

MORE TIME GRANTED

Hill's Attorney Granted Twenty Days to File His Brief.

A CASS COUNTY GIRL ELOPES.

The Supreme Court Affirms the Finding of District Court in the Case of Anna E. White vs. the Burlington Relief.

The Extension Granted.

The supreme court acted last week on the motion filed by Attorney General Hastings to dismiss the appeal of Murderer Harry Hill, on the ground that his brief had not been filed within the time allowed by the court, by giving Matthew Gering, Hill's counsel, twenty days further time in which to present his brief. The court accompanied the order with the statement that if it is not complied with the judgment of the lower court will be affirmed and the appeal dismissed. As the brief in question is now in the hands of the printer and will be completed within a few days, it seems quite certain that the supreme court will hardly get to a disposal of the case any earlier than September. Hill will still enjoy the company of Jailer Denison for several months.

An Eagle Girl Elopes.

Foster Seacrest, brother of the business manager of the Lincoln Journal, and Miss Daisy Ward of Eagle, left Lincoln Wednesday of last week for Omaha, where it was their purpose to become one for all time. Their marriage forms a fitting culmination to something of a romance. Seacrest was formerly in business in Eagle, and the young couple became convinced that they were made for one another. A stern parent frowned, however, and as the young lady is not quite of age, he held the whip hand and ordered the young lady to stay at home until she attained her majority, which will be in November. This was too long to wait, and Seacrest went to Omaha Tuesday and secured a license. The lady in the case had previously been granted permission to visit relatives in Lincoln, and she took a train Wednesday morning for Omaha and became Mrs. Seacrest.

The White Case Affirmed.

Lawyer Matt Gering is in high glee, his merriment having its foundation in the fact that the supreme court has handed down a judgment affirming the decision of the district court of this county, in the case of Mrs. Annie White vs. the Burlington Voluntary Relief department. Mrs. White's husband, it will be remembered, died in this city some four years ago, after an illness of several weeks. Prior to his illness he had joined and paid in his money as a member of the relief department, but as a policy had not yet been issued to him the department refused to pay either the $1,000 due on the policy, or any of the sick benefits. Mrs. White sued before County Judge Ramsey and was accorded a judgment for both the insurance and the benefits, and in district court the case went the same way. The relief department appealed to the state supreme court, and yesterday the latter tribunal affirmed the decision, which gives the widow $1,000 insurance and $134 in sick benefits. Mr. Gering was Mrs. White's attorney and he naturally feels jubilant over the result.

Divided the Property to Suit Himself.

Cliff Benfer and a man named "Reddy" Woods are having trouble over the right of possession of a horse. They own a team in partnership, but are unable to equitably divide the property for the reason that one horse is a more valuable animal than the other. On Monday night Woods went to the barn and saddled up the best horse, saying that he was going out for a ride. His ride was prolonged for several days, when it occurred to his partner that he did not intend to return. Sheriff Eikenbary took charge of the case, and caused postal cards to be sent out, describing the horse and man, and Friday word was received from Waverly that Woods had been arrested at that place within ten minutes after the marshal had received the postal card, and the horse was found in a livery stable.

Woods can not be charged with horse stealing, because he owns half the property, and replevin proceedings cannot be had because one partner has as much right to possession of the horse as the other. The only way out appears to be for the partners to agree to an amicable settlement, or to have a receiver appointed for the property.

A Very Complicated Case.

Cliff Benfer returned from Waverly on Saturday evening, without having reached any settlement of the horse controversy between himself and "Reddy" Woods. As he had no warrant for Woods' arrest he could not secure his return to this city. Judge Archer advised him by telephone to settle all claims and costs against the property and secure possession of the horse, but the liveryman at Waverly refused to surrender the horse to him. Woods was released from jail, but was re-arrested Sunday night, at the request of Sheriff Eikenbary, and again charged with horse stealing. When the marshal at Waverly found Woods he was suffering from a crushed foot the result of being stepped on by a horse while in the livery stable.

"Reddy" Woods Brought Back.

When Deputy Sheriff Holloway and Cliff Benfer reached Waverly Monday morning they found that the horse, over which there is much controversy between Benfer and Woods, had been taken away by a liveryman from Havelock named Milton Broadwater. He was followed to Havelock, but was not located. Benfer intended to replevin the horse, but was compelled to return home without the animal. The deputy sheriff brought Woods to Plattsmouth and lodged him in jail to await trial on a charge of petit larceny.

Woods was taken before Judge Archer on Tuesday for trial, when he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5 and costs. In default of payment he was remanded to jail. The costs in the case are unusually heavy, so that it will require seven days imprisonment for Col. Woods to appease the wrath of outraged justice.

The Celebration.

Plattsmouth was called upon to entertain a crowd of visitors yesterday which numbered fully twenty-five hundred souls. They came from all directions, even Iowa furnishing a full quota, and by ten o'clock in the forenoon the streets were literally packed like the proverbial sardine box. There was plenty to do and see, and after the crowd had gone the rounds of the town for an hour or more, the industrial parade was started down Main street from the corner of Seventh. This feature of the celebration was really a revelation, inasmuch as it surpassed for excellence all expectations. The floats were all tastefully arranged and did great credit to the following firms who were represented:

Dovey & Son.
B. & M. shops.
Fred Gorder & Son.
Hall & Son.
Plattsmouth Cheese factory.
Anthony Marble works.
J. I. Unruh.
W. G. Keefer.
Plattsmouth Bottling works.
Chinese Polish company.
Western Dry Goods company.
City Steam Laundry.
S. L. Greeson.
Kelly's Island.
Patterson & Kuntzmann.
Meisinger & Lohmann.
City Bakery.

After the parade the crowd adjourned to Garfield park, where the usual fourth of July exercises were carried out, and included an address by the Hon. Simon Cameron of Broken Bow.

The afternoon was given over to sports and the turners' exhibition, the ball game and the bicycle races served to amuse all. The display of fireworks from the top of high school hill last night was unusually fine, and served as a fitting conclusion to the most successful celebration given in Plattsmouth for many years.

On the Wheel.

The bicycle road races yesterday afternoon occasioned more genuine interest than any other feature of the celebration. The crowd which lined up along the course numbered many hundreds, proving rather conclusively that bicycling as a sport is popular and has come to stay. The twelve mile race was started at the corner of Seventh and Main. There were five starters, the riders and handicaps being as follows: Louie Thomas, 8 minutes; Walter Thomas, 5 minutes; J. H. Martin, 4 minutes; Jas. Bright, 3 minutes; Tom Parmele, scratch. Bright, the three minute man, was picked as a winner but just after the start he suffered a collision with a boy who walked in his way and he was thrown from his wheel onto the pavement and sustained a broken shoulder bone. The other riders proceeded without accident. Louie Thomas was never overtaken and secured first place prize, Tom Parmele being second and Walt Thomas third. Tom Parmele made the distance in a trifle under 44 minutes and landed the first time prize. But for Bright's unfortunate fall the race throughout was brim full of interest.

The four-mile novice race for county riders only, was won by Jas. Holmes in 14:19, McGinnis Churchill being second.

How the Boycott Worked.

The editor of the Daily Times at Glenwood instituted a boycott on our 4th of July celebration, and in a previous issue THE JOURNAL stated that a free celebration was one of the institutions that could not be successfully boycotted. In order that the editor of the Times may know just how insignificant his boycott turned out to be, we will state that Ferryman O'Neill counted the teams that crossed from Mills county on the 4th, and up to two o'clock in the afternoon one hundred and fourteen loaded wagons had crossed on the free ferry. More crossed after that hour, but the ferryman did not count them. It is estimated that fully six hundred people from Mills county celebrated the 4th in Plattsmouth.

AROUND THE COURT ROOMS.

DISTRICT COURT.

COUNTY COURT.

Harry Coleman has been appointed guardian of E. B. Coleman in county court. E. B. Coleman is the Greenwood man who recently became insane and was taken to the asylum.

JUSTICE ARCHER'S COURT.

Judgment for $35.43 was given the Dayton Whip company by default against Phil Sauter & Co., in Judge Archer's court.

In the case of Calvin G. Tabor vs. the Missouri Pacific railway company Judge Archer gave the plaintiff a judgment for $200.

Jacob Coffman plead guilty in police court on Tuesday to a charge of assaulting Conductor Berry. Judge Archer assessed a fine of $2.50 and costs, total $6.50.

"Samp" Carnes was on trial Tuesday morning before Judge Archer charged with assaulting one of his neighbors, but the judge concluded from the testimony that no assault had been committed, and "Samp" was discharged.

The case of Fred Woodson vs. Andrew Hedlund, a suit for $5 for professional services as a detective, was set for hearing before Judge Archer last Tuesday, but was continued generally on account of default of the judge.

Judge Archer decided the case of D. S. Draper vs. Conrad Valley last Saturday in favor of the plaintiff. It appears that the land of the parties is divided by a line fence, which was to be kept in repair by both, half by each of them. Draper's cattle found a hole in the fence and got into Valley's fields, and the latter held the cattle for damages. Draper began replevin proceedings, and at the trial it was shown that the cattle got through Valley's portion of the line fence, so the judge decided that Draper was entitled to possession of the cattle.

COURT ROOM NOTES.

Policeman Fitzpatrick arrested a one-armed tramp at the depot last Saturday on suspicion that he had burglarized a house at Orepolis, the man who was burgled positively identifying the fellow as being the guilty party. He has not yet been given a preliminary hearing on the charge.

Blind Scholars Ejected.

The five students at the institution for the blind, says the Nebraska City News, who believed that school was an asylum and not an educational institution will now have an opportunity to settle the question in court. Last Thursday Judge Hayward, as attorney for Superintendent Ebricht, had an order of ejectment issued, which was placed in the hands of Officers Faunce and Warner, who went to the institute and ejected all of the five they could find. This will compel the scholars to fight for reinstatement and places the burden of proof on them. The five scholars are: Owen P. White, Fred Curtis, John Johnson, Fred Hollingsworth and Christian Deuhholm.

The Proper Sentiment.

It is said on good authority that the reported small pox scare at Plattsmouth is a fake from beginning to end, and was manufactured by outside irresponsible parties for the sole purpose of injuring the celebration at that place next Wednesday. We have assurance that there is not the least danger, and if there was the citizens of Plattsmouth would be the first to warn the people to keep away.—Union Ledger.

As a matter of fact, the vile report that Plattsmouth was housing small pox patients has been circulated in other Cass county towns than Union, the intent being, as the Ledger says, to keep people away from our celebration. THE JOURNAL compliments the Ledger for the fairness with which it treats the question.

J. H. Thrasher and Jacob Valley, jr., intended to leave for Sioux Falls, S. D., on Tuesday, to conduct a prisoner to the government prison at that place, but the railroad strike at Sioux City spoiled their calculations and caused them to abandon their trip and return home.

Don't buy a bicycle until you see us. The "fifty-dollar ladies" is certainly a sensation. We are sole agents for them. LEHNHOFF BROS.

The Plattsmouth bottling works came out with a float in yesterday's parade which deserves especial mention. This is a home institution and, as its output is a good article, it deserves the best patronage the town can give.

OBITUARY.

Death of Isaac Horn.

Isaac Horn, the youngest son of Geo. P. Horn, died suddenly at his home in Eight Mile precinct at six o'clock this morning, aged twenty-one years, four months and six days. The deceased was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America, and the funeral will be held under the auspices of that order at ten o'clock Saturday morning, the interment taking place at the Walradt cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Manchester.

Mrs. Alvina Manchester, sister of Mrs. Ira Searles of this city, died at the home of the latter at ten o'clock Tuesday night, aged sixty-one years. Deceased received a paralytic stroke several months ago, from the effects of which she never recovered, and which resulted in her death. The remains were taken to Missouri Valley, Iowa, on last evening's train for burial.

Police Department Changes.

The new police officers assumed the duties of their offices Sunday morning. Isaac Dunn succeeded Jas. Grace as city marshal and John Murray will be night policeman, succeeding Lyman Kildow. The new marshal formerly served the city in the same official capacity during Mayor Richey's regime, and discharged the duties of the office in a very satisfactory manner. Jas. Grace, the retiring marshal, has made one of the most efficient officers Plattsmouth has ever had. He has always been courteous and attentive to his duties, and never allowed his "authority" to get the better of his good sense and judgment, a very common fault among police officers generally. Mayor Newell has very wisely concluded to make no change in John Fitzpatrick's case, and such conclusion will be heartily endorsed by every business man and taxpayer.

Board of Trade Meeting.

The members of the local board of trade held a meeting at Judge Ramsey's office last week. A committee was appointed to receive and entertain the visiting Omaha jobbers. A proposition for the location of a manufacturing plant in this city was discussed, and a committee appointed to confer with the parties when they visit the city, which will be some time during the next two weeks.

PRENDERGAST has again been declared sane by a jury, but it seems now that it is not a question as to his hanging, the principal problem rather being as to how many times the man can receive a re-hearing and re-trial.
