Omaha has a case of small-pox. The party affected is a tramp named Hammond and hails from Chicago. He was taken sick the other day at Fairfield, Iowa, while aboard a Burlington freight train, and passed through Plattsmouth Wednesday night.

The Eagle Eagle says: "Some fellow left a chestnut sorrel horse and a carriage at A. Prouty's farm house last Sunday during the absence of Mr. Prouty. He also left a note stating that someone would call for the horse soon. It is thought that it is the same rig that was stolen at Plattsmouth last week."

George Farthing, who has been a sufferer from consumption for some time past, died at 11 o'clock Monday night at the home of his brother, J. L. Farthing, on north Sixth street. The people of Alliance have seemingly grown tired of fighting prairie fires every week or so and have closed a contract for the erection of a $10,000 system of water works. Alliance is one of the liveliest towns in northwestern Nebraska and her continued progress shows that her citizens are made of the right sort of stuff.

Chauncey Doty, the aged Bethlehemite who was struck by B. & M. No. 3 in the local yards some two months ago, was on the streets Saturday for the first time since the accident. He was looking first-rate and although over seventy years of age, seems able to withstand a score of years and as many railroad accidents before quitting this life.

The spirit of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hendee departed from this life Saturday afternoon. The little one's ailment was a complication of pneumonia and la grippe. Clothier Joe Klein returned last Thursday from a hurried business trip to Chicago, and while there ordered a large and stylish line of clothing, furnishings, etc., the equal of which has never been shown in the county. The goods will be here in a few days, and buyers who desire to save money and at the same time secure the best, should not fail to give Joe a call.

Col. Burton is whooping things up over at Pacific Junction, and as evidence that he is giving the people of the Junction a real live newspaper, it is only necessary to state that a tough citizen waited on him a few days ago and threatened to annihilate him, all because he had printed an item of court news. The tough citizen is now in the county jail and the colonel and his newspaper are showing evidences of great prosperity.

The report of the live stock inspectors at Omaha shows that South Omaha is nearly double Chicago in the receipts of range cattle for the last range year, from April 1, 1893, to April 1, 1894. The number of head received were:

Cass County Teachers Resolve.

The following resolutions were adopted by the teachers at the county institute recently held at Weeping Water:

WHEREAS, It is a custom in this and many other counties, for district boards to employ different teachers for the different terms of the school year, and

WHEREAS, Experience and observation have shown that this custom does not produce so good results as when the teacher is employed for the entire year, for the following reasons:

1. No general plan in work can be followed through the year.

2. There is much time wasted by each new teacher in his or her efforts to properly decide the standing of the pupils and the work previously done by them.

3. No two teachers have the same methods of instruction and the pupils are confused and discouraged by the frequent changes.

4. The school boards will be inclined to employ more competent teachers if they contract with them for an entire year.

5. The teachers are able to do better work when they know they have steady work for a year.

Therefore, Be it resolved, that we, the teachers of Cass county, in convention assembled, most earnestly recommend that the district boards, in the interest of true education, employ the teachers for an entire year instead of for one term as is now the custom.

WHEREAS, The fees resulting from the examination of applicants for teacher's certificates, and the present appropriation by the county commissioners, are not sufficient to meet the necessary expenses of the annual institute; and

WHEREAS, The deficiency is now made up by assessing teachers in attendance.

Therefore, Be it resolved, that we, the teachers of Cass county, petition the board of county commissioners to increase the annual appropriation, from its present amount, to one hundred dollars.
