

DEMOCRACY'S DAY

The Convention at Union Tuesday Was a Big Success.

RAMSEY FOR DISTRICT JUDGE.

He is Recommended For That Nomination and Will be Allowed to Select His Delegates to the Judicial Convention.

The democratic convention for the selection of twenty-one delegates to represent Cass county in the state convention, to be held on the 22d inst., met at Union Tuesday, having a much larger representation than was expected. It was, too, a representative body, having names of the younger element within its ranks, showing that the young men are asserting themselves, and taking the places of their elders in advocating principles of government on the lines laid down by Jefferson and Jackson. Of course, older heads were there, also, showing that they had lost none of their ardor or enthusiasm for the cause of democracy. The discussions that took place on the convention floor were all carried on in excellent temper, and the best of humor prevailed, showing the party to be harmonious and united in a common purpose. The election of Frank Morgan for chairman was a graceful recognition of the merits of an enthusiastic young democrat who is always ready to assert his principles. The fact that Judge Ramsey was accorded the privilege of selecting the delegates to the judicial convention was a compliment rarely paid by a democratic convention, and will no doubt have its effect in tending to secure for him the nomination for district judge.

The convention was unanimous for free coinage and would not consent to the adoption of the unit rule unless it also meant in favor of a 16 to 1 plank. The convention was called to order by Judge M. Archer of Plattsmouth, chairman of the county central committee, who stated the object of the meeting.

The selection of a temporary chairman was next in order, and Frank J. Morgan was the unanimous choice of the delegates. Mr. Morgan accepted the honor in a neat speech. W. B. Wise was then selected as secretary, and after reading the call, a committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Thom. Walling and Phil Thierolf of Plattsmouth, O. H. Allen of Wabash, Henry Baker of Eight Mile Grove and John Tromble of Avoca, was appointed to examine the credentials of the delegates. The report showed all the precincts represented except Weeping Water, Greenwood and Salt Creek. No contests being made the credentials were accepted and the committee discharged. Upon motion the temporary organization was then made permanent.

A motion was then made and carried that each delegation be accorded the privilege of selecting its own representative to the state convention at Omaha on Aug. 22.

The following delegates were then selected:

Plattsmouth, first ward—T. Walling. Plattsmouth, second ward—J. M. Patterson. Plattsmouth, third ward—F. J. Morgan. Plattsmouth, fourth ward—Phil Thierolf. Plattsmouth, fifth ward—Judge Ramsey. Tipton—Mark White. Elmwood—O. H. Allen. South Bend—C. J. Zarr. Weeping Water city—Z. Gorder. Weeping Water precinct—John Newham. Center—John Ferguson. Louisville—T. Helm. Eight Mile Grove—W. H. Heil. Avoca—G. W. Harshman. Nehawka—C. W. Banning. Mt. Pleasant—Z. W. Shrader. Liberty—J. C. Frank. Rock Bluffs, first district—Lee Oldham. Rock Bluffs, second district—D. J. Pittman. Plattsmouth precinct—D. S. Draper and Wm. Gillispie.

It was then moved that the delegates to the state convention from Cass county vote as a unit, and cast the full vote of the county. This motion furnished a topic for considerable discussion, and some brief but lively speeches were made by D. S. Draper, Dr. Wallace, Judge Ramsey, Judge Archer, C. W. Sherman and others. The motion was carried and the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED, That the democracy of Cass county stands committed irrevocably to the belief in and we demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into primary or redemption money, at the ratio of 19 to 1, without waiting for the action or approval of any other nation.

Judge Archer, having handed in his resignation as chairman of the county central committee, then arose and in a short and well-worded address presented the name of Harvey D. Travis for that position. Mr. Travis was the unanimous choice of the convention, and was accordingly declared elected. The following resolution was introduced and unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED, By the democrats in delegate convention assembled, that, having implicit confidence in the integrity and judicial ability of County Judge Ramsey, we hereby cordially and most earnestly recommend him for nomination by the forth-coming democratic judicial convention for district judge for the counties of Cass and Otoe; and be it further

RESOLVED, That he be empowered and authorized to select the delegation from Cass county to attend the convention.

The date for holding the county nominating convention at Plattsmouth was then changed to read Sept. 25.

All business being properly transacted, the convention adjourned.

PERSONAL, POLITICAL AND PERTINENT.

It took a vast capacity for gall for Col. Polk to attend and direct the course of the populist county convention, as he did last year at Wabash, but that was nothing compared to the gall required for him to sit and vote in a democratic convention—but the man who was afraid to vote on the prohibition question in the legislature was equal to do the latter act at Tuesday's democratic convention. After abusing and villifying democrats as he has, he ought to be ashamed to be seen in their presence, to say nothing of affiliating with them.

Col. Draper, the great Mynard pie-eater isn't as much of a cuckoo as some men we know of. He denounced the president and his two secretaries—Carlisle and Morton—as traitors to democratic principles in the convention Tuesday, and after the convention was over words seemed too feeble to express his indignation at their course in letting the Rothschilds dictate the policy of our government.

Jacob Luft, the democratic farmer from Cullom, was in the city Tuesday attending to business and talking a few acres of politics. Jake has discovered one thing on which he cannot be fooled, at least Jim Grace says he has.

The weekly crop report shows a marked improvement in the condition of corn in all but the extreme western and northern counties of the state. Through the central and eastern counties the corn is putting out ears in fields that were supposed to be dead, and is showing so much vigor that the yield will be considerably larger than has heretofore been estimated.—Lincoln Journal.

The republican judicial committee met at Nebraska City Tuesday and it was decided to hold the convention there on October 1st, at two o'clock p. m. The News of that city figures it out that Judge Chapman will receive the nomination, as Cass county will be represented by twenty-six delegates, while Otoe trails behind with twenty.

The Palmyra Items says: Whining and repining are as catching as the itch and every whit as disgusting. Starvation is not confronting you. Look the devil squarely in the face. The crops in all places are not what we anticipated, but in many places the small grain yield has been excellent, and some are confident of getting 30 to 100 bushels of corn per acre. I would of course like to have seen things flourishing like a green bay tree, but if my neighbors have an abundance they will not let me want, so I'll rejoice with the scores that have cause to rejoice. Don't whine. It is as deadly as the upas tree and as injurious as a southwest simoon.

A Red Willow county farmer has a 200-acre field of alfalfa. He obtained from it 1,700 bushels of seed, which he sold at $5 per bushel, and he had the hay left.

Ohio is not by any means the largest state, but it has more farms than any other state in the union. It has 254,046 and Illinois comes next with 253,058.

E. F. Warren, the Nebraska City attorney, was in town for several hours last Monday. He denied strenuously that his visit had any relation to his little boomlet for the district judgeship.

The democratic and republican candidates for governor of Kentucky—Hardin and Bradley—have begun a joint canvass of the state, making their first speeches at Louisville on Monday. Mr. Hardin came out squarely for free coinage of gold and silver, and Bradley announced himself for the gold standard. It is a square fight from this out.

THERE was no mistaking the temper of the democratic county convention on the money question, and the man who thinks there is any lessening of the sentiment in behalf of silver would butt his head against a brick wall with a dull, sickening thud.

"The free coinage of silver in this country will do more to unite the west, south and north than has been done since the declaration of independence."—Ex.

PRIMROSES FROM IDAHO. (Written for THE JOURNAL.) Where'er the sun has set his golden lance When climbing up the mountain, rough and steep, His homeward-faring footsteps to advance, There doth the yellow primrose shyly peep. For it is said that like draws near to like, And thus the gold that sleeps beneath the sod Was drawn to kiss the diamond-pointed pike, And blossomed as it met the shining rod.

Munich Street Lamps. The method adopted in Munich for lighting street lamps from the outside without opening the lamp has proved quite satisfactory, the results, as enumerated, being to economize in flashlight gas, to enable the lamps to be lit in a storm, to shut off the main stopcock, to light Welsbach lamps without explosion, and to prevent the casting of shadows. As described, the main pipe communicates with a kindling pipe, which at one end comes to the outside of the lantern and at the other goes to the burner—this kindling pipe being bored with fine holes, which make a row of flying flames leading from the outside to the burner; the main pipe and its connections, with the stopcock, are divided so as to enable gas to be supplied to the kindling pipe and burner, and then to the burner alone. The lighting is done with the ordinary rod lamp, provided with an aperture at its end which receives the lower end of the kindling tube. When the lamplighter's pole is slipped into position, wind has no effect on the kindling operation.—New York Sun.
