reception tendered the royal monarchs of Kordland at the Hotel Plattsmouth. Assisting him were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knorr, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis.

Lumir Gerner was the chairman of the platform and lighting committee and he was assisted by Misses Florence Beighley, Jessie Whelan, Thelma Kruger, Lucille Ramel, Albert Glaubitz, Jacob Cook, Neil Lancaster, and James Yelick.

Mrs. Clayton Cross was in charge of the crown bearers and train bearers.

The master of ceremonies at the coronation ball was Vincent Kelley, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Hostesses were selected from the Junior Woman's club of which Miss Wilhelmina Henriksen was chairman. Her assistants were Misses Alice Hiatt, Marie Nolting, Neomi Day, Anne Knieke, Marion Olson, Edith Solomon, and Mrs. Charles Howard.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce members and the Junior Woman's club members had charge of the hall decorations.

Orville Kintz Dies Suddenly on Wednesday

Prominent Resident of Community Stricken While at Daily Tasks, Dies Short Time Later.

The death of Orville Kintz, 59, occurred Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock following a heart attack that he suffered a short time before while at his work as a contractor on a building near Murray.

Mr. Kintz was taken home after he was taken ill and died a short time later of a severe heart attack, he having suffered from this ailment for some time.

Orville Kintz was born at Decatur, Illinois, November 22, 1880, he spending his youth there and later moving west to Nebraska, where he located at Plattsmouth and was engaged first as a workman in the local shops and later following his trade as carpenter and contractor in which he has been engaged since.

Mr. Kintz was married on June 21, 1916 to Miss Katherine Kaffenberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kaffenberger, who is left to mourn his passing. There is also surviving two sisters, Mrs. Will Kohne, Decatur, Indiana, Mrs. John Junk, Fort Wayne, Indiana; two brothers, John Kintz, Decatur, Indiana, Eugene Kintz, Vandevent, Ohio. The parents, step-mother, two sisters and four brothers preceded him in death.

He was a member of the local council of the Knights of Columbus. Mr. Kintz was a very genial and pleasant gentleman and will be greatly missed among the members of the family circle and the host of friends with whom he has been associated down through the years. In their loss the members of the family will have the deep sympathy of the many old friends.

HONOR LOCAL MAN

The American Red Cross Courier in their last issue paid a fine tribute to one of Plattsmouth's residents and his business firm, Edward G. Ofc and the Ofc Service station. The article was one covering the part that Mr. Ofc and his station has played in the role of Red Cross first aid in this community for the past two years. The station has a fully equipped first aid equipment and Mr. Ofc personally has directed the work of giving first aid at a large number of auto accidents, many of these being among the most severe in the state.

This is a well justified recognition of a piece of good work well carried out and in their nation wide publication the Red Cross has given the information to its workers of what a well organized and alert unit can do in giving aid to the injured and maimed on the highway in case of a wreck. There have been dozens of cases where the prompt work of Mr. Ofc personally and his unit have saved many from perhaps fatal effects of injuries.

DIES AT LOUISVILLE

The death of Mrs. I. B. Green, 69, occurred on Wednesday at Louisville where she has been making her home. Mrs. Green was formerly Olive Jennings and well known in this city and vicinity. She is survived by her husband, Ira Green, four sons and five daughters, Mrs. Edith Landis of this city, Mrs. Dulcia Darnold, Fort Madison, Iowa, Mrs. Sylvia Irwin, Louisville, Mrs. Mary Peterson, St. Paul, Nebraska, Mrs. Harriett Lawrence Auburn, Silas Green, Ralston, Heston Green, Sedalia, Mo., Hillery Paul, Louisville. There are also three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Arch Stephens, Auburn, Mrs. Dwight Valentine, Torrington, Wyoming, Mrs. Earl Cook, Albion, Thomas, Murray and Lee of Auburn, a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Funeral services Friday, September 22 at 2 o'clock in Louisville.

A WONDERFUL SHOWING

The visitors and especially the lady visitors to the King Korn Karnival have found an unending delight in the showing of needle and fancy work shown at the room in the Hatt building. Here the ladies of the county have gathered many really wonderful pieces of needlework that is a tribute to their skill and artistic ability.

Crocheted bed spread, table covers and many articles are to be found as well as quilts that showed infinite work in the making on the part of their owners.

ONLY ONE

There are many places in Cass county where you can sell your Cream and other farm produce—but only ONE CREAMERY engaged in processing the product and supporting a pay roll. We always pay as much (if not more) for your Cream as anyone, and believe that the added feature of our local payroll is worth something to the cream sellers of Cass county. Bring us your Cream and Produce.

WATERMELON EATERS

Bill Wetenkamp was a busy man Thursday afternoon when he was bossing the watermelon eating contest and it is a safe bet that a bunch of boys are not yearning for any melon today.

In the class over sixteen years, William Allbee was first, beating Don Martin, local high school student by bites, while Don Dooly was in third place.

In the class under sixteen years, Lester Baxter was first, Billy Knofleek was second and Johnny Anderson third.

CHARLES WOOSTER LOW

From Friday's Daily— Friends and relatives here of Charles Wooster, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wooster, were informed yesterday of his serious condition at a St. Louis, Missouri hospital. Mr. Wooster has been ill since Tuesday, Sept. 12. He was taken to the hospital on Friday, Sept. 15 and since his removal there he has gradually grown weaker. Members of the family from a close distance were called to his bedside this week. Mrs. Frank Prohaska of this city is a sister of the sick man.

NORFOLK VISITORS HERE

Ben J. Stein, secretary of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, was in the city Friday with several of the members of the civic organization, enjoying the highlights of the King Korn Karnival. The Norfolk people are visiting a number of the activities of the various cities that are holding these fall festivals in eastern Nebraska.

Corn Exhibit is One of the Best in Many Years

Corn Palace at 4th and Main Streets Proves a Real Attraction in its Fine Exhibits.

The general outlook of Plattsmouth's corn crop seemingly shows little evidence of experiencing a hot and unseasonably dry year, according to the numerous entries that are now on exhibit at the Korn Palace, which is this year located on corner of south Fourth street, second door east of the Journal building.

The well known and most widely grown hybrid corn is the prevailing type of corn on display. Six booths, each advertising and displaying their types of corn, have exhibits in the building. Some of these are: 1. Rob See Co. Weatherproof Punk's "G" Hybrids corn. Local dealers for this variety of corn are Leonard Stoehr of this city and John Hobscheidt of Murray. The Rob See Co. will hold a Field Day on the Donald Born farm, three miles west of Plattsmouth, September 29. Free eats, 2. Sterling Ingwersen is the local dealer for the "Pioneer Hybrid" seed corn, which is also represented. This booth submitted the information that the national cornhusking contest will be held at Lawrence, Kansas on November 3. 3. "Iowalth Hybrid," which is represented by Herman Meisinger of Myrard, was the third booth advertising another hybrid product. 4. The "De Kalb Hybrid" seed corn is well represented among the corn classifications. Among the various entries in the corn raised was one that John Vallery raised with a John Deere equipment. 5. "Steeckley's M. L. (Moew-Lowe) Hybrid" corn was seen by hundreds who have passed the booth. "This type of hybrid is one of the newest types out. It is a deep kernel, soft textured corn which would make a good feeding corn," says E. G. Steeckley of Weeping Water. 6. The sixth and last type of hybrid on exhibit was the "Pfeister Hybrids."

The Freshmen Economics class of the local high school was represented at the Korn Palace exhibits. The entry was in the nature of needle work and foodstuffs, which were canned.

Mr. Paul G. Rupert, resident of the Nebraska Masonic Home, has on display a number of artistic exhibits. An all vegetable basket formed into a floral bouquet was designed and made by Mr. Rupright. A home-made picture, the objects consisting of a well, home-made covered wagon, and a home, was formed out of eleven colors of corn. The frame is made of pine cones.

A corn cob—aged fifty-six years—is on display. A. C. Carey being the exhibitor. Mr. Carey has had this cob since 1883 and is still in good condition.

The Norfolk Packing Co., the honey exhibit of Chas. Warga, and many others that are familiar to Cass county people are shown in the Korn Palace. The varieties of fruit, vegetables, and other products—which show the effects of a favorable year—are enormous this year. "Don't miss seeing the exhibits at the Korn Palace," says James Hall, who has had charge of this particular phase of the King Korn Karnival for many years.

N. C. KNOCKS OFF ASHLAND

From Saturday's Daily— Last evening the Nebraska City high school football team cleaned up on the Ashland team that last year was kicking their rivals in this section around the gridiron. The score of 38 to 0 for the Oteans. The Nebraska City team plays here on November 10th.
