IN AND AROUND THE TOWN.

Jason Streight of South Bend was in town Monday.

Thomas Akeson, of the county, was in the city Saturday.

Jno. Donelan of Weeping Water was a Plattsmouth visitor Monday.

Henry F. Taylor, one of Liberty precinct's most progressive farmers, was a county seat visitor Friday.

Geo. Lehnhoff drove out to Louisville Sunday morning for a day's visit with his uncle, Henry Lehnhoff, and family.

County Clerk Frank Dickson went to Murdock Thursday to help the assessor of that precinct untangle his books, and instruct him in the duties of his office.

The board of county commissioners completed the business of their monthly session Thursday, and departed for a trip over the county to inspect roads and bridges.

Mrs. M. D. Polk is home from a two week's visit with relatives at Greenwood and Lincoln. She was accompanied hither by Mr. Polk's mother, who will enjoy a visit of several days.

Herman Holschuh has decided to apply to the city council for a saloon license, and if his application is granted will purchase Fred Egenberger's bar fixtures and stock and conduct the business in the Rasgorshek block.

F. C. McClelland, superintendent of the local public schools, journeyed to Omaha on Saturday to make some arrangements for securing rates for an excursion of school children to Ashland, where it is the intention of holding joint field day exercises the day after the closing of schools.

Max Lemm returned from Ashland on Saturday. He secured a saloon license all right, in spite of the remonstrance filed against his application. But an appeal has been taken to the district court by the people who signed the remonstrance, and the court will have to confirm the council's action before Max can open up.

Fletcher Robbins arrived from Streator, Ills., last Thursday and will visit at his home in this city for a couple of weeks before journeying to Denver. It is the intention while Fletcher is here to arrange a boxing match between himself and Geo. Middleton of Shenandoah, Iowa. A boxing tourney, concluding with a friendly set-to for points between the two mentioned, would certainly draw a big house.

The law and order league have served public notice on the druggists of Weeping Water not to sell or give away any intoxicating liquor, except on the order of a practicing physician, and threaten prosecution for any violation of the notice. If the order is carried out to the letter it will destroy the most profitable trade of the druggists, as many of Weeping Water's wealthiest citizens made their money in the drug store business.

Rev. George S. Alexander, editor of the Syracuse Journal, died Wednesday morning, aged sixty-two years. A lupus growth around the eye was the cause of his death. The deceased has held an appointment in the Methodist Episcopal church at Lincoln and Nebraska City and has been chaplain at the penitentiary. He was a Knight Templar of the Nebraska City lodge. The funeral on Friday was under Masonic direction. Rev. Dr. Britt of this city officiated.

Since the news of Fox's appointment reached town last week that gentleman has been overwhelmed with congratulations, and offers from people who want to rent business rooms for the postoffice. For the information of people who may have eligible locations for the postoffice, THE JOURNAL will state that the office can only be removed by orders of the department at Washington, who usually cause changes in location to be made only when so petitioned by the patrons of the office.

A Verdict for Lawyer Wooley.

The trial of the suit of Lawyer Ed. Wooley, of Lincoln, vs. Oswald Baier of Nehawka, occupied the attention of County Judge Ramsey Thursday, and very properly resulted in favor of the lawyer, he being awarded a judgment for $700. Mr. Wooley was one of Baier's attorneys in the somewhat celebrated damage suit of Baier vs. the M. P. railway, which has been in the courts for the past several years. The suit was first tried in the district court of this county, but was dismissed and taken to Otoe county, where Baier was given a verdict by a jury for $5,500. The railway company appealed and after the supreme court commission had affirmed the jury's decision, the company then attacked the constitutionality of the commission. In this the company was defeated before the supreme court as well as by the U. S. supreme court at the national capital, the latter court refusing to entertain the question on the ground that it had no jurisdiction. This left the company where it had to pay, and pay it did, but unfortunately for Mr. Wooley, the money went into the hands of Mr. Bair and John C. Watson of Nebraska City, the latter being an attorney for Baier in the matter along with Mr. Travis of this city and Mr. Wooley. Mr. Travis performed some sharp hustling and received his dues, but Mr. Wooley was not so successful and was forced to bring suit, the result being as mentioned above.
