

IN AND AROUND THE TOWN.

A good many farmers were in town Saturday, and the streets were crowded with teams.

Henry Meisinger, road overseer in the vicinity of Cedar Creek, was in Saturday conferring with Commissioner Dutton on road matters.

Candidate Strode will open his congressional campaign in this city on September 17. Plattsmouth is a first rate place in which to open a campaign—likewise a "barrel."

Jesse Roberts of Ashland was arrested Friday on a warrant sworn out by Miss Louie Core, charging him with rape. Roberts states that he is innocent and will fight the case to a finish.

Tom Walling, the enterprising abstract man of Plattsmouth, came down to visit with friends last Monday during the convention of the democratic committeemen.—Union Ledger.

Robert Sherwood, jr., came down from North Platte on Saturday and enjoyed a three day's visit with his parents in this city, returning Tuesday morning to his labors in the U. P. shops at North Platte.

The ladies of the Cottonwood society will give an ice cream social in the Grove at the residence of Mrs. C. Kiser, Wednesday evening September 12th, 1894 for support of the minister, to which the public is invited.

The farmers along the northern line of Burt county, Nebraska, joined forces and pulled Russian thistles Friday. The thistle has gained quite a foothold in that neighborhood and has alarmed the farmers, hence the above move.

The new democratic postmaster at South Omaha denounces as a base lie the report that he intends to give six postal cards for a nickel. He avers that he has as good a right to charge a straight one cent rate on postal cards as his blasted republican predecessor. And so he has!

The Press quotes Judge Chapman as saying, in connection with the Duncan writ of habeas corpus case, "that he was not trying cases by telephone." Such a remark seems strange, as the Judge has adjourned district court by telephone, but refused to try the petty case of Duncan's by phone.—Nebraska City News.

It is reported that the Burlington railway has out orders to section men all over its line to kill off the Russian thistle as soon as it appears. Samples of the plant have been sent out, and the Russian thistle will therefore doubtless, as far as the Burlington road-bed is concerned, be a thing of the past very soon.

Geo. Spurlock, the fair association secretary, is doing no end of hustling nowadays, and proposes that no effort shall be spared toward making the fair a big success. The races will be especially interesting this year, as the purses are larger than ever before, and a string of race horses will be here to do battle for the money. Look out for a first-class fair.

Mrs. Otto Wilson, an Omaha woman, attempted to drown her two children in a cistern Friday. The children protested and the woman procured a big butcher knife with the evident intention of carving the little ones into submission. A policeman appeared on the scene just then and put her under arrest. A fit of temporary insanity was responsible for the woman's rash actions.

The novel sight of a possum and seven young ones was the attraction on the street last Tuesday. Mr. Delaney in passing through his timber saw a possum up a tree and taking his gun out of his buggy fired and killed it, and upon reaching the place where it fell he discovered that it was a female and had seven young ones cuddled up in its pouch in which they carry their young.—Union Ledger.

A Burlington west-bound freight was wrecked at Cleveland, just west of Canton, Ia., at 6:45 Friday night. Engineer G. A. Starkman, of Ottumwa, was killed and Fireman Ed. Walker, of Agency, and head brakeman probably fatally injured. The wreck was caused by colliding with a pusher engine at the foot of a hill. The removal of the debris was a matter of considerable moment, and traffic was suspended for several hours. Train No. 5 was delayed next morning for over two hours.

A freight car on B. & M. train No. 73 went the wrong way of a switch frog at South Omaha Friday night and came close to sending a car of meat and the way-car down a heavy grade. The train was moving very slowly and the rear brakeman discerned the trouble just in time to signal to the front to stop the train. Twenty feet more and the two cars would have rolled down forty feet. An effort by the train crew to pull the cars out proved futile, and the wrecking train had to be called from Lincoln to open the track for traffic.

A Dangerous Lover

William Hunt was shot and instantly killed Monday afternoon, about ten miles west of Niobrara, a northern Nebraska town, by Miss Ella Larson. Hunt was a well-known and dangerous half-breed negro, who left his family some time ago. About a year ago he set about to gain the affections of Miss Larson, but seems to have failed. On her return from a trip to California he renewed his attentions, and threatened the lives of all in case of refusal. Finally Miss Larson and her brother started to go away. Hunt followed and renewed his demands of marriage, grabbing Miss Larson around the neck and choking her. She pulled a self-cocking revolver and shot but once, killing him instantly. Public opinion justifies Miss Larson in the act. She is an intelligent young lady of a respectable family.

Farewell to the Eagle. The Eagle has suspended publication and its editor, G. A. Mayfield, has gone to Rushville, Missouri, to establish a paper there. The first issue will appear this week and be called the Rushville News. The people of Rushville will find George a thorough rustler and a firm worker for the town.—Elmwood Echo.

Japanese Pile Cure costs you nothing if it does not cure you; samples free. Sold by Fricke & Co.

Two young farmers living near Bennett, Lancaster county, were unfortunate enough to be gone on the same girl, and it so happened that the girl's affections were evenly divided between the two suitors. It was consequently a case of "first come first served." This process failed to please and the two swains resolved to meet with bare knuckles and fight it out, the winner to have undisputed possession. According to agreement the fight was had on Sunday last, and after a hard tussle of some fifteen minutes one of the contestants cried enough. The girl heard of the fight and upon learning that the larger one of the two suitors really bullied the smaller one into the contest and won on his superior size and strength, took the loser to her bosom and politely informed the bully that he need not apply. A strange world this, for it is here demonstrated that it sometimes pays to be small.

Considerable fun is being poked at the poor old Lincoln Journal over its report from the Grand Island reunion printed in Friday morning's issue, in which its correspondent made it appear that Congressman Meikeljohn had made a speech there upholding the pension business and offering a $100 to any soldier who, upon submitting his case to him, would meet with a refusal or a reduction if the evidence was sufficient to entitle him to a pension. The report concluded with the words, "He was liberally applauded and congratulated by many prominent republicans." The significance of the dispatch and the hugeness of the joke may be appreciated when it is known that Congressman Meikeljohn was not a speaker at the meeting at all, and that the speech referred to was made by McKeighan.—Lincoln News.

FOR SALE—A full-blooded Short-horn yearling bull. F. McCURT, 33-44 South Sixth Street.

It is learned at the state house that there is a little reason to suppose Governor Crouse will call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of affording relief to the drouth stricken farmers in this state, says the Lincoln Call. The governor has had the matter under serious contemplation for some time and it is expected that he will present his view in the shape of a report in a very few days now. It is intimated that his plan will do away with the great expense which an extra session would entail and at the same time will permit of the immediate relief which could not be had by means of special legislation.

Johnson's Oriental Soap is the most delicate facial soap for ladies' use in existence. Sold by Fricke & Co.

The populist party does some good after all. It makes men who formerly were rabid republicans acknowledge that the republican robber tariff policy is all wrong and many of them go so far as to state that while they formerly preached republican tariff doctrine, right down in their innermost souls they honestly believed in the good democratic doctrine of tariff reform. Mayor Weir of Lincoln and the populist nominee for congress in this district is just that kind of a man. The question naturally arises—how many hundreds of thousands of republicans in this nation who are playing the hypocrite as did Mr. Weir? Echo answers—a great many.

Chas. Spencer, the well-known exportable of Louisville, missed a fat 300-pound porker from his feed pens Wednesday. Some stranger with an appetite for fresh pork removed the animal during the night.

MURRAY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Root were in Omaha Monday.

Willie Longbridge of Lincoln visited his parents here last week.

Bennie Schrader and lady attended church in Murray Sunday night.

John Amick has sold his farm and will go west and buy cheaper land.

There will be another gold medal contest in Murray, September 10th.

Sheff Good has returned from an extended visit through western Nebraska.

Elmer Good and wife attended Labor day exercises in Omaha on Monday.

Miss Anna Drake left for St. Louis on Monday where she will attend school.

Rev. Stewart has quite a large class under instruction in Latin, algebra and other studies.

J. A. Rankin attended the independent congressional convention at Tecumseh last week.

J. A. Rankin left Tuesday for Red Oak, Ia., to look after a farm which he owns at that place.

Miss Anna Young led the Christian Endeavors last Sunday night and a good meeting was had. Attendance is growing.

"How do you like your teacher?" is the question asked of the children by the parents as they return from their first days school.

Frank Grisel left for Omaha Tuesday where he expects to either receive a clerkship in a hardware store or attend the Omaha Commercial college.

The Murray school opened Monday with Miss Effie Edson teacher and a fair attendance. Miss Edson comes well recommended and gives promise of maintaining a good school.

Murray has lost two of its estimated young citizens in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hardy, the former having sold out his shop here to Chas. Taylor and will open a barber shop at Johnson, Nebr.

Will Batterson brought two loads of oats to Murray from their farm three miles west of Weeping Water for which they received 35 cents per bushel. This was eight cents more than he could get out there.

The foot race which was booked for Saturday night between Johnnie Lau and Doc Long was declared off because the latter could not raise the necessary five dollars which was his part of the wager. Murray is becoming advanced with sprinters as Plattsmouth is along the pugilistic line.

Conrad Schlater of Louisville precinct was in town Wednesday and attended the wedding of his nephew, Jno. Douelan. Mrs. Schlater was prevented from attending because of sickness. Conrad was present at the wedding of John's parents in this city some thirty-four years ago and the event was commemorated at the residence of the departed Willett Pottenger, but a few steps from the Episcopal church. The parents are now buried in Oak Hill cemetery, the husband having died some twenty years ago and the wife some two years ago, and Mr. Schlater considers himself fortunate in being allowed to witness the happy marriage of the son.

Anton Stuman, a German farmer living south of Nebraska City, met with a fatal accident Thursday evening. He was riding on top of a load of poles and was in some manner thrown to the ground, falling under the wagon, the rear wheel of which passed over his stomach. Shortly after the accident he walked home, complaining of no pain whatever. His injuries, however, were of such a serious nature that he died at 11:30 that night. The deceased came to this country about six years ago, and leaves a widow and seven children in destitute circumstances.
