

AN INDIAN EXECUTED

'Two Sticks,' the Sioux Murderer, Expiates His Crime.

WHALEN CASE COMPROMISED.

Felony Case Dismissed And the Prisoner Gets a Fine of One Hundred Dollars And Costs On a Charge of Assault and Battery.

An Indian Executed.

Two Sticks the Indian murderer, was hanged at Deadwood, S. D. Friday by United States Marshal Peckham of Yankton. It was the first legal execution of an Indian in the Black Hills. Two Sticks was a Brule Sioux, and an unruly one as well. He and four followers murdered two cowboys and two farmer lads at the range camp of Humphrey & Stenger on the reservation near Pine Ridge two years ago. The cowboys were in the employ of the meat contractors, and the others were Nebraska boys who had gone to the reservation in search of some horses that had strayed away. They were staying with the cowboys and waiting for a storm to abate. Two Sticks and his gang went to the cabin after night and asked for food. It was furnished. After eating the Indians rose and at a signal from Two Sticks began firing on the whites, who were lying in their bunks. Judge Dundy last month sentenced Two Sticks to be hanged, and President Cleveland refused to interfere.

Sheriff Eikenbary of this county was a witness of the execution, his visit there being made for the purpose of picking up information pertaining to such affairs. It will be the sheriff's unpleasant duty on the first of next March to end the life of Harry Hill in this city and whatever he learns at Deadwood will come in good play.

Whalen Case Compromised.

In the case of state vs. Tim Whalen, wherein the defendant had been charged with attempting an assault upon a girl named Martha Luchinsky in this city about a month ago, a compromise was effected Friday between the accused and the girl's relatives by which Whalen was let off on a lighter charge. At the request of the Luchinsky's the prosecution prepared an amended complaint charging Whalen with assault and battery, the agreement being made that Whalen was to be punished with the heaviest fine provided by the law. The accused was accordingly arraigned before Justice Archer, and after pleading guilty, a fine of $100 and costs, the whole amounting to $126.90, was assessed against him. The funds were speedily produced and Whalen was given his liberty.

The Masonic Festival.

The festival and dance given at White's hall Friday night by the local Masonic lodge in commemoration of St. John's Day was a flattering success. The hall was tastily decorated with bunting, festooning and banners emblematic of the Masonic order and at nine o'clock, when the Bohemian orchestra played the opening strains of the grand march, no less than two hundred of Plattsmouth's most representative people were on hand to participate in the festivities of the evening. When the dancing concluded at a late hour, the participants unanimously voted that the Masons were excellent entertainers and that their festival had been a pronounced success.

Burlington Is In Line.

General Manager Holdrege of the Burlington said Friday that his road would transport free all cars of grain and feed for the drouth sufferers if distributed through the state relief bureau or through some one in whom he had confidence. Mr. Holdrege added that the road was always willing to do all in its power to assist the sufferers and that if the special train from the south went through Omaha he would send free over the Burlington the cars of provisions and grain intended for the people along the road.

A Card.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I see article in THE JOURNAL, taken from Judge Archer's court judgment against Massie, in favor of Geo. Barrett. The court record should show judgment against John Gilmore first, as I am only sure on said note. The summons read "John Gilmore and Massie." Articles of this nature, financially speaking, are very likely to work against one's CREDIT, which we are all striving to maintain these trying times.

F. M. MASSIE.

Messrs. F. J. Morgan, the democratic state committee man, District Clerk Dearing and Councilman Grimes of the Second ward were sojourners in Lincoln today.

All legal business given prompt attention, D. O. Dwyer, attorney, Plattsmouth.

NEHAWKA NOTES.

A Nehawka correspondent writes that: A jolly party, consisting of D. C. West and wife, B. W. Pittman and wife, Lee Carper and L. E. Stone, took the 11 o'clock train Christmas night for Fairfax, Mo., to be present at the wedding of Alfred R. Carper to Miss Laura McDaniel, a most charming young lady of that place, Rev. Powers, of St. Joe, to officiate. The happy couple will reach here in about a week and begin their married life at the groom's home, with his mother, a few miles south of town. Dick, as he is familiarly called, is well and favorably known in this community, where he has always lived, and is regarded as one of our most honorable and enterprising farmers. The bride, we understand, is a most estimable young lady, and we congratulate Mr. Carper on the prize he has drawn. May they live long and be happy is the wish of the Register.

The Van Court & Lemist Stone Co., sent down a check for $2,700 Monday to apply on the time checks held by our merchants. Cashier West refused to honor it until he could communicate with the Omaha bank. The check was protested at Omaha, and the merchants here and Yardmaster James Apple were pretty badly worked up over the turn affairs had taken; one firm that was in for $1,200 offering to take 75 cents on the dollar. But the next day Mr. West received a telegram from the bank at Omaha telling him to send up the check and it would be honored. It was welcome news to the men who had accommodated the quarry boys all summer long.—Nehawka Register.

Hard Times in the Early Days.

Iv. White lives on the river front a mile north of the site of old Kenosha. He came to Cass county away back in the fifties. He knows something of the trials of pioneer days. In speaking to the writer a few days since about hard times and close money matters now he said that "the people now-days don't know what hard times are. Why," said he, "warming up to his subject, "after the failure of the western banks in '57 and '58 we had precious little money in Nebraska till freighting times of the sixties brought money in from the gold mines of the mountains. In the years 1858, '59 and '60, I hardly think I saw as much as five dollars at a time, and I really don't know how we got our taxes paid. All the transactions between men was done by barter, and in those days cottonwood lumber was a legal tender. Why, unless it was especially agreed on no trade was made with any idea of paying money, on either side. Horses, cattle, hogs, hay, corn, wheat—in fact, everything was turned in to pay debts at the store or elsewhere. Some who lived along the river got a little money sometimes from steamboats that plied on the river for wood they had cut and corded on the bank, and new settlers coming in sometimes brought money with them, but as a rule men paid nearly all they had to Uncle Sam for land to settle on. Why, one can see a thousand dollars change hands now to where they could see a dollar in those times. Money is flush if people only thought it."

Deadwood Is Generous.

The following dispatch from Deadwood shows that the Black Hills people do not propose to be outdone in the matter of giving charity to the drouth-stricken unfortunates in the western part of this state: "A mass meeting of the citizens of Deadwood has been held to take action toward relieving the distress prevalent in some portions of Nebraska. Committees have been appointed in every town in the Hills and the work of raising funds, provisions and clothing already started upon. Without hardly an effort two car loads of flour have been secured and will be shipped immediately to the relief committee in Nebraska. No effort will be spared by the people of the Hills to aid their neighbors in need, and from their store of plenty a goodly portion will be forwarded to relieve the sufferings of the unfortunate drouth victims."

The ocean, sea and lake surface of our planet is estimated at something like 145,000,000 square miles, with an average depth of 12,000 feet, and is calculated to contain no less than 3,270,600 billion tons of water. The rivers of the earth are estimated to have a flow sufficient to cover thirty-six cubic miles of the above area each day. Now, if all the oceans were suddenly dried and the rivers would keep up their present rate of flow (which, of course, they could not without ocean evaporation) it would take 35,000 years to refill the basin.

Cal. Bunce, who is wanted by the authorities on the charge of stealing cattle over on the Iowa bottoms and selling them in this city, was in town the other night, parties having seen him at about 1:30 o'clock in the morning out on Chicago avenue. It is reported that Bunce is living down on the big island in the Missouri river south of town, and that his visits to this city during the night season are quite frequent.

A Stolen Horse.

Nick Lewis, one of the proprietors of the "O. K." barber shop in the basement of the Carroth building, is minus a horse, the same having been stolen. The nag has been housed in the old basement livery barn on the corner of Pearl and Sixth streets. Last night the door was broken and the horse taken away. Mr. Lewis did not learn of his loss until this afternoon, when he immediately reported the situation to the authorities. The matter is now being investigated, but at present the officers have no clue to the identity of the thief.

That Missing Postmaster.

A dispatch from Broken Bow reads: "Up to date there is no clue to Broken Bow's missing postmaster. The inspector has completed an investigation of his books and finds him short in his accounts with the government $1,700. Four of his bondsmen came in today and appointed E. C. Dickinson to take charge of the postoffice temporarily. Already there are a number of candidates for the appointment and the action of the bondsmen and Inspector Sinclair in putting Dickinson in charge is not meeting the approval of the other candidates. Dickinson is a young man, who recently located in the city, having come here less than two months ago from Illinois, and has no acquaintance here except his cousin, Attorney H. W. Dickinson. It is claimed that the bondsmen were influenced to place young Dickinson in charge by him offering to furnish the money to make good the defalcations of Gilmore. If this be true Dickinson may find that he has paid dear for his whistle, as the fixtures are mortgaged to Blackwell & Co. for purchase money, which Gilmore's successor will have to pay or he will have a post-office without boxes or furniture."

The death of John Fitzgerald will make necessary an order reviving, against the administration of his estate, the action brought by the state of Nebraska against ex-State Treasurer J. E. Hill and his bondsmen, to recover the amount of money of the state which had been deposited in the Capital National bank. Fitzgerald was one of Hill's bondsmen. There was an attempt to get this case to trial in December made by Attorney General Hastings and the supreme court fixed the day and appointed the commissioners to select the jury. Affidavits were filed by the same defendants and by Fitzgerald's attorney in support of a motion to give further time. These affidavits set out that Fitzgerald, T. M. Marquett and G. H. Ames, the two latter being attorneys in the case, were very seriously ill and probably would not be physically able to attend the trial before spring. Since that time two of these men, Marquett and Fitzgerald, have died.

Mr. Wise Retained.

THE JOURNAL is pleased to note the retention of Mr. J. N. Wise, of this city, as tax clerk in the office of Omaha's new city clerk. The new clerk is a republican, but Mr. Wise's ability as a tax expert is such that his services could not be spared without a detriment to the office, and his retention is a source of gratification among his many friends in this city.

A movement has been on foot for some weeks among a few of the business men in the town looking to the development of resources which, if successful, will prove of vast importance to the interests of this city, and not of this city only, but of every part of Nebraska. Just now we will not mention what it is, but the parties interested have every confidence in its success and are risking all that that they have in it. We shall hope to see it pushed to a successful termination.

An Important Change.

To our friends and patrons: After due consideration we have decided to adopt the CASH system, and on and after January 1, 1895, we will do no more crediting except to those whose names are now on our book and are prompt in meeting their accounts.

We have tried the credit business for nearly fifteen years and have profited but very little thereby, the most of our earnings being on our books or lost by uncollected accounts.

By selling for cash we CAN and WILL give our patrons the benefit of our gains, and the advantages derived from getting spot cash by selling them goods at a reduced price.

Of course we shall continue to exchange goods for produce as heretofore. Come in and get our prices and see how far a dollar will go these hard times. BENNETT & TUTT.
