THE TARIFF BILL.

Merits of the Measure Discussed by the Senators

On the 13th Mr. Peffer concluded his long tariff speech in the senate making it clear what the attitude of one of the populists is. He will not vote for the tariff bill as it now stands, notwithstanding it contains the income tax provision. His chief objection is to provisions of the revised Wilson bill as to wool and sugar. Mr. Peffer thinks that the sugar-beet industry of his section should be proof his section should be pro-tected, if the refiners are to be protected, and he cannot understand why wool should be made free and duties be retained on woolen manufactures. There are a great many who share Mr. Peffer's views. Mr. Allen, another popu-list, has privately indicated that he would be compelled to vote against the bill for the reasous indicated by Mr. Peffer. Mr. Peffer, in fact, maintains that the pending bill discriminates against the farming interests.

On the 14th Senator Quay (rep., Pa.) said that it had been hoped, and with apparent reason for the hope, that when this bill entered the senate it would be broadened out of its sec-tionalism, divorced from its narrow partisan ship, and from the mysterious recesses of the retort of the so-called subcommittees of the superheated furnace of a party caucus and from the seething caldron of the full responsible majority of the committee on finance it would at last emerge purified of its dross and so freed from all defects and dangers as to stand before us a measure which could be adopted with practical unanimity, because it would give the business interests of this country tranquillity by taking for at least an appreciable period the tariff out of politics. The senator said that that would be an ideal solution of this great question, which would inaugurate an era of peace and herald the turn of prolonged prosperity. He said that these internecine raids upon domestic industries, which were so closely associated with political changes, have cost this country more than all the military wars for which every generation inevitable result the paralysis of business, the halting of trade, the suspension of purchases, the stoppage of production, the deprivation to thousands of their usual means of livelihood and an incredible shrinkage of value. "The McKinley act," he said, "was not a principle; it was an experimental application of a theory. The McKinley bill was designed as an exemplification of the republican ide a o people the test of fealty. And I do not hesitate to add that even the misrule of the republican party is to be preferred to the communism of the populists and socialists. If that be treason then self-appointed censors of Minnesota do right to lay the charge at my door."

On the 18th Senator Morrill (rep., Vt) expressed his regret that the financial and industrial crisis had to be continued by a valugiori-ous and clumsy attempt to carry out the democratic platform. He made some rather biting references to the trouble in which the demo out some of the items in which he thought they had compromised with their principles and provided for a protective tariff on such articles as would win votes for the bill.

"Concerning the rates of duties reported in the tariff bill," he said, "it is no violation of the confidential relations of the senate commit tee on finance to state how they were all fixed

RUMORS OF A FIGHT.

The Story of a Battle with the Daltons Appears to Be True.

GUTHRIE, O. T., April 28.-The report received of a battle between the Dalton gang and deputy marshals near Ingalls, 55 miles from this city, is confirmed. The fight occurred at the house of Bruce Miller, one of the outlaws. The officers surrounded the house, all of them armed with rifles, just before daylight. The Dalton bandits were inside. No shots were fired until one of the desperadoes came out just about daylight to feed the horses. He was held up and told to take a look around the grounds and then return to the house, tell the bandits to come out one at a time unarmed and surrender or hostilities would be commenced. After looking over the field and finding in shooting distance of the house twenty well-armed men the outlaw returned to his companions. A half hour's consultation was held by the bandits. Then the officers in command of the party ordered the men to begin firing. The caged bandits poured a rattling fire back through the windows and crevices of the house. Good Chance for Amicable Settlement of Much Uneasiness Felt Over Strikes and Tariff Uncertainty.

NEW YORK, April 28.-R. G. Dun &

"New orders for future distribution are still materially restricted by uncertainty about action at Washington and about the extent and outcome of labor difficulties. Most of the Minneapolis. On Thursday recovery realized in business has been made possible by the consent of workers to accept lower wages for a time, and if they insist on restoration of wages before consomp-tion has restored prices many works must stop. The great strike threatened by bituminous coal miners, and strikes of associated employes on some railroads, make the future less hopeful. Exports of gold had some in-fluence, and continuing loss in earnings some.

It is the company's further extension of strikes and other labor disturbances, no plainly retarding influence is manifesting itself. So far as learned there are about twenty-three additional strikes, in volving 21,000 people. This brings the total number of those now on strike or idle because of strikes up to 60,000. The week also furnishes eleven shut-downs of important industrial establishments more than offset by resumptions. at thirty-two others, which furnish employment to 5,000 operatives, although seven important establishments announced reduction of wages. The heraided announcement that 200,-000 coal miners will strike has occasioned uneasiness among manufacturers at many central and western cities owing to the prospective scarcity of fuel. Cities along the line of the Great Northern railroad, which road is now at a standstill because of a strike of employes, are finding their reduced volumes of business still further curtailed, and at Chicago labor troubles seriously affect the building trades. "Cincinnati, Louisville, Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul report hardly as favorable trade conditions as in the preceding week. The first two announce that business is duller, while in the northwest the railway strike and wet weather are in part responsible. On the other hand, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee and Kansas City announce considerable improvement in the jobbing demand and in several instances among manufacturing indus-tries. At Omaha trade is checked, due to the revival of farm work following the good rains throughout Nebraska, which was to be expected. No material change is reported from Chicago or from St Louis, the volume of business in staple lines being about an average. A fair summer's trade is anticipated.

what fostering encouragement was due to American capital and American labor. It was not perfect nor considered by its authors to be perfect." Mr. Quay continued at length, reviewing the history of tariff legislation in the country and showing the effects of high tariffs and low tariffs on the industries of the country. passage of the Wilson bill would bring to the industries of his state. On the 17th Senator McLaurin, of Missis of El Paso, Tex., was missing and a dim that he was unable to recognize supporting the tariff bill Senator Smith, of New Jersey, followed in a speech devoted en tirely to an attack on the income tax.
