

ONE THING AND ANOTHER.

There was a narrow escape from utter failure by a small oversight in the bills which have been passed by the state legislature over the governor's veto. These were the bills providing for the Omaha fire and police commissioners, the beet sugar and chicory bounty and the measure giving the authority to the secretary of state to designate the newspapers in which constitutional amendments are to be printed. The last bill took this prerogative from the governor. There were several wideawake agents of some of the interests involved and the discovery of the omission in the process of making laws over the governor's head was discovered by one of these. The correct method of procedure is to have the presiding officers of each house certify that the enrolled bill has been passed notwithstanding the governor's objections. In the case of these bills this certificate had been omitted and the enrolled bills lodged in the vault of the secretary of state. This certificate must be signed by the presiding officers of the senate and house in open session. It cannot be done after adjournment. When it was discovered at four o'clock Friday afternoon that the bills were defective there was for a brief space consternation in the hearts of the promoters of these bills. The men interested are men of action and in a few minutes a plan of action was decided upon. If the legislators took a notion to adjourn before the defect was cured all the winter's work on these bills would be lost. Possession of the bills was obtained and as hurriedly as good engineering could do it the certificates were attached. At eight o'clock the corrected bills were given back to the secretary of state. How near to failure these bills came is best appreciated by the men who had a personal interest in them and were in a position to know the true condition of affairs. The whole business of making the correction was conducted in the quietest manner. But few knew what was going on, and it is said that when the bills were returned to the secretary of state's office the custodian was surprised to know that they had ever left the vault.

It is stated on reliable authority that Japan has proposed the following conditions for the conclusion of peace with China: The independence of Corea; the cession of southern Manchuria, including Port Arthur; the cession of the island of Formosa; the opening of Chinese ports and rivers to commerce; the payment of an indemnity of 400,000,000 yen, and the occupation of a number of strategic points until the indemnity shall have been paid.

Dr. J. B. Moore of Emerson has been engaged in the manufacture of a remedy which he calls "Tree of Life." It contains alcohol in allopathic doses, but the doctor had failed to take out a government permit to carry on the retail liquor business. The officers gathered him in Thursday. He acknowledged the rye, and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. He said it was done by mistake.

The legislature forgot to make an appropriation to pay the sugar bounty, which was like giving the word of promise to the ear, but breaking it to the hope. It will have to be paid, however.

The demise of W. W. Graves occurred at his home at Rock Bluffs Saturday at 11:55 a. m., aged seventy-six years. All of his ten children save J. D. Graves (who arrived Saturday evening) were present when he breathed his last. He was buried at 2:30 o'clock Sunday at the Rock Bluffs cemetery, a large company of neighbors and friends attending, notwithstanding the rain. Full of years and enjoying the respect of all who knew him, Father Graves has passed to his reward.

The supreme court has reaffirmed its own decision in the case of J. C. Petersen of this city against the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co. Mr. Petersen was originally awarded a judgment of $400 with interest. The brewery company has already paid the money into the hands of Clerk of Court Dearing and the last action of the supreme court will settle the matter.

John H. Sahler, an old "man about town" in Omaha, committed suicide Tuesday by shooting himself in the mouth. He was an adept lobbyist, and with abundant opportunities and with a bright mind, his life was a failure.

Chancellor Canfield of the state university has tendered his resignation to accept the presidency of the Ohio state university, the same to take effect on July 1st. Mr. Canfield is one of the ablest educators in the whole country and his departure will prove a great loss to the university of this state. The board of regents will find it a difficult matter to choose a successor up to the Canfield standard. Nebraska begrudgingly congratulates Ohio.

Ex-County Attorney Travis has filed his appeal in district court from the action of the county commissioners in disallowing his claim for clerk hire, which amounts to several hundred dollars. The commissioners allow the county judge $500 per year for clerk hire, to be paid out of the fees of the office, and while the county attorney's office is not sustained by fees, it is nevertheless urged that the commissioners have as good a right to allow clerk hire for one official as another.

Money in Raising Flax Seed.
 No other crop has paid the farmer so much money in the past two years as flax seed. It is sown in April, usually, and three pecks per acre are used. The yield is from 10 to 15 bushels per acre and the price to the farmer for the past two years has averaged $1.20 per bushel. Sowing seed can be obtained on contract from the agents of the Woodman Lined Oil Works, who have agencies at many points in this state.

Appomattox Celebration.
 The Grand Army celebration of Appomattox Day Tuesday evening was a pronounced and pleasing success.

White's opera house was comfortably filled with an interested audience when the High School band opened the exercises with a well-executed number.
 J. L. Root was chosen master of ceremonies, and in a brief address introduced Hon. J. B. Strode, who made the formal address of the occasion, and very pleasantly entertained the audience for an hour, first by something of a detailed account of the circumstances attending the capitulation of Gen. Lee's army to Gen. Grant, and secondly by a formal address on "American Patriotism." The audience gave close attention and was liberal in the bestowal of applause. It was of a non-partisan character and entirely appropriate to the occasion.
 An address from a woman's standpoint was then made by Mrs. Kate McMaken, which was well delivered and was highly appreciated. She spoke not of the soldiers who went to the field, but of the patriotism of the mothers who staid at home, in giving their sons to their country, and the success of the Woman's Relief Corps, and her address is well worth reproducing.
 Following Mrs. McMaken, Comrade Strode took charge of the meeting and miscellaneous speaking by members of the Grand Army, and a great deal of fun was extracted, and closing with a supper prepared by the ladies.
 The exercises were interspersed with music by a quartet composed of Misses Mable and Dora Swearingen and Messrs. Harvey Holloway and Frank Dickson, who sang "America," "The Stars and Stripes," "Grand Army Clatter" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," with most pleasing effect, receiving encores after each performance.
 The supper was a very happy close of the affair, nearly 200 people partaking of the feast.
