IN AND AROUND THE TOWN.

Attorney John A. Davies will deliver an oration at Weeping Water on Memorial day.

A petition was being circulated for signatures this afternoon protesting against any removal or re-location of the postoffice.

The Plattsmouth-Springfield game of base ball at Louisville on Saturday afternoon resulted in a victory for Springfield by a score of nineteen to five.

Perry Walker is shipping his household effects back from Chicago, where his family has resided for a year past. They will soon take up their residence on West Pearl street.

F. E. White is marketing the grain stored in his elevators along the line of the B. & M., and during the last few days a half dozen cars have been loaded at his elevator here and several at Cedar Creek.

The tickets for the school excursion to Ashland on Saturday are now on sale. Price, fifty cents. The tickets are limited in number to one hundred and twenty-five. After that number have been disposed of the price will be seventy-five cents.

At the shooting match near the depot Tuesday afternoon W. D. Jones won the match with Gus Hinrichs by breaking eighteen out of twenty-five Peoria blackbirds to Hinrichs' fourteen. Harry Kuhney, who was not in for the $10 purse, broke nineteen out of twenty-five.

Field Day at Ashland.

Supt. McClelland and Prof. Halsey of the city schools are making arrangements for an excursion to Ashland on Saturday next, the occasion being field day for the Ashland and Plattsmouth schools. Arrangements have not yet been completed, but two coaches will probably be secured for the early morning train—at 7:15—returning in the evening. A low rate of fare will be made and everybody invited to go, and a large number of parents will no doubt accompany the children and enjoy a day's outing. The programme of the exercises of the day will include a number of games and sports between members of the two schools. The fact that fishing is reported to be good around Ashland will probably induce a number of the despoils of Walton to go along and cast in a line.

Justice Archer's Court.

The case of assault against Mel Jean was set for trial Monday in police court, but has been continued until June 2d.

The Holmes-Morrissey replevin case was argued before Judge Archer yesterday, and the case taken under advisement until Saturday morning.

In the case of Christina Johnson vs. the Peoples' Building Loan and Savings association, Judge Archer yesterday gave plaintiff a judgment by default for $150.

Frank J. Morgan commenced an action Friday in Judge Archer's court against A. M. Russell of Weeping Water and H. D. Travis, a suit on account, with Russell as principal and Travis as security.

Court Room Notes.

Ex-Commissioner A. C. Loder of Greenwood was a court house caller Friday.

The following applicants for teacher's certificates were being examined by Superintendent Farley on Saturday: E. B. Taylor and Mary Taylor, Union; Cora Fowler, Woodash; Lottie Dean, Murray; W. R. Woodruff and E. G. Woodruff, Weeping Water.

All legal business given prompt attention, D. O. Dwyer, attorney, Plattsmouth.

Cass County Stone All O. K.

The Omaha World-Herald lately has been endeavoring to make it appear that stone taken from the well-known quarries in this county will disintegrate after a few years, and altogether is a poor article. The object of the W-H's complaint is that the commissioners of Douglas county have arranged to use Cass county stone in laying the new macadam roads in Douglas county, and the W-H. urges that the necessary stone be imported from another state. As a matter of fact Cass county stone is by all odds the very best in Nebraska, and a Plattsmouth citizen who knows whereof he speaks, has written the following to the Bee requesting its publication, which tells some facts as to the subject:

"In reading the Omaha World-Herald a few days ago I see that those who are opposing macadam road have used evidence which does injustice to the men who have invested largely in stone quarries in Cass and Sarpy counties. They show letters from the B. & M. showing it had used stone ballast and had quit using the same because Nebraska stone disintegrated or went to dust from the action of the weather. While I am willing to admit the truth of this statement, the writer should have added that this was from a large body of stone lying just above the Platte river, and so far as I know, all of that stone used above this stratum and farther from the river, from which all stone at Louisville and Cedar Creek is now taken, is good, durable stone, and so far as has been tested, does not disintegrate, but stands the weather just as well as granite or sand stone, and in Omaha on Tenth and other streets, curbing and gutters put in eighteen or twenty years ago are just as good as when put in, except wear on same. I have yet failed to find any of this stone that has not lasted as well as any stone used. The stone on the Weeping Water has been used for years, and while some different and perhaps not tested as well, has given good satisfaction so far as I know, and I can't see why Douglas county should not give this matter a fair trial and leave the money in these counties in place of buying from another state and sending the money paid for labor all away from home. This question of macadam road is no experiment. All your board of county commissioners should want to know, is: Is the stone durable? I think twenty years of actual test should be good evidence. Is it fair to make the public believe our stone is not good, when such is not the case? I defy any one to show any foundation put in out of the stone referred to that has not stood the test as well as any other material used. If we can get this material so near home, in our own state, should we not have the preference, and give men here the labor?

DRINK A NICE REFRESHING GLASS OF SODA WATER AT BROWN'S PHARMACY.

A Wise Suggestion.

If the Cass county agricultural society had any get up in it, the $600 offered for the best county display at the state fair might easily come our way. County exhibits to compete for premiums must be made in the name of the county society. Hence the necessity for Plattsmouth to take the initiative step in this matter.—Weeping Water Republican.

Mr. Cade Rogers, of Plattsmouth, a brother of our townsman, M. W., was over Saturday looking over the scenes of his childhood. He says he went up to the old place, now the Record farm, and looked it over and tried to climb a big elm which he scaled forty-three years ago. As he is quite lame he did not get to the top. He says forty-three years ago, with a yoke of oxen, he broke the road through to where the Williams fruit farm now is. It was then a thick grove of hazel brush. The change from then to now, with the fine fruit farms in a high state of cultivation, is great, but he recognizes the old land marks. Mr. Rogers has a nice home in the vicinity of Plattsmouth, where he lives comfortably, but he has a hankering to end his days where his boyhood was passed, and we would not be surprised to see him again sometime in the near future a resident of our city.—Glenwood Opinion.

D. O. Dwyer, attorney, Plattsmouth.

The reported damage to the beet crop in and around Norfolk on account of frost has been greatly exaggerated. The damage is but slight and there is plenty of seed on hand to replace any of the plants which may be injured. It is the opinion of many farmers that warm weather and sunshine will bring them out all right without replanting.

AROUND THE COURT ROOMS.

DISTRICT COURT.
In the case of L. B. Williams vs. W. H. Schildknecht, Judge Chapman rendered judgment Friday in favor of plaintiff.

Judge Chapman fixed the amount of alimony due the plaintiff in the divorce suit of Stewart vs. Stewart at $500. It is understood that the defendant will appeal.

Judge Chapman entered a decree of divorce Monday in the suit of Thos. J. Keckler vs. Eliza Keckler. The defendant, however, was allotted the custody of the infant child and in addition was allowed alimony in the sum of $100.

Judge Chapman has entered a decree in the plaintiff's favor in the divorce suit of Stewart vs. Stewart, the testimony having been submitted yesterday. The question of alimony will be decided later.

District court was adjourned Monday morning until June 18, and in the meantime Judge Chapman will journey to O'Neill to sit at the trial of Barrett Scott, Holt county's defaulting treasurer. He will depart Thursday, and will be accompanied by his reporter, Tom Chapman, who will keep official tab on the proceedings.

Judge Chapman did not go to Holt county today to try the Barrett-Scott embezzlement case, as was anticipated. The case has been indefinitely continued.

County Court.

An effort was being made today to secure the release of Andrew Fator on bail from the county jail. County Judge Ramsey will fix the bail bond.

B. A. Gibson vs. Chas. Philpot, a suit on a promissory note for $235 for the purchase of some Weeping Water lots, was occupying the attention of a jury in county court Monday. The defendant is hardly to be blamed for resisting the payment of a note given for the purchase of such undesirable stuff as Weeping Water lots.

Albert Welton vs. Samuel Atkinson, a suit on account for some $300, was on trial in county court Friday before a jury of six. The parties to the suit live near Greenwood. A rather peculiar fact in connection with the suit is that the plaintiff, although a man seventy-five years of age, is possessed of a marvelous memory and keeps a set of books for his farming business which would do much credit to a merchant for their correctness. The jury returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $166. The amount sued for was over $400.

Memorial Services.

Joint memorial services will be held on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Davis of the Methodist church will preach the sermon. It is the desire to make this service a true union service and all churches are requested to join in the services. Everybody is invited to attend. Rev. Davis extends a special invitation to old soldiers and their families to attend, as his remarks will especially interest them.

People who like to make up their clothes at home will do well to call at F. Dressler's tailor shop for good wearing cloth. The stock on hand will be closed out at about half cost, in any length desired. Sherwood block, Fifth street, Plattsmouth 22-4.
