

SCOURGE SPREADING.

Another Case of Small Pox Reported From Near Bethlehem.

HAS NOT YET REACHED THE CITY

Ann Luce Will be Reformed—The Funeral of Will Long—The A. O. H. National Convention in Omaha—Other News Notes.

Another Case Reported.

Another case of small-pox is reported the victim being a Mrs. Backus, who lives a mile north and a mile east of the B. & M. bridge on the Iowa bottoms, near the Junction. It is reported that Mrs. Backus assisted in laying out for burial the body of the Sherman child, which died last week, so if the reports are authentic the origin of her case can be traced directly to cases in the Sherman family at the Junction.

It was reported Sunday that a case supposed to be small-pox had been discovered in the second ward, but when Dr. Hall and Marshal Grace visited the house it was found that there was no ground for the supposition, as it was not a case of small-pox at all. The local authorities report that in case we receive a visit of the dread disease here the pest-house will be ready to receive patients within twenty-four hours.

Ann Luce to be Reformed.

Ann Luce, of unsavory repute, who has been making life a burden for the police for several years past by baffling all their efforts to rid the town of her presence, will be given a chance to reform. She was arraigned in police court Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of conducting a house of prostitution, and the judge decided to bind her over to the district court for trial at the September term, and compel her to give bond for her appearance or have her kept in confinement at the county poor house.

Rev. Hull, the evangelist who has been holding meetings in the Palmer block, interested himself in her case and asked that she be sent to an institution for fallen women in Omaha. Ann consented to become an inmate of the institution, and will be given a chance to reform her evil ways.

Will Long's Funeral.

The funeral of Will Long, the young man who was found lying dead in the stable at his father's farm near Myard on Friday evening, was held Sunday and was largely attended. The remains of the unfortunate young man were interred at the Eikenbary cemetery, south of town.

The coroner did not hold an inquest, as it was thought to be unnecessary, the relatives of the deceased being satisfied that death was caused by an over-indulgence in alcoholic liquors and that it was not a case of suicide.

A. O. H. International Convention.

The annual international convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians commenced at Omaha Tuesday and continues for four days. Delegates from all over the United States, as well as Canada and Ireland, will be in attendance, and altogether the affair promises to attract a crowd of several thousand to the metropolis of Nebraska. Jas. Grace represents Cass county at the convention.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

R. K. Fox will wear the Police Gazette diamond belt as postmaster of Plattsmouth for the next few years.—Lincoln Call.

The appointment of Wm. K. Fox to be postmaster at Plattsmouth was confirmed by the senate on Saturday.

IN AND AROUND THE TOWN.

P. S. Barnes of Weeping Water was in town today.

Dr. Marshall, DENTIST Fitzgerald block.

Geo. H. Babbitt of South Bend precinct was in the city today, and was a caller at these headquarters.

Joshua Murray journeyed to Omaha this morning to again undergo treatment at the hands of an oculist.

Mrs. Rose Lachapelle, of Glenwood, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. C. W. Sherman and family.

Floyd Harshman, of Avoca, and Miss E. J. Storm, of Fremont, Iowa, were granted a marriage license in Douglas county Tuesday.

Congressman Bryan has been invited to deliver an address at the Fremont Chautauqua to the order of Modern Woodmen of America, of which he is a member.

Miss Dora Swearingen of Weeping Water arrived yesterday and will make her home in this city during the summer season with her brother, W. A. Swearingen, and family.

The St. John's society will give a grand ball Saturday evening, May 12, at the German Turner hall. Admission fifty cents. Everybody invited and a good time guaranteed. 10-3t

During the summer months Sunday services will be held at St. Luke's Episcopal church at the following hours: Divine services at eleven in the morning and eight in the evening, Sunday school at ten a. m.

A team belonging to Lawrance Stull, and attached to a hay wagon, ran away from in front of Fitzgerald's block yesterday noon, and for a few minutes had the right of way along the streets. They were finally captured up in the third ward.

The funeral of Mrs. Geo. Buchel occurred yesterday afternoon. Deceased was aged seventy years, seven months and twenty-three days, and was born in Berlin, Germany. She had been a resident of Plattsmouth for the past nine years. Her death occurred on Monday evening.

Dr. Hart, who removed to this city with his family from Omaha last week, has opened his office in the Waterman building, and it is one of the costliest and best furnished in the city. The doctor is a heavy owner of Plattsmouth realty and has come to make this city his permanent place of residence.

Above all others the man who has been elevated to public office is the one who should treat his fellow beings with absolute fairness. The office-holder who forgets his oath by interfering in private business matters, to the detriment of one whom he defeated at the polls, is worthy the severest condemnation. Retribution will surely come.

The Louisville Courier-Journal is unusually severe in its criticisms of County Commissioners Dutton and Hayes, while it slings soft-soap at Commissioner Young with a zeal which is on a par with its criticisms on the two other members of the board. The general understanding is that all three members of the board agree in the belief that the Louisville bridge is not in need of any repairs. Will the Courier-Journal please explain its stand?

The B. & M. railway was the victim of fire-bugs in the yards at Hastings Tuesday. A string of box-cars were fired, and before the fire was extinguished one car had been totally destroyed and several others damaged. Hardly had the first fire been extinguished when fires were discovered in the company's ice house, a barn close by and another box-car, and for a few minutes the yards were threatened with a general conflagration. The origin of the fires is unknown.

DRINK A NICE REFRESHING GLASS OF SODA WATER AT BROWN'S PHARMACY.

The free lecture to be given by Rev. Jos. Duryea, of Omaha, at the Presbyterian church on Monday evening promises to be a rare intellectual treat. The reverend gentleman will discourse on the history of Germany, and it was through the efforts of the ladies' German history class that he was prevailed upon to come to our city. Plattsmouth people should show their appreciation of something fine in the lecture line by turning out in large numbers.

AROUND THE COURT ROOMS.

DISTRICT COURT.

In the case of Frank A. Blanchard vs. Knotts Bros. and C. E. Westcott, application for restraining order taken under advisement.

In the case of Cyrus K. White vs. Herman D. Crooker and Andrew Factor, demurrer and special appearance heard and submitted.

District Judge Chapman listened to some of the testimony in the Halmes-Dovey case this morning, but through the non-arrival of some important witnesses, adjourned the hearing over until tomorrow.

COUNTY COURT.

The case of Ethridge vs. Carnes, a suit for breach of covenant on warranty deed, was being heard yesterday afternoon.

License to wed was issued in county court Monday to Mr. Chas. S. Hart, of Elmwood, and Miss Mary Marx of Lincoln.

Judgment by default was rendered in two cases against Cross Bros. and Arthur E. Cross in favor of the Commercial bank of Weeping Water for $632.65 and $850.66.

The case of E. H. Wooley vs. Oswald Baier was heard Tuesday on a motion to set aside judgment. Application over-ruled and defendant allowed ten days to prepare bill of exceptions.

In the contest case of Tutt vs. Hawkins for a seat in the council from the fifth ward, counsel for contestee submitted a motion objecting to jurisdiction of the court for the reason that the court has no proper answer day. Motion overruled, contestee to answer or plead on May 12, at ten o'clock a. m.

County Judge Ramsey, Administrator Barnes, of the Rosan Decker estate, and H. D. Travis, attorney for the latter, were winding up the final settlement of that estate in county court this afternoon. The management and settling up of this estate has been a tedious task for all parties concerned, and the three gentlemen mentioned are doubtless glad that a final settlement has been effected.

Haywood vs. Marshall is the title of a contest case which comes to the county court from Weeping Water, and a seat in the city council is the bone of contention. Tuesday afternoon Attorney Byron Clark, on behalf of the contestee, submitted a motion to quash service of summons on the grounds that the officer making the service had failed to make the proper endorsements, which motion Judge Ramsey overruled and gave Marshall until May 20th to file answer.

JUSTICE ARCHER'S COURT.

Judge Archer on Tuesday rendered his decision in the case of the Butler paper company vs. Blanchard & Potter. The decision gives plaintiff a judgment for $85.90. The amount sued for was $98.00.

Oswald Guthmann appeared before Judge Archer yesterday and filed a complaint against Wm. McCarty, alleging that Wm. had threatened to kill him. A warrant was issued and Wm. will be arrested as soon as he completes the jail sentence he is now serving.

Mel Jean occupied a bunk at the Pearl street jail Monday night. Officer Woodson had him placed there because young Jean had swiped him with a club over the forehead, cutting a large gash therein. Lawyer Sullivan appeared and went on the young man's bond in police court on Tuesday and the hearing was postponed until Saturday morning.

COURT ROOM NOTES.

County Commissioner Hayes and wife came in from their home in Stove Creek precinct Monday morning, and departed on the Burlington flyer for a two weeks' visit at their old home in Ohio.

Amended articles of incorporation for the Commercial bank of Weeping Water were filed with County Clerk Dickson today, the capital stock being reduced thereby from $40,000 to $25,000, but every cent of it, however, is paid in. The bank in question is a credit to Weeping Water and its stability is unquestioned.

Ann Luce has not yet been taken to the institution for fallen women at Omaha, but is in the custody of the county authorities. Unless she is taken to Omaha, and the officers hope that she will be, she will have to await trial at the September term of district court on a charge of conducting a house of prostitution, and in the meantime must give bond or remain in custody.

Rev. M. D. Myers, a noted evangelist of Omaha, will arrive tomorrow to assist Rev. Hull in the revival meetings which the latter is holding on the streets and in the Palmer building.

Johnson's Oriental soap is far superior to all other so-called medical soaps for beautifying the complexion. Sold by Fricke & Co.

Stem-winding gents' watches, $1.75 and upwards. A. L. COLEMAN.

WEeping WATER NOTES.

From the Eagle.

Fox of Plattsmouth had been out fishing and meeting with wonderful success. He sent an account of the same to Grover, relating his methods of getting suckers to bite. The story had a wonderful effect on our national fisherman; that Fox wants the post-office at Plattsmouth, and he shall have it. He's a genius with a rod and a man that is not afraid to go fishing on Memorial day. Here's the post-office, Kelly, and good luck to you.

The Courier-Journal of Louisville says that the county commissioners cannot see a hole in the Platte river bridge that is big enough for a man to fall through. The fact of the business is just this: The bridge was built by Louisville precinct at their own option. Now they ask the county to take charge of it and keep it in repair. This they might consent to do if they could be released from having to rebuild it when it is worn out. Judge Chapman says they must repair it; the county servants say they will not, and Sam will have to take a tumble.

Warden Deemer says that J. Benwell Karnes, one of the Akeson murderers, while working in the cooper shop, cut off one of his fingers. Proper medical attention was not given it immediately, and blood poisoning set in. On Sunday it was necessary to amputate the finger above the second joint, and as yet there is no indication of it healing. If Hill could be hitched to the end of a rope for awhile, the world would be rid of a pair of assassins that long ago should have ornamented a hangman's rope. Now that Matt Gering has got a job, it is hoped that justice will not be delayed much longer.

The Council should Take Warning.

The Plattsmouth city council can not refuse the two applications for saloon licenses now on file on any ground other than sheer bull-headedness. The applicants have the money to pay for their licenses, and if they are willing to make the investment when the business promises such poor returns, the council should certainly be willing to grant the licenses. The laws provide for the revoking of licenses, and if at any time the applicants violate the laws and lay themselves liable to such action, the council can not then be blamed if the licenses are revoked. The city treasury needs money too badly to admit of any bull-headed action on the part of the council, and the latter body will do well to take cognizance of that fact.

A party of a dozen ball players left this morning for Louisville, where they will be entertained by a club from that village with a hot game this afternoon. Jones' carryall and a four-horse team furnished the conveyance, and Sam Archer officiated as driver.
